

Welcome Class of '49

See you at the 'CO-OP'

As familiar as the millrace or Johnson Hall. Students all congregate at the 'CO-OP' to discuss the latest news about classes and friends. Every campus has its meeting place and OREGON is no exception. Make the 'CO-OP' one of your first stops when you reach the campus.

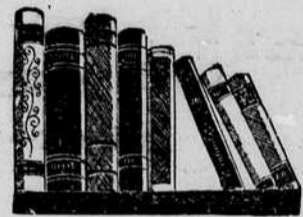

Save time for study by going to the 'Co-op' when you want the perfect gift for your roomie or friends back home. You will find a marvelous selection of charms, leather goods, and jewelry.

SUPPLIES

Wait until you reach the campus to stock up on notebooks, pencils, typing paper, and all the other essentials. The 'Co-op' has a complete department with all of these things.

TEXT BOOKS

The 'Co-op' has the textbooks for the campus classes. Its staff is in touch with the faculty and knows just what you will need. Buy second-hand books early and save.

You can save money and read the latest books, too. Take advantage of this by paying $1.00 at the beginning of the term and reading books from the rental library.

Write home and write often! You will find just the kind of stationery you want at the 'Co-op.'

OREGON SPIRIT

Let everyone know you are from the University of Oregon by having OREGON stickers on your books and luggage, pennants for your room.

STUDENT MEMBERS OF THE 'CO-OP' BOARD

Joann Holstad, Pres.

Ed Allen

Marilyn Sage, V.-Pres.

John Rueble, Sec.

Bobbe Fullmer

CASH REBATES

Save those receipts! Yes, each little slip of paper showing a purchase can mean money for you next spring. It pays to buy at 'CO-OP.'

The University of Oregon's Own Store

The 'CO-OP'

CHAPMAN HALL
ON THE CAMPUS