

Registration 2500 Students Estimated

Twenty-five hundred students are expected to enroll in the University of Oregon this fall. Registration is set for September 21-22, but a number will enroll late. Last fall enrollment totalled 1924, which is almost 30 percent fewer students.

Oregon will better fit the term "co-educational," for 800 men students are expected. Clifford Constance, assistant registrar, anticipates that 500 of them will be new students. In addition to those already enrolled half of the new students will be returned veterans. Of the 1700 women expected, 1000 will be new students.

With a registration last fall of 1511 women and 413 men, the masculine element was outnumbered three and one-half to one. That ratio should be slightly more than two to one this year.

There were 557 students on the campus for the first session of summer school. That number dwindled to 167 for the second session. One third of summer school students are regular students; the rest are teachers or students from other schools.

Dr Moore to Continue Research in Sociology

Dr. E. H. Moore, head of the department of sociology at the University has received word from the Social Research council that $1,000 grand-in-aid has been awarded him to complete his project on securing and analysis of case studies on personal adjustments to retirement. He has spent some time this summer in the east working on his project.

Changes in Music School Make Stehn Acting Dean

To play a part in the army education program for troops in the European theater, Theodore Kratt, dean of the school of music, has taken several months' leave of absence, during which John Stehn, who has been assistant professor of instruments and director of the University band, will serve as dean.

Mr. Kratt already has gone to Europe to take over his new war assignment in an army education center. In addition to serving as choral and instrumental conductor, Dean Kratt is reported to be taking over high administrative duties in connection with his new work.

Allton Shifted
Dean Kratt's course in choral union will be taken over by Donald W. Allton, assistant professor of organ and theory of music. Dr.

Arnold Elston, assistant professor of music, is expected to teach advanced conducting, while Mrs. Stehn, aided by others, probably will take over appreciation of music.

Professor Allton has been named to direct the Eugene Gleemen during Dean Kratt's absence. Stacy L. Green, instructor in piano, will take Mr. Allton's place as Gleemen accompanist.

Briggs Added
New on the music staff this year will be Ralph Briggs, whose appointment as associate professor of music was approved last month. Mr. Briggs comes to the university from Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, where he served one year as associate professor of music. For six years he was head of the department of piano at Southwestern college, Winfield, Kansas.

A graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, Briggs studied in France in 1930-31. He is recipient of a number of composition prizes and has concertized extensively in the United States.

Photostat of Uncio Sigs Presented by Alumnus

A photographic copy of the signatures of the delegates of the United Nations conference at San Francisco has been presented to the University by Dr. Carlton Savage, assistant to the secretary of state.

Dr. Savage is a graduate of the University and spoke at a special forum meeting on the campus in July. He was advisor to the American delegation at the conference.

New Dormitory For 200 Coeds To Be Built

Construction of a new dormitory to house 200 women students will begin next summer if the site can be purchased and materials and labor are available, according to J. O. Lindstrom, University business manager. It should be ready for occupancy by the fall of 1947.

The state board of higher education approved the building at an estimated cost of $577,000. Kitchen facilities will be provided for 400 students and housing facilities for an additional 200 will be added when the need arises.

The site selected is across from the University tennis courts, the block bounded on the west by Emerald and on the east by Beech, between 13th and 14th avenues east.

First of the self-liquidating building projects planned, the construction will be financed by a bond issue which will be paid back over a period of 25 years from board and room charges paid by students.

First of the new buildings to be constructed under the state building fund approved last June will be a $600,000 classroom and laboratory building on the half-block across from Westminster house. The Erb Memorial Union building will be the first of the student-financed projects.

Jessup Takes Editing Job

Dr. Bertram E. Jessup, assistant professor of English and aesthetics, has accepted an invitation to become a member of the editorial council of the Journal of Aesthetics and Art Criticism. He has had several articles published in the journal.
