a very handy Cupid. Alpha Chi Barbara Hawley still has stars in her eyes from those dates with Dick Ralston this summer. Barbara Patterson, Theta, has been helping Frank Dinas, freshman, plan his extracurricular program. Mickey Metcalf walks around the Pink Palace in a blissful trance now that Johnny Grossmann, the man in her life, is enrolled here. The Gamma Phis are saying that Virginia Wright is taking a trip to California to see her fiance and may not be single when she returns.

Alpha Xi Delta Lois Croder is going with Neil Diess, one of those athletic Alder hall men. Jerry Fett, A O Pi, announced her engagement to Bob Bashford of the Seabees. Wally Johnson's partner in fun this year is Gamma Phi Mavis De LeMare. One of her sisters, Jean Swift had a visit from SAE Tom Wardell, now going to Willamette.

Nancy Rivenburgh is kept busy at the Theta house by phone conversations with Chris Strahan. Charlotte Gething bade adieu to Pete Walsh off for Stanford. Shirley Casebeer, Gamma Phi alum, is engaged to Ed Hunt, former Oregon student, now of the merchant marine. Al, former woman hater, Putnam is squiring Louise Goodwin these days.

A O Pi Altha Paul wears a Sig Ep pin from Benny Di Benedetto, now in Naval Officers Training school at Cornell. JoAnne Hirschbull, Theta, has been seen with Howard Coffey and Nancy Kella-her with Herb Squires.

From the Alpha Xi Delta house comes the best variation of the old triangle plot that we've heard in this summer. Ah, little did he dream where this would lead him. But it led Barbara to room with Virginia this term. And there we have the climax. What the denouement will be is anyone's guess!

Vets Impressed by U O Friendliness, Sincerity

The outstanding impression that comes to the newer veterans at Oregon this year is the friendliness of the people here. When questioned as to what seemed the most striking to them in the few days they had been here, nearly all mentioned this friendliness.

Here is what some of those interviewed had to say:

Gordon McReary, an ex-marine and pre-med transfer student from Lewis and Clark in Portland, said, "You get a good deal here. People seem to have more consideration here than in other places I have been."

Army veteran Jim Longwood, transfer in architecture from Washington stated: "Washington is larger, but the individual attention given a student here is the most striking thing to me. And also the friendliness of the people—both students and professors."

Sailor Walt Mead, a freshman in social science had this to say for Oregon: "It's exactly as I expected—fine. I looked over several other schools including Oregon State and chose Oregon because of its merits and what it has to offer. I have also noticed that the people here are much more friendly than in other college towns."

Charlie Barrington, who has been a member of both the Canadian and American air forces and is another pre-med student: "I like the people I have met and am pleased with my exposure to the professors. Another thing that strikes me as outstanding is the seemingly genuine friendliness of the people."

Ward Johnston, for five years an army private and now a freshman in the B.A. school: "I like it. We have a pretty campus and the people are nice. I chose it over Oregon State and even talked a friend of mine into coming here."

Bill Webber, navy, transferred from Oregon State and is second term freshman. He claims: "It's better than Oregon State and you can print that! The people are friendlier."

Bob Van Vactor, freshman who in the AAF, expressed wolfish tendencies with this: "After being away for so long, it's nice to be back where there are beautiful women. The campus is good and everyone seems to be very helpful."
