

Active Alumna Fills Post In Dean of Women's Office

By MARYANN THIELEN

The charming and attractive new assistant dean of women, Mrs. Grace Irvin Glang, isn't having any trouble becoming acquainted with the University of Oregon campus for the simple reason that she is a graduate from our school. Mrs. Glang, whose home is in Redmond, majored in English for four years, graduating in 1941. She returned to the campus during 1941 and 1942 for graduate work in education and psychology.

While attending school here, the new assistant dean was very active in campus life, and was affiliated with Pi Beta Phi sorority. Her popularity and scholarship are attested by the fact that she belonged to Kwama, Phi Theta and Mortar Board.

It took very little urging for Mrs. Glang to talk about her husband. She met him during the six months she spent teaching junior high school at Pendleton. They have been married almost three years, but her husband has been overseas for 22 months of that time. At present Captain Glang is with the air service command in India, where he has been stationed for most of his duty. He has delighted Mrs. Glang by sending her lovely gifts of carved ivory and pounded brass. Recently she has been made even happier by the fact that he might be home for Thanksgiving, but he will definitely be home for Christmas.

Temporary Job

Because of her husband's impending discharge, Mrs. Glang accepted only a temporary appointment as assistant dean of women which will terminate in June, 1946. She and her husband plan to reside in Burlingame, California, as her husband's business will be in San Francisco. Living in California won't be new to Mrs. Glang either as she was with her husband in Richmond for six months before he was sent overseas. While there she taught junior high school to keep occupied when Captain Glang was at camp.

For such a young assistant dean, Mrs. Glang handles her duties very capably and with a friendliness that has already endeared her to those who have met her. As for those girls who haven't yet become acquainted with Mrs. Glang, we advise you to stop by the dean's office some day soon. You'll enjoy chatting with her.

Don't forget—conceit is a form of I-strain.

Many Students Meet President; Witness Show

For two hours students Saturday evening greeted President and Mrs. Harry K. Newburn at the reception held in Alumni hall of Gerlinger. Lines of students waiting to meet the president stretched from the receiving line far down the steps and outside the doors.

The receiving line, assisted by the Kwamas, was composed of Ed Allen, ASUO president and Mrs. Harry Newburn, Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, Mrs. Golda Wickham, dean of women, and Virgil D. Earl, dean of men.

Kwamas then ushered the guests into the gymnasium, where a student program, emceed by Bob Moran was presented at fifteen-minute intervals during the reception.

The Pi Beta Phi enacted the Johnny Mercer recording of "The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe," followed by Phyl Perkins singing "Till the End of Time" and "There's No You."

Bey Carroll and Carolyn Wells presented a push-button concoction of familiar radio programs.

Maxine Cady, who served as accompanist for the singers, and Jonette King, performed a two-piano duet of "Rhumbacardi," by George Hopkins, professor of piano, and "Spanish Minute Dance," by Louis Vogler, junior in music.

Floyd Stapp, sophomore in liberal arts, sang "If I Loved You" and "Sentimental Journey" in the best Sinatra fashion. Bob Moran concluded the program with two of his own songs.

Refreshments were served in the lobby following the program.

15,000 ELEVATOR OPERATORS and maintenance workers in some 1785 of New York's Manhattan buildings walked off their jobs Monday.

OREGON EMERALD

Reporters This Issue

Bob Brown
Dorothy Goetze
LaVerne Gunderson
Carolyn Romtved
Carley Hayden
Shirley Anderson
Janet Beigal
Bob Lunn
Maryann Thielsen

Night Staff

Shirley Peters, Night Editor
Inez Richardson
Gloria Mullins
Marvin Tims
Dorothy Kleinholtz
Lois Coleman
George (In Memoriam)

Ad Staff

Barbara Borravik, day manager
Shirley Minea
Barbara Lewis
Mary Katherine Wilhelm
Virginia Parr

Lay Staff

Dedo Misley, layout manager
Carolyn Jenks
Jeanne Herndon
Dorothy Lee
Joy Ham

City Desk

Janie Richardson, city editor
Mary Ruth Springer
La Verne Gunderson

Former Swimming Star On Duty in Philippines

T-4 Jack L. Robinson, who attended the University two years, has arrived in the Philippines for duty with Major General Frederick Gilbreath's army service command.

Sergeant Robinson has been in the service since September, 1942, and went to Luzon from New Caledonia. As a member of Oregon's varsity swimming team, he was selected in 1942 for the All-Pacific coast conference team. At the time of his induction, Sergeant Robinson was employed by the R & V Oil company, Nampa, Idaho.

Toward the end of the war with Germany, General Eisenhower was explaining to Winston Churchill the good influence of the British Tommies on GI's . . . how they toned down GI exuberance. Churchill beamed with pride.

Just then a GI came rushing into the room. "General, can I borrow your jeep?" he demanded. "See what I mean" said Eisenhower. "A year ago he wouldn't have asked."

Guild Theater Plan Extensive Play Schedule

Dramatics will definitely be in the spotlight on the campus this year, Horace Robinson, acting educational activities manager, said Monday. The University Guild theater, the only campus extra-curricular dramatic group, is open to all students interested in dramatics. Chosen from the greater dramas of the world last year, "The Great God Brown," "Skin of Our Teeth," "The Corn is Green," "Heaven Can Wait," and "The Trojan Women," were presented last year.

The bi-monthly news-letter to drama graduates and a program exchange with other colleges and universities throughout the country are among the many and varied activities of the University theater.

Two or three productions of this year will again be selected from the greater drama series while the remaining five or six plays will be chosen from recent Broadway successes. Direction of these plays will alternate between Horace Robinson, educational activities director and Ottilie T. Seyboit, associate professor of speech and dramatic art. Further announcement as to day, place, and time of tryouts, will be made later.

FRESHMEN AND SENIORS AGREE . . .

The place for fine
food and the place to meet friends is . . .

Seymour's
CAFÉ & COFFEE SHOP
known for good food
AIR CONDITIONED

Pre-fab Houses To Ease Shortage

The housing problem for University of Oregon faculty members will be eased shortly with the purchase of seven prefabricated houses by the university, Harry K. Newburn, president, announced recently.

These houses, to be installed on Emerald street between Thirteenth and Franklin as soon as possible, will be filled from applications already on file with J. Orville Lindstrom, university business manager.

Many of the faculty members are new in the university, having arrived within the last few days, and although most of them have found houses, there are still faculty families without housing. Anyone having available housing is asked to contact the housing secretary by phoning 3300.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Alpha Omicron Pi sorority will hold an open house for all campus men Wednesday from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m.

Walder's

ASSOCIATED SERVICE STATION

Will Make That
Ailing Car
Run Like New
For All Your
Car's Needs
Come See Us

"ON THE CAMPUS"
11th and Hilyard

MAYFLOWER

A THOUSAND AND ONE NIGHTS

Cornel Wilde, Evelyn Keyes
—plus—
Shorts and News

McDONALD

NOB HILL
George Raft

—plus—
Shorts & News Reels

REX

WITHOUT LOVE
Spencer Tracy, Katherine Hepburn
SING, NEIGHBOR, SING
Brad Taylor, Ruth Terry

JUST ASK ANY WEBFOOT!

You don't have to be at Oregon long to find out that George's Grotto is the place to get cooking that's just as good as mother used to do.

—TRY OUR SIZZLING STEAKS —
SEAFOOD DINNERS

George's Grotto

On Willamette

"The Store
Full of Things
Men Like"

SPORTS COATS SWEATERS
JACKETS
SLACKS RAINWEAR
RIDING ACCESSORIES

Eugene's Outdoor Store

Formerly Army and Navy Goods Store
716 WILLAMETTE