

Publication To Recruit Columnists

This fall Mademoiselle is again recruiting students from Oregon for a national college board, according to a recent bulletin.

This board is set up on almost every major campus in the country. Members are chosen on a competitive basis by means of a definite application procedure. Once a member of the board is chosen, she must complete approximately four assignments throughout the year (with prizes of victory bonds and stamps for the best finished products). Keeping the magazine informed of campus activities and trends and sending in snapshots and ideas are some assignments.

Paid for Articles

In addition to the prizes, a member is paid for any actual articles, ideas or pictures used. The quality of her work counts toward her application for a guest editorship. Each year, in the late spring, 14 college board members are selected to go to New York in June and spend a month as guest editors, putting together the August college issue.

Training received by members of the board is invaluable for those seriously interested in journalism, advertising, copywriting, fashion or other phases of publication work. The magazine staff itself keeps in constant touch with all its representatives and is glad to sponsor any new talent which may crop up, according to the bulletin.

As an epitaph on the tombstone of a genial host; "this one is on me!"—Wayne Engineer.

SONGBIRD—Lucielle Browning, contralto with Metropolitan Opera association, will be featured with John Brownlee, Met baritone, Edward Kane, tenor, and Adelaide Abbot, coloratura soprano, in the first of a series of concerts sponsored by Eugene Civic Music association tonight at 8:15 in McArthur court. Students are admitted on ASUO cards.

On the Classical Side

jazz and "long hair" music. "Blues" from Gould's "American Concertette" is a haunting melody made all the more impressive by Iturbi's understanding of the modern idiom.

On the other side is "Boogie Woogie Etude," also played artistically by Iturbi. Another recent Gould number worthy of comment is "Yankee Doodle," played by Arthur Fiedler and the Boston "Pops" orchestra. This music is fresh and spirited and is treated well by Fiedler, but can't stand much repetitive listening.

On the Jazz Side

cians were living in Europe at the outbreak of the war. And they are planning to return. The Europeans are not taught such intolerant twaddle as is thought in this country during the early formative years.

You very seldom find racial bigotry among musicians, for they respect the other man's ideas and genius. With this feeling, there is no room for racial prejudice. "Music is a logical field of endeavor in which we may hope to tear down the age old hatreds between races and creeds." The thought is not mine, but the responsibility is mine, and yours . . . ours.

Atomic Age

This may not seem like the correct place to sound off on a pitch like this, but it is something that has been bothering me for some time. If I have offended anybody, I'm sorry, but they were due for an awakening. The time for the ostrich act is over. If we are to survive this age of Atomic Power, we must plan our changes. No one race or faction can survive alone.

Well, next week back to jazz. The philosophical kick is over. Just felt bitter against the injustices being committed in this country under the guise of Democracy. Take five, boys. . . .

College Daze of Ophelia

would recognize her. But Ophelia just hitched up . . . her bobby socks. Muttered . . . "When at first you don't succeed . . . a rolling stone gathers no moss." Very literary . . . Ophelia. Started for the balcony to buy some books . . . something like ten dozen arms 'n legs descended upon her flat 'til face . . . Flatter than ever now.

Kept looking casually around for football fellas . . . in the Side, P.E. department, Hayward Field, and Taylor's. Sat down on the curb to wait . . . waited for any ole halfback, fullback, waterboy, etc. A coach came up 'n Ophelia licked his hand. "Good," said the big man, grabbing her hair, "A dust mop!"

Tears of sheer . . . pleasure swished around in Ophelia's myopic eyes. Had found her place in the world. If she had been a cat, would have . . . purred. If she had been a dog, would have . . . wagged it.

After a Fashion

belted style. Tan rain coats have the all-around belts which gather the coats into soft pleats. Beverly Paladini has a light blue gathered-at-the-waist coat that is very smart looking. The sleeves are cut as a part of the back forming a good line. For a belted jacket Mary Lou Welsh has chosen a soft blue suede which combines warmth with style.

Houses Plan Week's Dates

With the close of registration, social events are again in full sway, with open houses commanding first place on the calendar.

Wednesday night, from 6:30 to 7:30, informal open house will be held by Alpha Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, Pi Beta Phi, and Delta Zeta. At the same time Alpha Xi Delta and Omega hall are having a dessert together at the Alpha Xi Delta house.

With all religious organizations holding open house, official church night will be observed Friday. This weekend marks initiation for Alpha Chi Omega.

Picnicking is in store for Highland house and Campbell co-op on Saturday afternoon. It is a joint occasion.

Plans for coordinating activities on the campus will be the aim of the coordinating committee, which meets on October 2. After this meeting, a larger calendar of social events will be in store.

Officer: Just a minute, young man. You didn't salute me just now.

ROTC Stood: I beg your pardon sir. I didn't see you.

Officer: Well that's different. I thought you were mad at me.

BA Professor To Resume Work

After a leave of absence for the past three years to do civilian war work, Dr. Daniel D. Gage, associate professor of business administration, returned to the campus at the beginning of the term.

Dr. Gage began work in the Portland district office of OPA in August, 1942, serving as the director of Portland-Vancouver defense rental area. With the consolidation of all state rental offices under one head in 1943, Dr. Gage accepted appointment as district rent executive for the state of Oregon. He was also director for OPA supervisory training under civil service.
