

Staff Positions To Be Assigned On Old Oregon

Students who have submitted applications for staff activity positions on Old Oregon magazine will be contacted the first of next week for interviews and definite assignments for staff positions.

Other students who are interested in work on any of the three departments, news, business and office, should fill application forms which are available at the dean's offices in Commerce and Journalism buildings and at the Old Oregon office, room 8, Friendly hall.

According to figures released by the magazine office last night the staff to date has increased 600 percent over former years. However, it was explained that the enlarged magazine and the much larger circulation permits interesting and practical activity work for even more students.

The magazine office also reported that many applications for news department writing, editing, proofreading and magazine make-up work indicates a much broader coverage of student, campus and University news will be offered in future issues for the "big four readers". Enlargement of the "News of the Classes" section to include news items from alums of the very first University of Oregon graduation class to news items of the students in the newest freshman class will offer increased readership interest and a better current picture of U. of O. happenings.

Symposium Group To Choose Topics

In the symposium group which meets every Thursday at 7:30 p.m., Robert D. Clark, assistant professor of speech and dramatic arts, offers students the opportunity to learn speaking before realistic audiences.

During the first meeting of this group last Thursday evening, several topics, two of which will be selected, were discussed. Some of the topics mentioned were: conditions of peace, the labor situation, concept of freedom of enterprise, racial prejudice, territorial demands, and meaning of the labor party in England.

Two credits will be granted for this course, which will continue for only two terms, reported Dr. Clark.

These symposium teams have for the past eleven years discussed problems of current public interest before high schools, service clubs, Granges, fraternal societies, churches, and college groups. Last year this group spoke on "The United Nations Plan for World Cooperation," (Dumbarton Oaks Plan), and "Post-war Relations between the United States and Russia."

Traveling to towns such as Astoria, Seaside, The Dalles, and Hood River, these teams are divided into groups of two or three persons and are usually gone on these trips several days, missing as little school as possible and many times none at all.

Pill Rollers Grab Four New Victims

Four new victims are in the pill palace today, three girls and one more veteran. Marylyn Preston, Judson house, went to her classes today but is still sleeping in the infirmary under observation.

Sally Eaves, Delta Zeta, Doris Wilson, Hawthorne house, and Jean Moe, Hendricks Hall, are on record.

Charles Wallin, a patient from Zeta hall, saw quite a bit of action with the navy on a small carrier around the Admiralties, Marshalls, and the Philippines. He is a freshman in business administration.

Another navy man, John Frick, a former aerial gunner on the aircraft carrier Kadashan, has been in the infirmary nearly a week. Coming from Portland, he is a freshman in business administration.

Film On 'Time' To Be Shown

A short film of general interest, but particularly for journalism students, will be shown in 207 Chapman hall next Thursday at 4:15 p.m.

The title is "Time International Editions." Screen views will be shown of 14 cities where Time is published overseas, with special attention given Honolulu as generally typical. The process of preparing photographs for the presses and also of distributing them for printing in the magazines also will be shown.

Arrangements for the showing have been made by the school of journalism through Hunter Van Sicklen, former Oregon student, now handling Oregon publicity for Time, Life and Fortune. Mr. Van Sicklen will be present to answer any questions that may be asked about the film.

This showing, which is to last about 40 minutes, was to have been made last Thursday, Sept. 27, but Mr. Van Sicklen's car broke down and he was marooned on the top of a high hill in southern Oregon, where he shivered through the night until he could get help.

Dr. Newburn Meets Complete Faculty

Dr. Harry K. Newburn, president of the university, was introduced to the faculty as a whole for the first time Wednesday evening at the initial faculty meeting of the year, held in Friendly hall.

The deans of each of the various schools presented the new and returned members of their school. There are 26 new members on the staff of the university this year and 12 returning from leave of absence.

Reports were made on registration, the housing situation, and prospects of future enrollment and development of the university. Dr. A. F. Morrison, head of the mathematics department, was elected to succeed Dr. F. H. Trowbridge, who is on leave of absence this year, as member of the advisory council.

ISA Meets, Plans Year

First meeting this term of the Independent Students association was held Tuesday evening in Commerce hall. Outlining plans for the coming year, the group stressed the importance of "complete unity" of thought and purpose within the organization.

Included in this year's plans are several dances. Representatives to ISA, are explained at the meeting, and the importance of getting acquainted with those they represent and that social functions will help new students to become acquainted were stressed.

All interested in this work are urged by the association to contact their house representative for further information. New students are especially invited and asked to watch the Emerald for meeting notices. Catherine Crombie, second year law student, is president of the ISA senate.

Radio Auditions Scheduled Today

Radio auditions for all forms of radio entertainment, as well as announcing positions, will take place in the KOAC studios in the extension division building at 4 today.

Mrs. Mary Stanton Krenk, director of radio activities, emphasizes the need for an orchestra of about four or five pieces. Talent will be used for a University variety show, as well as for other radio programs.

Music, vocal or instrumental, dramatic talent, prospective announcers, and novelty acts are in demand. All students are requested to bring their own music or reading materials.

The program will be a cross section of University talent and will be presented on alternate weeks from the University and OSC.

Freshmen Entertained at Hendricks Hall Fireside

Upper-classmen of Hendricks hall, student dormitory, presented a fireside for the freshmen Wednesday evening in the main living room. A skit was given in the form of a radio program with Estelle Shimshak as mistress of ceremonies. The troubles of Ingabard and other students in getting settled at college were presented as well as a show on the latest fashions being worn by Oregon coeds.

Doris Johnson portrayed a freshman on telephone duty and Louise Robson gave a piano version of "Sentimental Journey" with a boogie beat. After the program refreshments of coffee and cake were served.

Oregana Pix Schedule

Alpha Phi and Alpha Xi Delta sororities will have their pictures taken today for the Oregana.

U of O Wives Meet Monday

Among groups resuming activities this fall is that of married women connected with the campus. Included are the wives of graduate students, of service men, of veterans, and any married woman who has seen service. This group was brought together last year by the Women's Faculty club of the University under leadership of Mrs. Virgil Earl.

The executive board, consisting of Mrs. Verna Aplin, Mrs. Bernice Loop, and Mrs. Marietta Ward, invite those interested, and those mentioned in the above groupings to meet Tuesday, October 9, at 4 p.m. in Gerlinger hall to discuss and decide upon plans for the coming year.

The object of the group is purely social, to give these women an opportunity to become acquainted with each other and with the faculty women.

Spanish Students To Organize Club

Dr. Anibal Vargas, instructor in Romance languages, announced Thursday that a Spanish club would be organized in the very near future on the campus of the University of Oregon which would receive its membership from all students enrolled in Spanish classes or interested in Spanish. The club is being organized by upper division students in Spanish courses who desire a club which would include more members than the Spanish honorary Sigma Delta Phi.

Vargas stressed the fact that the club will operate with a minimum of formula. The purpose is to promote interest in Spanish conversation and literature.

A meeting will be held this coming week but as yet no definite time has been set.
