

Modern Music Appreciation Is New Non-Credit Course

The services of the general extension division of the state system of higher education offers an opportunity to acquire a background basis for understanding and appreciating the music of modern composers. Dr. J. F. Cramer, head of the division, has announced that a Monday night course, "Twentieth Century Music," under Dr. Arnold Elston, assistant professor of music in the University music school, will be open to interested adults. No special background or knowledge is required and the course is offered as a non-credit study.

Dr. Elston explains the purpose of the course is to trace the development of "modern music" from its simpler beginnings in the 19th century so that understanding of music will be furthered by showing the evolution. It is an introduction to modern symphonic literature.

"We want," said Dr. Elston, "to have this music shed its strangeness and mystery and reveal itself as a natural continuation of what is already familiar and accepted."

Lectures for 11 Weeks

The lectures will last for a period of eleven weeks, and will be illustrated by numerous examples of representative symphonic works and a variety of styles, and by the outstanding composers of the last 100 years. The up-to-date record collection of the University will be put to good use to furnish illustrative material.

The various esthetic theories and social doctrines will be correlated with the musical works of the various periods. Dr. Elston point out, because the music will be studied as not only an art but also as a product of the social and cultural environment of which it forms a part.

No Requirements

Special emphasis is put upon the fact that there are no special requirements. The course is merely to give the adult student a greater familiarity with the major works which he otherwise could not hear in the community.

Registration for the class will be held at the meeting Wednesday evening, October 8. It will also be held each week from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. Mondays, in the lecture room of the University school of music. A fee of $5 for the 11 weeks has been set.

Lomax to Visit N.Y. Conference

Professor Alfred L. Lomax, school of business administration, will leave Monday for New York City where he will attend the annual convention of the Propeller club of the United States, scheduled to be held October 17, 18, and 19 at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

Composed of leading shipping men, naval architects, marine engineers, and others interested in promoting the welfare of the American Merchant Marine, the club has chapters in various universities throughout the country. Faculty advisors of student clubs will attend the meetings to discuss the organization and exchange ideas with each other.

Discussion at the convention will center on immediate postwar problems of the maritime industry regarding ship operation, fuels, motive power, labor, and finance and marketing.

Professor Lomax will stop in Chicago to attend a convention of the American Association of Port Authorities, slated October 10, 11, and 12, at the Palmer house. He will return to the campus October 22.

Sport Clothes Decried

Sport clothes and ties are in order for the men attending the Skull and Dagger dance, according to a revision in the dress rules for men, as announced yesterday in the student assembly. While short silks and heels are still "in" for the women, the corsage order has been suspended, and flowers are out for the dance.

Birthday Kiss, Blushing Miss

Darkness prevails. A woman sighs. A new custom for the Tri-Delt girls is born.

At a birthday dinner last night for Jean Fidler, with only candle light to guide them, valiant houseboys initiated the custom of a kiss for the coming year. With a tall, blond, Sigma Nu member as ringleader, the four brave men pioneered in adopting for Oregon an old Stanford tradition.

In the process, however, they altered the custom. Oregon boys did not stop with a gentle kiss on the cheek, even though 55 Tri-Delts giggled and gazed in the half-light.

What was the result? Mmm . . Birthdays should be more often. Lots of fun, say the boys, but now they're really dizzy.

CORRECTION

Fee for the eight lectures on Japan, an extension course, is $5 all together, instead of $5 for each of the eight, as erroneously printed in the original story.

China Missionary To Speak Tonight

Mrs. David Campbell, returned missionary from China, will be the guest speaker Friday night at 6:15 for the initial meeting of the newly-formed Town and Campus group of the Christian church.

Don Helseth, temporary chairman in charge of organizing the group, has announced that plans for the future include guest speakers at the meetings and also worship and discussion periods.

Shirley Bauman will be worship leader for the Friday meeting.

Home Ec Teachers Added to Faculty

Miss Valliere G. Decker, Mrs. Ruth Hudson Thurston, and Mrs. Elizabeth Warren are new faculty members in the home economics department this year, Miss Mable Wood, head of the department, revealed in a recent interview.

Replacing Mrs. Mary Huser, Miss Decker had been teaching at Carthege college in Carthege, Illinois. She has her master's degree from the University of Washington. Traveling is one of her main interests and Miss Decker has visited Europe, Alaska, Hawaii, Mexico and Central America on her tours.

Coming from OSC, where she received her masters degree and taught, Mrs. Thurston will assist part-time in the clothing lab.

Mrs. Warren, from Eugene, is assisting in the food classes.

PENNEY'S
J. C. PENNEY CO., INC.

MAIN FLOOR

They're Checked and They're O.K.!

FOR SERVICEABILITY
FOR WASHABILITY

We aren't fooling when we say we've checked these shirts for sound utility—Pacific Mills sturdy cotton, sanforized shrunk—a peach of a shirt to wear under sweaters, with slacks or jeans.

1.95

HERE THEY ARE FELLA'S - - BLUE DENIM JEANS

Sanforized shrunk, heavy-weight, 10-ounce denim jeans, styled the way you like 'em—rivited pockets, narrow leg, double stitched seams. We're giving you BTO's first chance at these, so hurry down this afternoon. Size 29-42.

1.59

That Special Gal Has Her "Mum" For the Game!!

WE HAVE EVERYTHING
AT

Eugene's Flower Home

Corner 13th and Patterson

Phone 654