

Piggers Okay At Corvallis

Piggers got a big break, but only a temporary one, last night when Signe Eklund, president of AWS, announced that dating would be legal for the game with the Beavers Saturday.

The announcement was made by Miss Eklund in the absence of a campus social chairman. Social policy for all campus affairs in the future will be made through this office which was a wartime casualty and is being reestablished this term.

The policy for Saturday's game was set after conference with faculty and student leaders, but Miss Eklund stressed the point that this is a temporary measure and is not to be construed as a final declaration of acceptable social action.

ISA Plans for Campus Dance By November 7

Barbara Weisz was appointed temporary secretary of the ISA Senate, when the group held its first meeting last evening. Plans for the all-campus dance, to be sponsored by the Independent Students association and held November 7, were laid at the meeting.

Special committees were appointed for ISA work, and workers were organized to arrange for the Senate banquet, scheduled to be held sometime in the near future.

Anne Van Valzah, president of the ISA, reported on the ISA executive council meeting, held with Gerry Huestis first ISA president. Huestis contributed plans and suggestions which could be sponsored by the organization and motions were passed to work on them.

Present at the meeting were: Joan Davids, Jeanne Jameson, Lois Haegle, Dorothy Habel and Leona Olson, Hendricks Hall; Bob Krause and Art Fretwell, Sherry Ross hall; Mildred Clemens and Bettiana Watkins, University house; Ben Tooze and Bob Miller, Sigma hall; Eleanor Thomas and Lois Cooper, Alpha hall; Richard Prince and Jerry Mosby, Campbell club; Eileen Dick and Lois Carleton,

Two French Films Presented Tonight

Tonight at 7:15, the French film "Dr. Knock" will be shown in room 207 of Chapman hall. Famed French actor Louis Journet, takes the lead in this dramatic satire on the medical profession. This torrid narrative follows the witty French style, with its setting in a small modern French town. As the dialogue is entirely in French, English subtitles are added throughout the picture.

The second film is a March of Time feature, titled "The French Campaign." This selection concerns the early plans and later military operations of the last World War. The commentary is in French, but English insertions are added.

Everybody is invited to attend these movies that are offered weekly by the educational activities board.

No Canoe Fete This Year Board Decides at Meeting

The Educational Activities board in a meeting Monday night wrote finis to any plans for the resurrection of the pre-war canoe fete as an integral part of this year's Junior Weekend. At Monday's meeting it was decided that in view of the State Highway Commission's plans to let contracts for the construction of the new highway between Judkins point and Broadway it was inadvisable to set a definite course of action at the present time.

The project was reviewed and the manager was directed to save as much as possible from this year's budget to add to the $15,000 already set aside for the filling of the old channel, construction of bleachers on the south side of the race, construction of a stage on the north side, and general improvement of the site with the cooperation of the highway commission.

The board is determined to have the work completed at the earliest possible time but the prohibitive cost of materials and labor at the present preclude any possibility of the project's completion by spring term.

The board also let a contract to the San Carlo Opera company for the presentation of "Carmen" on February 5, 1946.

Printing of 2700 copies of the 1946 Oregana was authorized, and the additional paper needed for the annual was ordered.

Authorizations for the printing of the Emerald, and 2600 "Piggers Guides" were granted before the board adjourned.

Sr. Editing Class Gives Radio Show

The University Journal went to press for the second time this year Tuesday October 9 over station KOAC under the direction of Mrs. Mary Stanton Krenk, radio advisor, and Shirley Peters, student director.

Broadcast and written by the senior editing class, the journal goes on the air weekly at 4:45 p.m. with the view of acquainting listeners with odd, unusual, and amusing incidents happening in Oregon to Oregon people. Material for the broadcast is obtained from local newspapers and from listeners who submit interesting incidents.

Students appearing on the series are Margaret Brooke, Marjorie Olson, Nona Bradley, Wilma Foster, Marvin Tims, and Leonard Turnbull who alternate appearances, four doing the broadcasting each week.

Registration Group To Discuss Changes

Petitions for late entrance to the University and petitions from students wishing to add classes will be discussed by the registration committee Thursday.

Under the new system introduced this year, students who wish to add classes or register late must petition the registrar's office.

Ducks May Wing To OSC Via Trucks

Due to the prevailing bus drivers strike, it is quite evident that some other method of transportation to Corvallis for the U of O-OSC game must be utilized. A remedy for this situation is in sight. There are trucks available to carry students to and from the game. At the College Side Inn and the Co-op are survey sheets to be signed by the students interested. Those organizations wishing to travel in a body are to contact Evan Sax at 3886. An announcement of schedules will appear in a later edition of the Emerald.

Newspaper Week Brings Speeches, Articles, Visitors

The widest observance of newspaper week, in recent years, held in recognition of the services of the press during the war years and with the hope of altering the public attitude of taking newspapers for granted, ended October 8. Sixteen inches of space promoting the program were contributed by the Emerald during the past week, which marked the sixth annual national observance.

Newspaper week is sponsored by the Newspaper Association Managers and the extent of the program in each community is determined by the publishers themselves. One of the best observances given in any newspaper in the state was shown by the Eugene Register-Guard, according to Carl C. Webb, director of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers association. The Guard held open house four evenings and afternoons during the week, playing host to approximately 1200 visitors. This local daily gave 320 column inches for news stories, editorials, and pictures on newspaper week.

Feature articles on "Freedom of the Press" were written for the Guard by George Turnbull and Warren C. Price, acting dean and associate professor of journalism,

Homcoming Chairman Petitions Due October

Petitions for chairmanship of the first post war Homecoming weekend December 1, are to be turned in to Janet Douglas at Hendricks hall before October 17, ASUO President Ed Allen announced Tuesday.

Students petitioning for the position who have had experience with prewar Homecomings, either in official capacities or as participants, will be given preference when the ASUO executive council selects the chairman. However, experience is not a pre-requisite for petitioning and all students interested are urged to submit such intentions.

Belated Rating Awarded 1945 Winter Term Papers By National Press Critics

For the fifth time in seven years the Oregon Daily Emerald has been awarded the All-American Honor rating by the Associated Collegiate press annual newspaper evaluation program. The rating, announcement of which was received Tuesday by Louise Montag, editor, applies to the Emeralds issued during winter term last year when Anne Craven was editor, Elizabeth Haugen managing editor, and Marguerite Wittwer, news editor.

The announcement came as an unprecedented surprise since the same Emeralds entered in this 33rd All-American Newspaper critical service had already been awarded the First Class Honor rating last spring term. The All-American rating, higher than the First Class classification, was awarded the Emerald after all the papers in a representative group were judged by standards set by the papers themselves. The score the Emerald received placed it in position for consideration and comparison with the others in its group. The raised rating is the result of this comparison.

The All-American rating signifies that the Emerald, in comparison with college dailies published by schools approximately the same size as the University of Oregon, is a superior newspaper, according to the ACP scorebook received by Miss Montag.

The Pacemaker award is the only award higher than All-American and is awarded to a select few newspapers which are not only superior but are outstanding in the field of progressive journalism. This award was given the Emerald in 1938.

Among Emerald qualities especially noted by the critics, and entered in the scorebook, are campus news coverage, "top notch" work in the news-feature department, excellent war effort coverage, excellent copyreading, excellent typography, consistently strong editorials . . . well-written and varied in content, lively sports coverage.

Reactions in the journalism school, when the news was revealed, were varied. George Turnbull, acting dean and faculty advisor to the staff, said, "Hot dog! This is the best news I've heard in a long time!"

Feminine members of the staff squealed.

Webfoot Band Set for Games

The University band, under the direction of John Stehn, acting Dean of the music school, will be playing for all the home games this year and traveling out of town occasionally for games played at rival schools.

Although this semester the band will be strictly a marching organization, next term it will be a concert band. Of the 64 members in the band, 50 marched at the University of Idaho game here Saturday.

The freshmen lead in the band with 35 members, the juniors and sophomores tie with 13, and the seniors have the least, with only three representing their class.

Oregonian Harmony Mystifies

When the little reporter returned to the Emerald news office Tuesday, sobbing broken sobs, the staff was non-plussed. Finally her tale of woe w/ tears splashed on the editorial shoulders.

"Dr. Souers (Philip W.) won't tell me what 'The Oregonian Harmony' is," she admitted.

SURE IT'S RIGHT

Any student who wishes to make an address change before the "Piggers' Guide" (University student directory), goes to press, should go to the registrar's office in Johnson hall and make the change as soon as possible. If you have reason to believe you have made any mistakes in your phone number or address—correct this at once! It will be to your advantage.
