Civil War Feature Saturday Grid Menu

By Leonard Turnbull

The pendulum of Pacific Coast conference standings swings wide this week as elevens clash in hot-beds of traditional rivalries, with only defending champions of the University of Southern California playing a non-conference tilt. Far Western sports writers give the nod to two teams in the conference, Southern California rates tops in the south with two wins, no losses or ties.

In the north, Washington State leads the parade, after downing Oregon 20-6 in a close-fought affair and walloping the University of Idaho 43 to 12 in the season's opener.

Webfoots Plan Revenge

Webfoots of the University of Oregon waddle up to Corvallis this weekend to flutter up revenge for the 39 to 2 pasting handed them by Oregon State College in 1941, final pre-war setto of the rival schools. In this 49th renewal of the long series, conference hopes of Tex Oliver's gridiron machine will be brought in the limelight.

A spotlight of conference interest will also be swung up to Washington as Washington State begins a fray with the University of Washington as odds-on favorites to push a tie for first place position. Washington was trounced last week by the University of Southern California by a count of 27-14 while Washington State smothered Oregon State 33-0.

In Los Angeles UCLA plays host to friendly enemies as they meet the University of California. Southern California travels down to San Diego for 60 minutes of football struggles with a team from naval training camp.

Key pivot man, Elliott Wilson of the Oregon eleven was declared ineligible this week in a blow to the Ducks line strength. But the Leicht-Reynolds-Donovan backfield trio bolsters Oregon's dream of a free scoring affair with proteges of Tex Oliver on the heavy side.

Emorys Defeat

The powerful Emory football team yesterday downed the fighting Sigma club by an impressive 32-6 score.

Uhle's 95 yard run was the game's highlight. Passes accounted for the rest of the tallies that gave the Emorys their wide margin of victory.

Today's contest will feature the Barons, pitted against Hanson house. Starting time is scheduled for 4 p.m.

mosphere is laden with gloom. Coach Lon Stiner has battered aces on the sidelines with injuries. The word of his scout on the Oregon-Idaho game that the University is a dark horse for Pacific Coast conference title, and that Jake Leicht, twinkle-toed halfback, will be boomed for all-American honors, does not sooth the furrowed brow of Stiner. Oregon State tied an eleven from Camp Beale 14 to 14 then dropped low to Washington State in a game that ended 33-0.

Leicht, Oregon Halfback All-American Possibility

Oregon State College, Corvallis, Oct. 9.—Jake Leicht, Oregon's star quarterback is a great athlete and a top ranking candidate for All-American honors.

That's the information that headed Bill Howard's scouting report after he had watched the Webfoots trounce Idaho, 33 to 7, last Saturday in Eugene.

Howard also reported to Lon Stiner, head coach of the Oregon State team, that Oregon is loaded with gridiron talent and rates as a good dark-horse bet to win the Pacific Coast conference title.

After the report, Stiner sent his squad through a lengthy scrimmage practice Monday afternoon in preparation for Saturday's game here with the Webfoots. Another heavy drill was on Tuesday's slate.

Injuries are adding to the Beavers' woes as they prepare for the opening civil war game here Saturday. A large number of players were on the sidelines Monday. However, most of these men will be ready to play against the Webfoots, but will miss most of the heavy work this week.

Three men probably won't see action Saturday. Buster Hollingbery, who sprained his foot severely in the Camp Beale contest, only discarded his crutches Monday and probably won't be back in shape by Saturday. Harvey Cutts, first-string right guard, received a side injury in the Beale game, which has been slow to respond to treatment. Chuck Nordstrom, alternate left tackle, injured his leg in the Washington State nightmare and may be out of action for a week.

Gloom hangs heavy over the Corvallis campus as hopes for a victory over Oregon appear slight.

Indians Call Grid Workout

Marchie Schwartz, recently appointed head football coach at Stanford, will issue a call for a football team when he returns to the campus early next week, announced A.S.S.U. President Bob Kennedy.

Kennedy emphasized, however, that Stanford's chance of raising any kind of a team this year would depend entirely on the turnout for Coach Schwartz' call. And even with the team, Stanford will not enter the Pacific Coast Conference this fall. The most hopeful plan is that informal games may be scheduled with nearby colleges or service teams when and if an Indian team is in shape to play.

Coach Schwartz, a devotee of the "T" formation, has spent the past month at the University of Pittsburgh, present headquarters of the Clark Schaughnessy who with his "T" coached the Farm's 1940 team into the Rose Bowl.

Basketball Back

"In any event," Kennedy said, "we will definitely start intercollegiate sports with basketball this winter, and we should be back on our feet by fall of '46."

In discussing the program for the coming school year, Kennedy declared that he approved trying out the new ASSU constitution and that he favored waiting until spring quarter student body elections before the constitution was put to an all-campus vote.

"But I want to go on record," he added, "that I'm definitely not in favor of area representation." He cited the case of the Excom representative from Sequoia Hall, saying that now Sequoia is closed, he represents no area.

The constitution was drawn up during the 1944-45 school year, and was adopted for trial use for this year's student government. It will be put to a student vote for ratification during this academic year. Most radical change in the constitution was the adoption of Excom representation by living group areas rather than by classes.

A program outline for the annual all-University assembly to be held next Monday morning was presented to Excom by Kennedy. The studentbody will be introduced to the new Dean of Students, John M. Stalnaker, at that time. Faculty members and Excom representatives will sit on the stage and the latter will be introduced to the students, Kennedy announced.

The assembly is being planned in co-operation with the Committee on Public Exercises.

Invitation Postponed

Excom discussed an invitation from the University of California to have Stanford attend the Cal-UCLA football game scheduled for Nov. 24. Decision on accepting the invitation was postponed because the date of the game conflicts with Stanford's Thanksgiving vacation.

Excom approved a plan to write a letter to President Sproul of the University of California recommending leniency in the case of a Cal football player who was suspended from the team because of his part in the Stanford Axe-stealing summer quarter.

Sports Writers

There will be an important meeting for all who are interested in writing sports for the Emerald tonight at 9 p.m. in the sports room of the Journalism building.

Oliver's Webfoots Ready for OSC Tilt

By Bill Walkenshaw

The Oregon Webfoots went through a lengthy practice Monday in preparation for meeting the Oregon State Beavers in Corvallis next Saturday. Coach Tex Oliver indicated the Ducks would be getting plenty of these long drills in the coming week in preparation for this all-important game.

The Oregon camp contends that any advantage that has been indicated by comparative scores against Idaho and Washington State has been offset by the ineligibility of center Elliott Wilson and the fact that the Beavers will be on the rebound against Oregon after an embarrassing defeat at the hands of the Cougars.

Bill Anderson, a seventeen-year-old filling Wilson's shoes, did a good job on the Idaho game and although the lad has the courage and ability, the Webfoots will miss Wilson experience and size in the forward wall.

On the lighter side however, is the prospect of unleashing a well-balanced Oregon attack against the Beavers. The Webfoots uncovered a lot of bright backfield talent in the Idaho game. Quarterback Jake Leicht lived up to Oliver's fondest dreams, but more gratifying was the excellent performance of Walt Donovan at the right half post. Bobby Reynolds, star left half of the Washington heartbreaker should be fully recovered from his leg injury that bothered him against the Idaho Vandals.

The Beavers of OSC are in for a wild afternoon when they attempt to hold the Leicht-Reynolds-Donovan combine in hand.

Records Shattered In World Series

During one of the wierdest, most thrill-packed games in World Series history, the Cubs nosed out the Tigers, 8 to 7, Monday in 12 innings to set the following records:

Gate receipts—the total take for the first six games—$1,388,277, including $100,000 in radio receipts—cracked the previous all-time high of $1,322,328.21 set by the Tigers and Cincinnati Reds in the seven-game turnstile registration should raise the total receipts to approximately $1,600,000.

Most players: The Tigers and Cubs, in each using 19 players, surpassed a previous series mark of 18 held by the 1936 Giants. The grand total of 38 shattered the previous two-team high of 29 set by the Giants-Senators in 1936. Other player records include: (1) by both clubs, and (2) by one club in a series, 25 (Detroit Tigers).

Longest game: Monday's battle, which continued for three hours and 28 minutes broke by 34 minutes the previous high of 2:54 established by the Yankees and Dodgers in 1941.

Pinch hitters: The Cubs, in using their 11th pinch hitter Monday set a new record for National league "tardy entries." The Giants, held the previous high of nine in 1923.

Other odds and ends records were: (1) Most times at bat: for one club in a game, Detroit—49; most times at bat, one player in a game, Mayo, York and Pafko, 6 (ties old record). (2) Most pitchers used in a game for both clubs, 9, (ties record).
