

PUDDLES
is the name of the duck, and the girl is Lois McConkey, rally squad member. Both of them have been boosting Oregon's fighting spirit in preparation for the game today.

Football Feuding Resumed Today

1945 Webfoot-Beaver Gridiron Classic Abandons Wartime Mothballs at Corvallis

By Jack Reeves

Traditional rivalry will again be renewed today at 2 p. m. when the Oregon Webfoots take the field against Coach Lon Stiner's Orangemen in Corvallis. The Ducks will be pointing for their second victory of the season, and the Beavers will be after their first.

Sparked by quarterback Jake Leicht, the Ducks have been given a slight edge. Although the Beavers have suffered one tie and a set-back by Washington State, they will be gunning for the Orecons in a "civil war classic," that to date, has never been officially settled.

(Continued on Sports Page)

Ticket Notice

Tickets for the game will be on sale this morning until 11:30 at the athletic ticket office in Mac court. Anyone who does not secure a ticket before going to Corvallis will have to pay the full admission price. Students are also reminded to take their student body cards with them because Percy Locey, athletic manager at Oregon State, has announced that unless student body cards are presented at the gate full admission price will be charged.

Tea Canceled

The Alpha Xi Delta faculty tea scheduled for Sunday afternoon has been canceled until a later at the Side at 10:45. Six busses date because of a conflict with the Zeta Tau Alpha tea.

Tugman New President Of Allen Memorial Board

William H. Tugman, managing editor, Eugene Register-Guard, was elected president of the board of trustees of the Eric W. Allen Memorial fund at the organizational meeting of the group Friday afternoon in President Newburn's office. Other officers named included W. Verne McKinney, editor and co-publisher, Hillsboro Argus, vice president and Lawrence Spraker, publisher, Stayton Mail, secretary-treasurer.

Carl C. Webb, assistant professor of journalism and manager of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers' association, was appointed as assistant secretary-treasurer. An executive committee, composed of Tugman and George S. Turnbull, acting dean, school of journalism, was also selected.

By-laws of the organization were adopted and preliminary plans made by the trustees which includes Tugman, McKinney, Spraker, Turnbull, Dr. Harry K. Newburn, Louise Montag and Tom B. Purcell, publisher Gresham Outlook, and president of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers association.

Established as a memorial to the late Dean Eric W. Allen, founder of the school of journalism, the purpose of the fund is to advance the science and art of journalism in the state, to establish and promote research projects in the field of newspaper practice, and to assist in the promotion and advancement of education through the school of journalism.

Dean Allen was born in Appleton, Wisconsin April 4, 1879 and died in Eugene, March 5, 1944. He received his AB degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1901 and established the school of journalism at the University of Oregon in 1912. In 1906 he married Ida (Sally) Elliot, who preceded him in death. Three sons, John E., Robert K. and Eric W. Jr., and one daughter, Elizabeth (Mrs. Charles M. Gilbert), survive. He was twice president, American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism, and was a member of Delta Upsilon and Sigma Delta Chi, of which he was national president in 1925. He was author of "Printing for the Journalist."

While no organized drive for public support of the memorial

(Please turn to page eight)

Celebration Tonight If...

Who doesn't dream of a victory at Corvallis today? The question is how would you most enjoy celebrating Oregon's anticipated victory? This is the way some of our loyal Oregon students have answered:

Jake Leicht: "... and maybe you can guess!"

Maxine Davis: "I'd like to see OSC publicly announce that the 'best team' has won."

Bev Bryant: "My greatest desire is to have the Oregon student body stand in front of the MU building after the game and sing 'Oregon, Our Alma Mater.'"

Frank Bruce Hoffine: "Take the student body to Coos Bay and show them a big time."

Harriet Farr: "Go to big dance 'cause I love to dance."

John Calborn and Lynn Lewis: We will celebrate!!

Mickey Davis: "Soft lights, soft music, and not too much ice in my drinks!"

Honest Abe Wilson: "... with a beautiful gal."

Audrey Berdine: "I'd like to see OSC prexy riding a lemon and green cow."

Jack Hessel: "Why not change one o'clock per to two o'clock?"

John Kauffman: "Rest on a sofa ... and that's probably what I'll be doing."

Dave Kemptson: "Picnic in the middle of Bell Field."

Ralph Eastman: "I'm all for bigger and better beers."

Bob Saum: "Everybody get lightly gay and paint Corvallis lemon and green."

Audrey Wishart: "Visit my devoted Oregon State friends."

Chuck de Ganahl: "How many beers can you buy for sixty-cents?"

Billie John: "Aren't our pre-med students nice?"

(Please turn to page eight)

Vandals Face Expulsion

Presidents Decide To Recommend Rule

Edict to Be Effective Immediately If State Education Board Approves

The presidents of the University of Oregon and Oregon State college have agreed to recommend that any student who is apprehended in acts of vandalism on either campus should be expelled from his respective institution of residence.

Dr. Harry K. Newburn, president of the University, says the expulsion will be effective immediately, subject to the approval of the state board of higher education.

The two presidents will recommend the action at the next meeting of the state board, October 22 and 23.

Vandalism and School Spirit

In making the announcement, Dr. Newburn emphasized that he hopes the students will recognize the difference between school spirit and vandalism.

The Eugene city police are cooperating with the University in patrolling the campus. They are being paid for their service by the University and have been instructed to apprehend any students taking part in acts of vandalism.

Damage which already has been done at Oregon is being repaired by University workmen. The cost of the repair work will be billed to Oregon State college, Dr. Newburn said.

Student Body to Pay

Cost of repairing damage done to the OSC campus will be paid by the Associated Students of the University of Oregon. The money will be taken from the ASUO donations fund.

Individuals who are picked up for committing acts of vandalism will be billed for the damage they have done.

Within the past week, raids have been made by the students of each institution almost nightly. Oregon students burned a large "U of O" into the turf of Bell stadium in Corvallis last Monday night.

Acts of Desecration

In retaliation, Oregon State students attempted to burn the letters "OSC" in Hayward field on Wednesday. Thursday night,

(Please turn to page eight)

Dance Tonight; Ducks Invited

When the dust has cleared away from the annual Duck-Beaver pigskin classic there will be a no-date sport dance at the Memorial Union ballroom on the Beaver campus, it has been announced in the October 9 Barometer. Dance time begins at 8:30 p.m. and ends one half hour before the stroke of midnight. The climax to OSC Dad's day, the dance will feature a Salem band.

Sport clothes will be the order of the day, for both the game and shuffle, announced Signe Eklund, president of the AWS. Oregon State women will wear low-heeled shoes and campus clothes to the game since the Duck visitors will wear casual clothes. General admission prices will apply to both student bodies.

BUS TICKETS

Although all bus tickets for today's game have been sold, students in need of a ride should come to the College Side at 10:45 this morning. An effort will be made to squeeze them into one of the six busses chartered for the trip, according to Evans Sax, in charge of transportation.