Semi-finals Cross Coeds Net Tangles This week

This week the semi-finals in the girls volleyball tournament are drawing to a close and the top teams in each of the four leagues will be determined as finalists. All the teams are anxious to win in their league, thus resulting in some real, fast and hard-fought games. Most of the teams have played their four games but there are a few more to be played and also several previously canceled games left to fill out this week's schedule. The final contestants will clash sometime before Thanksgiving.

Monday's Finals

In Monday's games the Delta Gammas won a decisive victory over their opponents, the Orides, with a very one-sided score of 47 to 9, Hendricks Hall defeated Alpha Omicron Pi 42 to 29, and the Chi Omegas emerged victorious over the Gamma Phi Betas in one of those "too close for comfort" games 59-54.

Chi O-Gamma Phi Game Exciting
Perhaps the most interesting game from a spectator's point of view was the Chi O, Gamma Phi game. At the half time, Chi Omega was a mere two points ahead and both teams, nervous and excited, tried to calm down. During the second half, the teams were tied time and again, neither able to take a sufficient lead so that the opposing side could not overtake them. Finally, as the game neared the end, Chi Omega scored the winning five points, thus winning the game. Whether the game proved such a strain on the Chi Omega Captain, Dorothy Fleming, that she sprained her ankle, is not definitely known but it did happen! Teamwork was the keynote of this game.

Tuesday's Results

He started his career at the University almost 18 years ago as a night watchman. Jumping from this position to that of building supervisor, he soon made himself invaluable to the students by helping them build their stands and booths for the canoe fetes and many other social events. He was well-liked and admired for his friendliness and sense of humor, say his fellow workers at the physical plant office.
