Pacific Coasts' Teams Tie-up

Pacific Coast conference standings were a bit revised after last Saturday's Oregon State win. Lon Stiner's Beavers came back in the last three minutes of play to win the game 7-6. Stan McGuire's perfect placement kicked the Huskies right out of Pasadena and restored U.S.C. to top position.

U.S.C. won a close 14 to 0 game from the hapless California Bears. Washington State, at this time, was winning the Oregon game at Pullman 20 to 13.

The Rose Bowl situation remains a bone of contention with California sports writers plugging the Independent Gaels of St. Marys, who incidentally started their five second stringers and beat Fresno State 32-6 at Fresno. If St. Marys wins the remainder of their games, they will be the only undefeated team on the coast.

Th teams thus far, who seem destined for Bowl offers, are U.S.C. and St. Marys.

Many sports writers say that St. Marys and Alabama have been signed to play in the Sugar Bowl. Bill Stern, in his broadcast of the Army-Notre Dame football game, revealed how Army would like to play in Pasadena, on January 1.

Hockey Teams Form League

Sighting in on the Pacific Northwest Hockey conference, 31 women from hockey classes will go to Portland November 17, accompanied by their instructor, Miss Janet Woodruff.

Women forming the two teams, Cascade and Evergreen, were chosen by members of their classes because of their skill in the sport. Besides the games they will play, the women will attend a banquet Saturday at the Alexander Court hotel and a demonstration and discussion of hockey techniques and rules.

Cascade's Saturday schedule includes playing Washington State college and Portland, while Evergreen will oppose Chintimini (OSC team) and Idaho. On Sunday Evergreen will play the University of Washington, and Cascade's opponent will be Skyline (ASC team). At noon Sunday a game will be played between the first place winners of each league.

Girls making the trip include: Cascades—Jackie Bogan, June Carnes, Thelma Chaney, Del Cable, Gloria Thompson, Grace Edwards, Janice Pesciallo, Shirley Kroeger, Betty Crabb, Shirley Cox, Ruth Shipler, Wilma Earnest, Jean Neely, Nadya Ramp, Esther Paronen, Wanda Lue Payne.

Traveling Evergreens: Gerry Arnold, Emily Autenrieth, Bev Bennett, Mary Bowman, Jean Bray, Mable DeVoss, Francis Edwards, Harriet Minot, Robbie Mulkey, Janice Neely, Hazel Peterson, Marge Priest, Genevieve Siskey, Marian Sorenson, and Phyllis Wells.

Oregon Staters Down Huskies Hunt Cougars

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Nov. 14—A greatly improved Oregon State football team will be after revenge this Saturday when Washington State invades Corvallis for a return battle with the Beavers, Phil Sorboe's Cougars handed the Orange a 33 to 0 licking at Pullman early in October and Lon Stiner's men have been waiting for another crack at the Palouse club ever since. The game will be the feature event of homecoming at Oregon State.

In upsetting highly favored Washington, 7-6 at Seattle last Saturday the Beavers undoubtedly played their best game of the season to date. The Orange not only knocked the Huskies out of first place in the Pacific coast conference but also ruined Washington's dreams of a trip to the Rose Bowl. Stiner's young Orangemen displayed great power in driving 69 yards in 13 plays to tie the game in the last nine minutes.

McGuire Boots Conversion

Left end Stan McGuire, all-city man at Roosevelt high of Portland last fall, then calmly booted the ball squarely between the uprights for the winning point with four minutes left in the game. It was McGuire's seventh successful conversion against only two misses in six games.

Tackling and blocking by the Beavers were sharp and sure all afternoon. The vastly improved Orange line was the margin of difference between the two clubs. Oregon State's forward wall outplayed the highly touted Husky line to pave the way for the winning drive. Seven Orangemen played the full 60 minutes against the Huskies. They are Hal Puddy, left tackle; Bob Krell, center; Bill Austin, right tackle; Bud Gibbs, right end; Johnny Karamanos, quarterback; Bob Stevens, left half and fullback; and Vic Hartmann, right half.

Left half Bill Lippincott, one of the fastest backs in the conference, must be stopped if the Beavers are to have a chance of winning. Lippincott led the Cougars to victory over Oregon and also was the chief factor in the Beaver's downfall at Pullman. Stiner is stressing ways of slowing up the Palouse speedster in practice this week.

Conference Called Off; Alters Souers' Plans

P. W. Souers, English department head, will not be able to attend the conference of the Philological Association of the Pacific Coast since it has been called off due to travel and housing difficulties.

The P.A.P.C., which is a branch of the Modern Language association in Los Angeles, was to have held its conference in Berkeley during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Tennis Mould Shaping Fast

By DALE TYLER

Although tennis season is quite some time in the future, many of the tennis addicts have been defying Mother Nature and attempting to get in a couple of games and maybe even a set, if they are lucky, between those unscheduled showers. When asked as to what leads them to such stupidity, they often reply, "we're getting in condition for next spring's Northwest Inter-Collegiate Tennis Conference. We hope to obtain the backing of the student body and faculty in putting Oregon in the limelight."

Tennis Team Unknown

As can be imagined, the perplexed condition took "Yours Truly" greatly by surprise. I know, without a doubt, that I am not alone in my ignorance. In fact, even those very much interested in the popular outdoor sport know nothing of any possibilities of Oregon developing a tennis team as a leading sport.

After talking it up around the campus, it appeared evident that we have some outstanding players enrolled here that are more than willing to don the lemon and green shorts and make a name for Oregon, not to mention the unlimited possibilities as yet unknown.

A few of the leading racquetters behind the movement are Jack Miller rated No. 3 in the state of Kentucky and Gene Gillis, a champion in tennis as well as an outstanding lineman on the Duck eleven. Others are Johnny Layman, Chuck Stamper, Reedy Berg, Eddie Uglesich and Dick Wilkins.

If there are enough tennis players interested in active participation, Oregon would enter the conference against Washington State, University of Idaho, Oregon State and the Washington Huskies.

With as much material, and hopes of many more, the Webfoots will enter the season a great threat under the able leadership of Coach Watski.

The team will consist of five men playing two sets of doubles and five sets of singles with each opposing team. During the winter and early part of the spring term, there will be regular practicing

Aqua Paddlers Splash Today

Since the fall of 1943, Oregon hasn't had a crew of tankmen. With the start of this sport along with three other major sports the boys are in daily workouts trying to bring back the wonder teams of the past.

With the help of one letterman, Bob Prowell, to count on, Coach John Warren is trying to field a team that Oregon can again look up to. Members of the crew are Sundlie Alden, free style; Chan James, free style; Dick Trethway, free style; Rod Calvert, free style; George Campbell, free style; John McGee, free style; George Moorhead, free style.

Also Bob Prowell, free style and back stroke; Walt Banks, breast stroke; Hank Tobey, free style; Bill Evans, free style; Cyrus Garnett, diving; Willie McCullough, diving; Cliff Brooks, breast stroke; Al Ruedy, free style; Bob Niederhouser, breast stroke; and John Oliver, free style.

Tonight at 7:15, the Oregon boys will go through their paces by swimming twenty-two laps in the second of conditioning time trials. Anyone interested in swimming and wishing to see a bunch of hopefuls go through early season workouts is invited to attend.

If you have ever had the desire to be a swimmer or diver, this is your chance to try to bring back the glory Oregon has known in the past by talking to Coach John Warren or Bob Prowell, who is handling swimming up to December 1 when Warren's football season is over.

hours and several pre-season games with other college teams in Oregon and Washington.

Racket swingers and interested in seeing the Ducks establish a name for themselves in tennis, contact either Anson Cornell, athletic director of "Yours Truly."

The Webfoots had a good team before the war and there is no reason why they can't do it again. The results are up to you, let's go places.

This is it! A jacket that doesn't cinch your waist . . . doesn't touch you anywhere. That lets you loll, sprawl and stretch. These leisure jackets are a welcome relief from service clothes and colors.
