

Friday Night Program Revealed

Revival Act Split In Four Fast Quarters

First Quarter . . .

Quick Tempo Will Open UO Revival Show

Getting off to a solid, four-beat beginning and running through to the traditional tolling of the Victory Bell, the initial quarter of Friday night's Homecoming Revival promises to set the pace for the entire weekend's activities.

Skip Yeoman and his five piece El Capitan jam band will raise the curtain in McArthur court at seven o'clock Friday night. Skip's well known crew includes piano, drums, electric guitar, sax, and trumpet.

Dick Savinar, diminutive sophomore, follows the jump combo with what he coyly calls "a pome".

The familiar Chi Omega trio joins forces with the UO Rally squad to introduce the students to Mrs. Howard C. Moore's fight song, "Come On, Oregon!" The song will be used at the game Saturday.

Giving a lift to the musical tempo, the jam band will return for several numbers.

After another "pome" by Savinar, the University band takes the spotlight with several of their popular new arrangements.

The tolling of the Victory Bell will bring the first quarter to a close and a short intermission will follow.

Hot dogs and cokes will be on sale during all the intermissions in the outer lobby of the Igloo.

Man discovered the first alloy, copper, before the time of the earliest written records, but new alloys are still being discovered.

THE PRESIDENT . . .
Dr. Harry K. Newburn will be introduced for the first time to many returning alumni at the Homecoming Revival.

Second Quarter . . .

Mutual to Air Homecoming Acts, Celebrities During Second Quarter

With the Mutual Broadcasting Company airing the show over stations KALE, Portland, and KOAC, Corvallis, the second quarter of the Homecoming Revival at McArthur court Friday night will be introduced and announced by Jack Colon, former UO student, and well known sports announcer. Almost the entire second stanza of the Revival will be put on the air and no students will be admitted to the Igloo after the broadcast begins.

With fitting sentiment, following Colon's explanation of broadcast procedure, Bill McLennan, Homecoming chairman, will dedicate the program to the UO men in the service who will never return to a Homecoming. "Taps" will then add a note of seriousness to the program.

Columnist Will Emcee
Orin Weir, noted Emerald columnist, will fill the master of ceremonies spot for the evening, will be introduced and he, in turn, will present the University band under the direction of John Stehn.

Oregon's famous fight yell, "Mighty O" will then hit the air waves, led by the University Rally squad.

Following the yell, several well-known Oregon alums, back on campus for Homecoming will be presented and Dr. Harry K. Newburn, University president, will speak.

Coach Tex Oliver, Webfoot football mentor, will air his opinions on Oregon's chances in the Oregon-Oregon State game Saturday and will be followed by the president of the Alumni Association.

Home Girl Introduced
The Oregon "Girl You Most Want to Come Home To" will then be presented to the students and alums.

Memories of "Homecomings of the Past" will be brought back in songs of Homecomings of years by the Chi Omega quartet with Charlie Reynolds narrating. The quartet, made up of Janice Crabtree, Jean Kirkwood, Betty Jones, and Dorothy Fleming, has arrangements of several of the popular songs of homecomings of years gone by.

Third Quarter . . .

Brief Act Stars Musical Angle

Skip Yeoman's jam crew will paint the first hue in the third quarter musical spectrum Friday night.

The briefest of the four Homecoming revival acts, it will do a quick modulation from the jump rhythms of Yeoman and band to a clever bit of tongue-in-cheek under the direction of Pat Kimmick called "Gilbert and Sullivan Was Never Like This." Stub Bonnewell is slated to narrate the number.

Next, vocal tones will flow from the Chi Omega trio—Kay Sauve, Pat Hanley, and Norma Greene.

The short act will ride to a close under the baton of John Stehn, directing the University band. The final intermission follows.

One of Gershwin's most famous compositions, "Summertime" will be sung by the University Choral Union under the direction of D. W. Allton.

The University band will bring the broadcast to a close with several popular numbers.

Immediately after going off the air, Skip Yeoman's El Capitan jam band will take the stand and play until the beginning of a short program modeled after the famous "Truth or Consequences" radio show which will finish the second quarter of the Revival.

Hot dogs and cokes will be on sale in the outer lobby of the Igloo during intermissions.

Fourth Quarter . . .

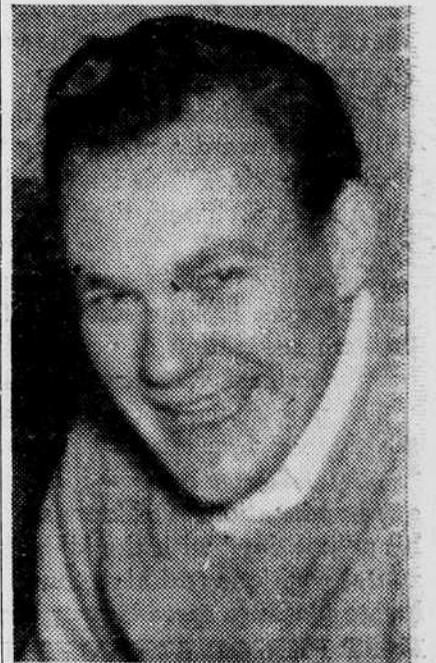

Comedy Cloaked in Mystery For Spirited Climax to Revival

Friday night's revival program will romp to a fast fourth-quarter finish, the final act featuring a highly secret number calculated to have the homecomers rolling in the floor. Audience will become participants in the carefully-cloaked antics hatched in the fertile brain of Jack Monroe and Ted Loud. Usually reliable sources have warned that anything can happen, and plenty will.

Vocal entertainment will follow, with Floyd Stapp in the spotlight.

To wrap up the evening's reunion, McArthur court will shake before the vocal blows of the assembled horde with the rally squad firing the spirit.

Closing the revival festivities will be the University band, playing the traditional "Oregon Our Alma Mater."

HO HUM . . .
Making with the eloquent ad lib at the Homecoming Revival Friday will be sharp-cracking Emcee Orin Weir of Emerald gossip column fame.

Gift Deadline Set; Contributions Urged

"The deadline for turning in Red Cross Christmas packages to be sent to Camp Adair has been set for Thursday," stated Dorothy Rasmussen, chairman of the camp and hospital unit.

Pocket games, cards, toilet articles, and gifts of general use may be included in the packages which are to be wrapped with Christmas decorations. Representatives appointed to each living organization have been urged to see that each girl is responsible for turning in at least one package.

A list of enclosed articles must be given on the outside of each package.

For further suggestions and information Miss Rasmussen may be reached at the Alpha Delta Pi house.

Dr. Riley to Speak Friday

Dr. P. L. Risley, head of the department of biology, will speak on "Twinning in Vertebrate Embryos" at the meeting of the biology seminar on Friday November 30, at 4:15 p.m. in 105 Deady.

PUDDLES'LL BE THERE
No affair at Oregon would be complete without a personality that is probably better known to alums and students than any one other, and thus Puddles, the sacred duck of Oregon is planning on being well groomed and in his green and lemon Oregon cape Friday night at the Revival.

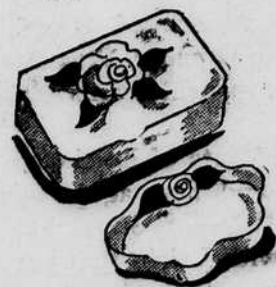

In 1769 the anthracite mined in Pennsylvania totaled 20 tons. By 1944 this had risen to 64,000 tons.
