

Fall News Roundup Recalls Many Events

By LAURA OLSON and
JUNE GOETZE

Introducing prospective students to collegiate life and providing a reunion for old students, the annual Oregon summer picnic was held at Jantzen Beach park in Portland, August 20.

Following freshman week, more than 2500 students registered for classes on September 21 and 22.

University students met President and Mrs. Harry K. Newburn on September 22 at a reception held in their honor in Gerlinger hall.

The first concert of the fall term was held at McArthur court September 26, featuring a quartet of singers of light opera and musical comedy.

Football Season

The Oregon-Washington football game, played September 29 at Seattle, ended with Washington on the heavy end of a 20-6 score.

By October 2 enrollment at the University had reached 2647 students, according to figures released by the registrar.

News that the '45 Oregon received an All-American rating with Edith Newton as editor and Marjorie Cowlin as business manager was disclosed on October 4.

A snow-ball rally, followed by a huge no-date dance at John Straub hall, was held October 5 to promote pep for the Idaho-Oregon game the next day. At the first post-war home game, which Oregon won by a score of 33-7, "Puddles", the new mascot, was introduced.

Emerald Honored

For the fifth time in seven years the Emerald received an All-American rating. This time it was for the 1944 winter term under the editorship of Anne Craven.

The Oregon State-Oregon game, played at Bell field in Corvallis on October 13, ended in defeat for the Webfoots with a score of 19 to 6.

October 16 the University celebrated its 69th birthday.

Dr. Y. C. Mei, acting president of Yenning university in Chengtu, China, spoke October 18 at an assembly at McArthur court on "American and China in the Asiatic Era."

Oregon met the Washington State Cougars at Hayward field on October 20 and emerged victorious with 26-13 score.

WSSF Drive

The services of six professors were auctioned off at McArthur court on October 25 for the bene-

A pick-and-shovel engineering job, begun in 1821 by the Pennsylvania State Works and involving excavation of 600,000,000 cubic feet of earth, produced 790 miles of canals and 117 miles of railroad line.

fit of the World Student Service fund.

"Ladies of the Jury" opened October 26 at the Guild theater in Johnson hall.

UCLA won the October 26 game from the Ducks with a score of 12-0.

Jussi Bjoerling, famous Swedish tenor, appeared in a concert at McArthur court on November 5.

The November 3 game with the University of Washington, which was held in Portland, ended with Washington winning by a 7-0 score.

Sophs Hop

The first post-war Sophomore Whiskerino was held in McArthur court November 10. Phyllis Kiste was chosen Betty Coed and Dick Wilkins was named Joe College.

Philip L. Jackson, editor-publisher of the Oregon Journal in Portland told of his impressions of the Pacific war zone November 13. That same evening Dr. Howell Williams, volcanologist, spoke at Chapman hall.

On November 15 General Victor A. Yakhontoff, noted author and lecturer, spoke on cooperation with Russia at an assembly in the Igloo. Miss Maria Osmena, daughter of the president of the Philippine commonwealth, was introduced to the Associated Women Students the same day.

Ronald Crites, University of Oregon football player, was killed in an unexplained air accident November 17. The same day his team mates trounced the Golden Bears of California 20-13.

Classes were excused the afternoon of November 30 in honor of Homecoming. A Homecoming revival was held in McArthur court that night followed by a rally and huge bonfire.

The first post-war fall term's activity season closed with a vast and successful Homecoming weekend, in which the highlight was the Webfoot-Beaver game. The night of the game, December 1, was marked by the opening of Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life," in which Estelle Shimshak and Lewis Vogler starred.

You'll hve no gift list worries if you shop at
THE BONNET NOOK

See our

White Fur Beanies

Snoods (as seen in "Charm")

Sequin Hats—perfect for that

Christmas formal

Fur Bands for the Hair

White Head Scarfs

Evening Squares

BONNET NOOK

907 Willamette

Barbara Patterson models a campus-perfect Sweater and Skirt from Gordon's

It's

Gordon's

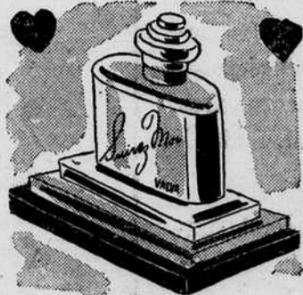

of course . . .

One of the grandest surprises for any girl or woman on Christmas morning is to find a box from GORDON'S under the tree.

From the Cosmetic Counter—

Thrilling
Perfumes

and there you'll find our other cosmetic gifts—
Lipstick
Nail Polish
Dusting Powder
and many others

See Our
Luscious Soft Sweaters and Lovely Blouses

The gift
all women cherish—stockings

Or Are You Looking for Jewelry, Lingerie, Handbags, Mittens — Whatever It is, You'll Find It at GORDON'S

DANCE

with

EDDIE MILLER

Friday, Saturday & Sunday
December 7, 8 & 9
and

BOB CROSBY

Saturday & Sunday
December 15 & 16

—and—

Saturday night only

December 22

