Ducklings Split Prep Hoop Tilt

Oregon's Frosh hoopsters opened their home season on McArthur court Saturday afternoon with a doubleheader against two state prep teams, the Grant Generals of Portland and Reedsport. The Frosh measured Reedsport by a 45 to 33 count but were repulsed in the second game 36 to 32 by the flashy G-Men.

In the opening contest Art Milne and DeWayne Johnson led the scoring effort for the yearlings with eight points apiece against Reedsport. Clyde DeWitt, Braves forward, provided the scoring spark for the losers with a total of 19 counters.

The Frosh had a slight 20 to 16 halftime margin over the Generals in the second game. The effects of two engagements in the same afternoon began to show on the University team as they hit for only six points during the third quarter and Grant managed to even the count at 26 all.

Freshman Johnny Neely led the scoring in the Frosh-Grant game with 11 while Dan Torry flipped in eight for the G-Men.

comedians had nothing on these "jokers," because from the moment of their appearance to their not too glorious exit, those in the audience who had kept their places during the half time were howling with mirth.

New Award Listed By ISA President

Establishment of the Gerald Huestis award for the outstanding independent freshman has been announced by Anne Van Valzah, ISA president.

The award, consisting of a cup, will be given each spring term to a man chosen on the basis of participation in campus activities, scholarship, and promise. The ISA Cabinet, governing council of the association, and members of the faculty, who will be named late, will pick the award winner sometime during spring term each year.

Gerald Huestis was active in the formation of the ISA during the torrid campus political campaign of 1941. He was a swimming letterman and member of numerous campus honoraries and committees.

Eugene Gleemen To Sing Thursday

Marking their 20th anniversary as a musical organization, the Eugene Gleemen will give their regular semi-annual winter home concert Thursday evening in McArthur Court. The group is composed of 70 voices, representing Eugene business, professional and tradesmen.

Three members of the University school of music are holding important positions in the concert. Don Allton, assistant professor of music, will be acting conductor; Stacey Green, acting accompanist; and George Boughton, violinist, guest artist.

ASUO cards will be good for admission to this Eugene concert, which is sandwiched between two out-of-town performances at McMinnville Monday and in Salem Friday, February 1.

gloriously carried the ball down the length of the court where he calmly pushed everyone else aside and made six baskets, one right after the other.

The dribbling was a mixture of waltzing and tackling, with every man having his fling. "T" formations were executed, and even the water boys joined in the comedy for added merriment.

Track 'Colonel' Calls Harriers

Oregon sunshine turned thumbs down on Colonel Bill Hayward's harriers Monday afternoon forcing indoor workouts in place of the usual cinder-churning on the track. Stress was placed upon conditioning work with special emphasis on starts and muscle conditioning exercises.

Although the squad was bolstered by the addition of a dozen cindermen, Colonel Hayward nevertheless issued an appeal to all former trackmen with experience to turn out for the varsity squad immediately. As of the beginning of the third week of workouts there is still a definite shortage of pole vaulters, high jumpers, low and high hurdlers, and sprintmen. Additional squad men are needed to fill the vacant positions on the relay team; at the present time all of the positions are open and competition among the 30 trackmen who have turned out so far is keen.

Returned Sprinter

Monday saw the addition of three experienced harriers to the Oregon squad, thus bolstering the gloomy outlook for the 1946 season. Jack McCracken, frosh century man in 1941, returned to the local oval after a four year leave of absence, so far McCracken is the only bright spot in the sprints although Hayward is hopeful that Jake Leicht will turn out before competition begins with Oregon State.

Evans Cantrell and Paul Smith, former Washington high school middle distance men, have finally broken away from the hold-out status and according to past performances these two tracksters should place in conference competition during the season.

The Webfoot harriers face a difficult task this season for in the first week the Washington Huskies signed up 51 harriers for the various track and field events including a front line of returning lettermen in nearly every post. No official announcements have been received from the other schools in the conference as yet but large turnouts are expected.
