

KOAC to Air Special Show For Duck Dads

Busy Registration Day Planned for Fathers

Highlighting a busy registration day for Oregon fathers Saturday, February 2, will be a special radio program presented exclusively for them over station KOAC. The broadcast will take place while dads and their offspring are attending a luncheon in their honor at the Eugene hotel. The luncheon will last from 12 noon to 2 p.m.

Featured on the program are Sylvia Killman, who will sing "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice," and James McMullan whose vocal selection will be "The Drinking Song," from Hamlet. Mr. Eddie Sammons, chairman of the board of the U. S. National Bank in Portland, will be guest speaker at the luncheon. His topic will be "Where Do We Go From Here?"

Dads Register

In case any Webfoots are wondering how their fathers are to register after they have arrived in Eugene, the following information should clear up a few difficulties.

Each dad should register; not only for his own benefit, but also to help his son or daughter, as a contest will be held to see which living organization has the most dads present.

Registration will take place Saturday, February 2. Dads may register in the lobby of Johnson hall from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., in the Eugene hotel from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m., and again in Johnson hall from 2:30 to 5 p.m. While registering they may obtain life membership in the dad's club for $5, or annual membership for $1. There will be three people on duty to help them register.

Luncheon Tickets

Students wishing to attend the luncheon at the Eugene hotel may buy tickets for their fathers and themselves at Dean Onthank's office. They will sell at one dollar each.

"I'd like to urge every Webfoot to invite his or her dad," stated Miss Burgess, "because we want to make this an occasion that everyone will remember."

'Carmen' to Appear In Igloo February 5

The San Carlo Opera company will present "Carmen" at McArthur court February 5. The opera will be presented in its entirety on the stage in the east side of the Igloo. Students will be seated on bleachers on the west side.

Tickets for the opera are now available in the educational activities office in McArthur court. The price is 60 cents plus an ASUO card.

Purchases should be made early as there are only 1,000 available tickets. Wives of veterans will be admitted as students. Veterans can buy two tickets on their cards.

Discharged WAC Heads Agua Coeds

You've probably already noticed her. Everyone has. In case you're mystified as to just who we're talking about, we shall strive to enlighten you. Her name is Margaret E. Brewster, and by occupation she's the women's swimming instructor here at the University of Oregon.

A splendid swimmer herself, Miss Brewster is doing much in her field as girls' instructor. Although this is not Miss Brewster's first attempt at teaching swimming, she considers the pool and the entire Women's Athletic association here at the University in excellent condition. As for the girls themselves, she says that on the whole, there are definitely many girls who will soon become excellent swimmers.

Miss Brewster is an ex-service woman, and at the time of her honorable discharge from W.A.C.'s she answered to the title of "First Lieutenant." She spent ten months overseas and the rest of her three years in service as assistant director in the first W.A.C. training center, Fort Des Moines, Iowa.

Although she misses the excitement of army life, she is very interested in her swimming department here, and has a high interest in the final outcome of the women's intramurals and the inner-collegiate telegraphic meet to be held here in Gerlinger hall February 20 and 27.

She hopes to come out at least second as was the case last year, or better still, to score top honors as in 1944. Miss Brewster is taking the place of Mrs. Mary Berry, and hopes to keep the girls in good form "like Mrs. Berry did."

Miss Brewster also announced today the names of the three girls chosen as new Amphibians. They are Joyce Armstrong, Rosaline Enns, and Dianna Dye. Formal pledging is being held tonight in the Gerlinger hall gym.

Be sure and have your dad register when he arrives for Oregon Dads' Day, February 1 and 2.

New Dance Band To Give Audition

Herb Widmer and his five-piece band will make their initial appearance on the campus at a special audition for all chairmen and dance committee heads tomorrow from 4 to 5 p.m. at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house.

The band, consisting of Dave Fortmiller, trumpet; G. Dunc Wimpers, drums; Reg Roos, piano; Ralph Powers, bass; and Widmer, tenor sax, will play several numbers for the benefit of social chairmen and dance heads.

"All students interested in securing a band for any social function are cordially invited to come," Widmer stated.

school in Portland, where he was head yell leader during his senior year. At present Jimmy is living at the Beta house, although he is an independent. It is a certain fact that if Jimmy goes on showing the enthusiasm and pep that he displayed last Saturday night, his cheer-leading days will be a success, members of the rally squad said.

Get your tickets for the Dads' Day luncheon, February 2, at the Eugene hotel. You can purchase them at Dean Onthank's office in Johnson hall.

Bernard Engel to Head Emerald Copy-Editors

Bernard Engel, senior in journalism, has been named chief copy editor of the Emerald by Louise Montag, editor. He will supervise the organization of the copy desk, sign up desk editors and headline writers, and instruct new workers.

After completing his junior year at the University in 1942, Engel served three and one-half years in the army. During that time he spent a year in Europe as regimental correspondent for the 413th Infantry.

Engel has had three years of experience on the Emerald and is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity. He is a charter member of the Three O'Clock club, organization of Emerald night staff workers.

managed to win some 90-odd battles, while losing only two, throughout his fistic career. He has a clean slate for the past year, and is a tried and true artist with the leather.

During the course of the past year he made a valid defense of his title against Phil Terranova, and won handily. His other fights have been with the rank and file of the feathers, but the big question will be answered this year when the rising crop of former stars and the service potentials bring the pressure to bear for the honor of being top man in that class, and there we rest our case.

Gleemen Concert Features Violinist

Scheduled to present their 38th semi-annual home concert Thursday evening in McArthur court, the Eugene Gleemen returned to this city Monday night following a successful appearance in McMinnville. There they sang before a near-capacity crowd despite the stormy weather which accompanied their trip and program.

Conducting the concert Thursday will be Donald Allton, with Stacey Green acting as accompanist. Both men are members of the University school of music. Guest artist at the concert is George Boughton, violinist, a member of the Oregon music staff.

This home appearance of the Gleemen is sponsored by the Boy Scout Oregon Trail Council. Chairman of the group is Ralph Kindler. The concert is being given for the benefit of the Boy Scout camp fund.
