

Charles Byrne Resigns From State System Jobs

The resignation of Dr. Charles D. Byrne, administrative assistant to Chancellor Frederick M. Hunter, was accepted Tuesday by the state board of higher education.

Dr. Byrne also resigned his position of director of information for the state system. However, he will continue his duties as secretary of the state board, a job he has held jointly with his post as administrative assistant to the chancellor since 1933.

Health Reasons

In the request to the board Dr. Byrne stated that he needed relief from his "triple responsibilities" because of health reasons. The board granted him a sabbatical leave from March 1 to July 1 for rest and recuperation.

Dr. Byrne became administrative assistant to the chancellor while Chancellor William J. Kerr was in office and continued as assistant when Hunter became chancellor in 1935.

Request Quoted

The formal request for resignation, as quoted by the Oregonian follows:

"For more than a year I have been giving consideration to requesting relief from the heavy administrative duties imposed upon me in my triple capacity of secretary of the board, assistant to the chancellor and director of information. This triple responsibility has been carried for more than 12 years, but has been aggravated during the war years by staff shortage and increased responsibilities. I discussed this matter of relief with some board members a year ago, but was prevailed upon to continue. However, I have received health warnings that any prudent man must heed. Continuation of this load under present administrative conditions is hazardous.

"I therefore request, effective today, to be relieved of all administrative duties as assistant to the chancellor and director of information, retaining only the function of secretary of the board. This alone is a full-time position which the board set up in 1930 and employed a man at a salary $500 per year greater than I am now receiving. I further request, in accordance with the board's rules, that I be granted a four-month sabbatical leave for rest and recuperation, effective March 1 to July 1.

Libe Display Depicts Soviet School Scenes

"Education in the Soviet Union," a display graphically depicting how education is practiced in the one room schoolhouse on the Kamchatka peninsula and in the urbane institutes of Moscow and Leningrad, will soon be placed on exhibit in the main hall of the library.

The exhibit is being presented through the courtesy of Dr. Berthold C. Friedl, with the assistance of Gerald Reinhart.

JAM FOR BREAKFAST

(Continued from page two) watch this column for a meeting to be called by those of us who desire a certain amount of reorganization in Local 689, Eugene. If you haven't paid dues, etc., the Labor Temple on Tuesday and Friday from 4 'til 6 p.m. is the place.

Widmer and Hallock have resolved theories into a plan calling for Sunday afternoon "jam" sessions at a prominent campus eatery laughingly referred to by students as the "Side." Have yet to approach said manager, et al. Those approving please write Hallock, care of Emerald, with ideas. Plan itself is excellent; Sunday afternoon being the strictly dead spot of the week. Plan to invite any and all musicians who like to play, and have same gathering from 3 or 4 in the afternoon 'til knocked-out. Please comment.

LOVELY apartment available for married couple in return for work. Family of four, husband and wife in professional work, need someone for cooking and housekeeping. Both husband and wife could share work and both would receive excellent meals and have a very pleasant place to live. In addition to a bedroom, they would have their own very large living room with knotty pine panelling, a large fireplace and a separate outside entrance. If interested please write giving qualifications and experience. Address "Help Wanted" c/o Emerald.

Sky Warnings Issued Today By Dad's Group

"Keep your eyes on the skies today!"

This post-assembly advice issued by Dads' Day Promotion Chairmen Barbara Borrevik and Barbara Wells, who insist their plans could include most anything.

Besides the fore-mentioned hint, the girls are in charge of other schemes to promote a large attendance of dads at the 1946 edition of Dads' Day. One of the main ideas is to have paper napkins printed with the write-home suggestion and to be used at a noon meal within the next few days.

Remember Pop

"Our committee is formed to make the students Dads' Day conscious," explained Barbara Borrevik, "and February 2 and 3 will tell how successful we have been."

Since only nine days remain until Dads' weekend activities begin, all are urged again to write immediately inviting their dads to come. Reservations in hotels and auto courts are going fast, the housing committee, headed by Edith Goldstein, reports. Although emergency housing will be available in a few cases, it can not take care of many.

Registration Saturday

Dads' registration on Saturday will begin at 10 a.m. at Johnson hall, and events will take place until Sunday afternoon, concluding at the University Vespers, at 4:30 p.m.

The luncheon at the Eugene hotel cannot accommodate all dads and their sons and daughters who will be here, so Dorothy Habel, Dads' Day chairman, urges that all who will wish to attend buy their luncheon tickets early. They are on sale at Dean Onthank's office in Johnson hall, priced at $1 each.

If mothers are also coming for the weekend, tickets may also be

Staff Meet Set By Business Head

There will be a meeting for all members of the business staff and any new students who wish to work, tonight at 7:30 in 105 journalism. All students who have worked on the soliciting, layout, and office staffs are asked to be there to sign up for hours for winter term.

Bill Setser, advertising manager, Beryl Howard, office manager, and Virginia Avery, layout manager, will be there to explain the duties of their individual staffs.

Day managers will be present to help fill out cards to be passed out to each student for selecting the type of work he prefers.

The meeting will be short in order to keep from interfering with study time.

purchased for them. Because of the crowded conditions, however, the committee has found it necessary to request that mothers not be invited. Mothers' weekend comes Junior Weekend, spring term.

Tryouts Still Open For Guild Production

All who were unable to attend tryouts Tuesday evening but are still interested in the new Theater Guild play are asked to contact Horace Robinson, either at his office in the drama studio or in McArthur court. Under his direction, this play (the title is undisclosed as yet) is scheduled for production sometime in March.
