

College Offers 21 Fellowships

Announcement of graduate fellowships and scholarships offered by Bryn Mawr college, Pennsylvania, has been received by the Dean of Women's office.

Candidates for fellowships must have completed a year of graduate work at some college or university of good standing, and candidates for all scholarships must be graduates of a college or university of acknowledged standing, but need not have done graduate work.

March Deadline

Applications for the 21 resident fellowships of $860 each should be made by March 1, 1946. These fellowships are awarded in archaeology, biology, chemistry, economics and politics, English, geology, German, Teutonic philology, Greek, history, history of art, Latin, mathematics, philosophy, physics, psychology, Romance languages, social economy and social research.

March 1, 1946, is the final date for applications for the 20 resident graduate scholarships of $400 each. In rare cases applicants for these scholarships, which are awarded in any subject in which a fellowship is offered, may be given a supplementary grant because of financial need.

Six More

Six non-resident graduate scholarships, of $250, open to applicants who live in the vicinity of the college, will be awarded in any subject in which a fellowship is offered. Application should be made by March 1, 1946.

As a special award for 1946-47, five graduate scholarships of $400 each are offered to women, either resident or non-resident, who have been released from government service or war industries. Application for these awards should be made by March 1, 1946.

March Fields

Three $1000 fellowships and three $600 graduate scholarships, for either residents or non-residents, are offered under the plan for coordination in the teaching of the sciences to qualified students who have had training in two or more of the natural sciences and who wish to continue study in one of the following fields: biochemistry, biophysics, crystallography, geochemistry, geophysics, or similar inter-related fields. Application should be made by March 15, 1946.

Further information may be obtained from the Office of the Dean of the Graduate school, Bryn Mawr college, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.

SNOWBALL DUE

Get Noise-Makers

Over 1000 noise-makers have been distributed among all living organizations, according to Mickey Davies, rally squad yell king. Urging all students to turn out for the rally, he said, "It's time we showed our fighting team that we're behind them, and this rally is a great way to do it."

Nancy Bedingfield, sophomore in journalism, who is in charge of the rally, requests that any house which has not yet secured its quota of noise-makers, contact either Jimmie George or Patty Beaton.

DADS' DAY LUNCH

(Continued from page one) Anyone knowing of available living quarters for Saturday night or possibilities for contacting them are requested to contact Edith Goldstein, housing chairman, at Hendricks hall. The housing situation is expected to be a bad one for that night, and students are urged by Miss Goldstein to make sure of reservations before the dads arrive.

Basketball game tickets are practically sold out, and students who haven't purchased them for dads yet should go to the educational activities office immediately. No reserved seat tickets are left. Half-time entertainment for the

Estimates Not Official

The Emerald wishes to explain that the estimates of the number of Greeks and Independents who voted in the freshman elections was made by the Emerald and represented no official announcement. The estimates were based on a check of the number of freshmen in the various houses and can be considered only as guesses. There is no way to make an accurate check of the affiliations of those who voted.

Speech Tours Set For February 4-15

The University symposium team on "Pan-American Relations" will speak before high school audiences of the vicinity February 4 to 15, according to Robert D. Clark, assistant professor of speech and dramatic arts.

February 4 at 2 p.m. a team composed of Geneva Davis, Nancy Peterson, and Samuel Benveniste are scheduled to make their first appearance, speaking before the Loraine high school student body.

Ann Brady, Robert Van Vactor, and Floyd Hinton will present the discussion at Crow high school February 8 at 2 pm.

Coberg high school will hear Shirley Hough, Van Vactor, and Hinton the following Friday, February 15, at 2:30 p.m.

A larger panel consisting of Karen Martin, Robert Reeves, Kenneth Neal, Barbara Wells Hinton, Miss Hough and Miss Brady will present the subject at Westminster house February 10 at 6:30 p.m.

game remains a secret, but the Dads' Day committee promises something special for dads and sons and daughters. This entertainment will be in addition to the presentation of cups to the women's living organizations with the most dads here.

ASSEMBLY WILL

The most debated topic in the rewriting of the constitution, the duties of the University Congress, will be discussed by Robert Campbell, committee member.

"This assembly is the first opportunity students and faculty members both have had to get together and hash out this problem," Allen stated in urging all students to attend. "Our student government, in that it prepares future leaders in local, state, and national politics, and helps students become better voting and acting citizens of their communities, should be of primary concern to every man and woman on this campus," he added.

"Students have often been accused of an apathetic attitude towards their government; it has been said we are too irresponsible to handle our own affairs. This sort of assembly is a proving ground. If attendance and participation indicates active student interest in campus affairs, the accusations will be disproved, Craig said.

'Co-op' Iron Lung Rushed to Hospital

The iron lung which was being demonstrated at the Co-op last week-end in connection with the March of Dimes drive, got an unexpected chance to do some real service Saturday when it was rushed to the Sacred Heart hospital by Dr. L. S. Kent to provide for a serious emergency.

Dr. Kent told an Emerald reporter that one of her patients, a young woman, had become paralyzed and breathing was growing very difficult for her, making it necessary to procure quickly some means of respiration. Accordingly, the iron lung was tracked down and hustled off to the Sacred Heart.

"It was very fortunate that there was an iron lung in this vicinity," Dr. Kent said, adding that by morning the patient had passed the danger point and was able to breathe much more easily.

The invention that has saved the lives of many persons afflicted with infantile paralysis was demonstrated Friday and Saturday by Miss Margaret Itchner, nurse.

VETERAN'S REACTION

(Continued from page one) in journalism. "It is the story of an army air force combat man's reaction in bitterness to public attitude after returning to the United States," Hallock said.

Explains Function

"The play also explains the function of the army air force personnel distribution command," he added.

The cast consists of Fred Beckwith, Jim Davidson, Earling Erlandson, Bob Weston, Pat Kimnick, and Paul Marcott. Sue Welch will head the sound and music effects.

Songs from Opera

RoseZena Latta, sophomore in music, will sing 15 minutes of selections from opera from 4:30 to 4:45. Mary Margaret Lucas, sophomore in music, is producer of the presentation.

Lynn Renick, freshman in liberal arts, will sing numbers following the theme "Something Old, Something New, Something Borrowed, Something Blue." She will be accompanied by Sally Watson, freshman in liberal arts. Bob Kirkpatrick will produce this portion of the show.
