

Audrey Holliday, UO Alumna Comments on Campus Politics

The University of Washington is proud of one of their recent additions to the faculty, Audrey Holliday, graduate of Oregon last June, a story in the Washington Daily indicates. The reporter describes Miss Holliday as a woman "who has more accomplishments behind her than a state senator."

Miss Holliday, University of Oregon student body president last year, is an instructor in psychology at Washington. The 22-year-old Portland-born Sigma Kappa is a Phi Beta Kappa, member of Mortar Board, and held executive positions in several campus honoraries during her four years here.

She is chiefly remembered on this campus for her interest and participation in politics, and in the interview given to the Washington Daily she looks back on her activities and the situation on this campus with the following statement.

"In a small university where most students live on the campus there is much more friction between the Greek and Independent factions. Washington seems almost free of this and it is a great asset to the student government.

"Many students who attend college complain that the student government is a farce and does nothing for them.

"No student gets anything out of college life unless he puts something into it. There is a certain amount of extra-curricular work to be done and it's up to the average student to quit complaining, take his part and see it through."

The psychology graduate is now working on her master's degree in psychology and when finished she will start work on a Ph.D. Her average day now includes grading psychology tests and papers, doing research work on her master's attending a few advance psych courses and working nights for the "Labor Night School" at Broadway high school, teaching psychology.

Dr. Leona Tyler Speaks At Benson High School

Dr. Leona Tyler, head of the testing bureau, spoke at a Guidance Workshop in Benson Polytechnic high school in Portland on Friday, February 1 on the subject "Personality and Adjustment Problems in High School Counseling." This was a meeting of teachers concerned with the guidance of high school students.

Notice to seamen: When you don't know what to do, govern yourself by these three rules. 1. If it moves, salute it. 2. If it doesn't move, pick it up. 3. If it's too large to move, paint it.

Infirmary Visiting Ban Discontinued

Heralding the lowest number in the infirmary since the semester started, Dr. Fred Miller has announced that visiting hours will be continued from 2 to 4 in the afternoon starting today, February 5 Flu and other infectious diseases seem to be subsiding, and as there are only eight registered in the pill palace the ban has been lifted, Dr. Miller stated. Evening hours will remain closed until further notice, he added.

Eight overjoyed victims of pill palace blues are Lois McConkey, Gen Norton, Donna Scott, Reva Nickson, Marian Lee Villiers, Jack Lucas, Richard Bryon, and Arnold Porter.

Don't forget—conceit is a form of I-strain.

Perry J. Powers Named Instructor

Perry J. Powers, a UO alum, has been appointed to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Miss Anna Thompson, former instructor of Romance languages. His appointment was approved by the state board of higher education in the spring of 1945 and an extension granted through winter term. Graduated from the University in 1941, Powers has since done graduate work at the Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore, Maryland, where he studied with H. C. Lancaster, Leo Spitzer, and Pedro Salinas.

Powers is now working on the dissertation for his Ph.D. degree. He instructs all classes in Italian, a course in translation of Dante, and one section of first-year Spanish. Most interested in Spanish literature, Powers intends to carry on his research in this field.
