

Famous Baritone To Sing in Igloo Thursday at 8

John Charles Thomas Slated On Music Series

John Charles Thomas, world famous baritone, will appear in McArthur court Thursday night at 8:15 when the Eugene Civic Music association presents its second on the winter term series of musical artists. Mr. Thomas will sing a variety of numbers ranging from homespun favorites to grand opera arias.

John Charles Thomas, one of the concert world's most successful artists, recently urged young students not to be discouraged by lack of money. He said, "Young singers complain that they haven't sufficient financial backing to get where they want. I never had much money but that didn't spoil any of my plans. Today young people are often inclined to sit back waiting for what they call 'breaks.' They grumble because there are not opportunities. No opportunities? Why there are hundreds of them. The trouble is too few people have the initiative to go out and make opportunities of their own."

Camp Executives Set All-Day Meet

The Oregon section of the American Camping association will hold an all-day conference Thursday in an effort to interview students for summer work on camp staffs. Heads of fifteen Oregon girls' and boys' summer camps will be on the campus for the conference.

Camping Opportunities

Mr. G. H. Oberteuffer, Portland Boy Scout executive, will speak on "Opportunities for Students in the Camping Field" at a general assembly in Alumni hall at 4 p.m. Following the assembly a tea will be served by the sponsors, the AWS.

In a statement Tuesday regarding the conference, Mrs. Golda P. Wickham said, "This is a splendid opportunity for summer employment because the students learn as they work. I hope every student interested will make an effort to attend some of the meetings to be held throughout the day."

"Extraordinary Opportunity"

Dean Karl W. Onthank expressed enthusiasm in his comment, "I think this an extraordinary opportunity for those who are interested in camp counseling or work with the youth serving agencies to find out about it and to gain experience while working in these summer positions. Even those who don't know about such work would be wise to look into it because the people who are coming for this meeting are outstanding in their field and can give authoritative information to all interested."

Personal interviews by various camp personnel for all men and women seeking these positions will be held in room 101 men's P. E. building from 10-12 a.m. and 2-5 p.m.

Several color films and scenery of the northwest will be shown during the day to interested clubs and classes.

Choral Union's Winter Concert Draws Crowd

Symphony Orchestra Featured On Program

By Mary Margaret Dundore
McArthur court was the scene of a concert given Tuesday evening by the University choral union and the University symphony orchestra under the direction of Donald W. Allton and John Stehn.

The program opened with the famous "Summertime" from "Porgy and Bess" in which the clear tone quality of the first soprano section was noticeable. John Alden Carpenter's "Cradle Song" was then sung. The most outstanding number of this first group, however, was the spirited "Let Us Cheer the Weary Traveler" by Dett. This was sung with vigor and excellent unity among the parts.

Frosh Glee Rolls In Igloo Saturday

The big questions in regard to the forthcoming Frosh Glee Saturday night from 9 to 12 p.m. at McArthur court are "Who is George?" and "Will he be found in time to make his appearance at the dance?"

For the last two days a mysterious person, attired in a sheet and hood, has made several appearances on the campus in search of his friend George. The entertainment committee of the Frosh Glee is especially anxious to find George in time for the dance, and is offering a $25 reward for the return of eGeorge, dead or alive.

Theme Changes

The theme of the dance is "Piccaninny France," not "Temptation" as previously announced. The theme was changed at the request of University authorities.

Short silks are in order for the dance, and the admission price is $1.20 a couple. Tickets will go on sale starting today at the Side and

Intruder Murdered By Unhappy Pi Phi

Today the halls of the Pi Phi house no longer ring with gaiety and merriment. A cloud has passed over the sun and the crimson word "murder" has been burned into the brain of every remorseful girl.

Returning from work on the Emerald night staff in the early hours of Tuesday morning, Jordis Benke found only her roommate awake in the house. However, unknown to the two, another inhabitant was stirring, a creature of the night, whose existence until now had been only tolerated.

Encouraged by the lateness of the hour, the creature ventured into the light of Jo Ann Bush's study lamp. Suddenly the inbred humanity of the pair vanished. Jordis snatched her zoology dissecting kit with murderous intent, and Jo Ann picked up a shoe and dealt the final blow.

Then the full impact of the deed was felt. Hysterically, Jo Ann ran through the house sobbing "Oh, no, I've killed him! I've killed him!" Life had ceased.

Later, in the cold, gray light of dawn, the crime was revealed to all. A sorrowful funeral procession deposited the victim in his final resting place late yesterday afternoon beneath the weeping willow tree. The Pi Phi's will not soon forget—and nightly pray that some place in the universal scheme there is a mouse heaven.

Emerald Staff On Air Tonight

Humor Show On KEX, KOAC to Reveal Work

"If you don't have a strong heart don't listen to the campus headline program Wednesday night. It will kill you," advises Leonard Turnbull, co-sports editor and member of the cast.

The headline this week is "Oregon Daily Emerald Makes Radio Debut." The program will be broadcast over stations KOAC and KEX at 9 p.m. It is a half hour variety show featuring the Emerald and its staff.

"We have had several rehearsals with the largest and most important last night. A great deal of credit is due Lee Petrask, Fred Beckwith, and John MacDonald who wrote the script," said Turnbull.

He also stated that the cast appreciated the help given them by Marvin Krenk, instructor in radio and speech.

Tri-Delts Win Norblad Award

Attendance of 35% High For Dads' Day Contest

Beating their closest rivals by a wide margin, Delta Delta Delta sorority won the Norblad trophy for the largest percentage of dads in attendance with 35 per cent of their dads registering during the last Dads' weekend. Not content with winning first place, also carried off the A. G. Laurgaard trophy for freshman dads with eleven out of a possible seventeen fathers attending the occasion.

Pi Phi's Second

Second place honors and the Paul T. Shaw trophy was a closely-contested race with Pi Beta Phi barely surpassing Gamma Phi Beta for the award. Between these two houses, the rivalry was so close that a single dad decided the issue, the Pi Phi's with a 27 per

Eugene Ice Revue To Bring Big Cast

Local figure skating clubs are sponsoring a Eugene Ice Review at the Ice Arena February 22, 23, and 24 and March 1, 2, and 3. All Oregon students will be admitted to the show for 60 cents.

Rehearsals have been going on daily for several weeks. Costumes, including some using black light, have been ordered from San Francisco. The cast of more than 40 local skaters includes Margie Lee, Cottage Grove, 16 year old professional skater, who will direct and star in the show.

There will be matinees both Saturdays at 2 p.m. The evening shows start at 8 p.m. Tickets may be procured at McArthur court.

The Eugene Shrine Club is sponsoring the show for the benefit of the Portland Shrine children's hospital. The revue will feature several solo and pair acts, as well as chorus numbers. An orchestra will provide the music.

Hallock to Play At Dorm Formal

The Inter-Dorm Council announces that its annual formal dance will take place Saturday, March 9, in the John Straub dining room. The dance is one of the final social events before closed period.

Dance chairmen Laura Olson and Lynn Renick state that the formal affair, theme of which has not been announced, "will be a long - remembered, pleasurable event to all who come." Committees working to attain this goal include: programs, Liz Brinton; chaperones, Liz Wright; decorations, Beth Dinneen; refreshments, Myrl Sykes and Virginia Brunell; clean-up, Cliff James.

Music will be by Ted Hallock and his band. Miss Sue Welch will be featured vocalist.

Evening attire will be formal and suits. Flowers are in order for the occasion. Admission to any dormitory resident or to anyone accompanied or escorted by a dormitory resident will be a 25 cent charge per couple on programs.

New University Library Books Supplement Current Love and Marriage Lecture Series

Purchased with funds provided through the E. C. Brown trust fund, approximately $800 worth of books have been ordered for the University library to supplement the current Love and Marriage series, Mrs. George Moorehead, field secretary of the trust fund announced yesterday.

In addition between $250 and $300 worth of pamphlets have been purchased for distribution among the living organizations.

The books, which are available under the name of R. C. Myers, instructor in sociology, on the Open Shelf Reserve at the library, may be taken out for three days at a time. Additional copies will be placed in the browsing room.

Leaders Meet

Mrs. Moorehead and Dr. Adolph Weinzirl, director of the Brown fund and professor of public health and preventive medicine at the University of Oregon Medical school, met with selected group discussion leaders for the lecture series yesterday afternoon.

Student opinion on the series and brief outlines of the schedule to be followed were presented by a committee composed of Gil Roberts, chairman, Dorothy Godknecht, and Anita Young. Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, conducted the meeting.

A schedule of the dates for group discussions to be conducted in the living organizations and the speakers assigned to each will be announced later this week. According to Anita Young a letter announcing the speaker will be mail-
