

Ex-Patient Gives Candy To Ailing Wardmates

Pill-rollers were happy to see the box of candy that appeared in Ward 3, with an attached card signed by Donna Scott, who was released from the pill palace a few days ago.

The three-pound box of Davenport chocolates was nearly half gone when this reporter arrived upon the scene, indicating, to all appearances, that the candy was appreciated.

Five new patients have registered since Tuesday, among them Dorothea Weybright, Mary Ingle, Anna Johnson, Marice William, and Don "Ariste" Moss, while the rest on the register include Norma Washburn, Carolyn Romtvedt, Cleone West, Jean Scott, Beverly Rew, Jerry Miller, and Robert Reed.

Dr. Hanke to Address Spanish Club Members

Dr. Lewis Hanke, counselor for the State department in the field of South American affairs, will address members of the Spanish club when they meet in Westminster house today at four.

Students will have the opportunity to question Dr. Hanke during the lecture on his travels in South America.

Spanish songs will be sung by the group and refreshments will be served after the program.

Nadine Robertson, president, urges students to attend for a "profitable and enjoyable hour."

TELETYPE WILL AID

(Continued from page one) will be used in all the journalism classes, as well as in the Emerald. The added cost of the machine to the Emerald's budget has been approved by the educational activities board.

Acting Dean George S. Turnbull commented, "I have been looking forward for years to having this particular piece of equipment in the Journalism school, and I think it will add life, vitality, timeliness, and interest to the students' work." He added that Alton F. Baker, editor-publisher of the Eugene Register Guard, and William M. Tugman, managing editor, have agreed to let the Emerald use the wire releases, although there is no intention of filling the Emerald's pages with telegraph news.

Sports Help

Emerald editor Louise Montag said, "The sports department will derive the greatest benefit from the teletype as it will be able to present timely coverage of Pacific Coast sports. We shall also print stories with a campus slant, and some national news."

As of Thursday the teletype will operate at the rate of 60 words per minute from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and from 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Marine, Naval Pilots Sign for Flight Time

Former U. S. naval and marine aviators who wish to continue flying under the naval reserve act are requested to sign at the dean of men's office in Johnson hall today or Friday. A list is being compiled, giving each pilot's name, rank, serial or file number, home address, and Eugene residence.

Russian Culture Club Plans Meeting Monday

A new Russian culture club is being organized on the campus by the students of the extension course entitled Recent Russia. This new group will hold their first meeting Friday, February 22, in Rooms 206 and 207, Friendly hall.

After the meeting there will be a recorded concert consisting of Russian folk songs and selections from Russian composers Prokofiev, Moussorgsky, and Shostakovich. The adviser for the club is B. C. Friedl, instructor of the course.

FAMOUS BARITONE

(Continued from page one) hit and miss affair because his father's duties required constant traveling, and he received his primary education in whatever towns they happened to stop.

Music Wins Out

When he was attending Conway hall in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, he became interested in medicine, so much so that he had difficulty deciding whether he would be a singer or a physician. At this crucial moment he was awarded a scholarship by the Peabody conservatory in Baltimore and music won out.

A sportsman, he is at his best when playing golf. He shoots around eighty. Golf gives him a moderate amount of exercise, sunshine, and a chance to fill his lungs with lots of good clean air before he sings.

Mr. Thomas is an aviation enthusiast. Before the war, he flew from concert to concert. During the war he was grounded; this caused him to return to a favorite form of traveling, motoring, and with Mrs. Thomas he covers every state in the union during a concert tour.

Born in Oregon in 1905, Dr. Hanke received his BS degree from Northwestern university in 1924. His first post was the University of Hawaii where he served as an instructor. From the Islands he returned to the mainland only long enough to make preparations for travel to Beirut, as associate professor at the American university.

Graduate at Harvard

Returning to the United States in 1930, he entered Harvard university for graduate study in Latin American history. During 1932-34 he did intensive research in Spanish archives; and returned to Harvard as a member of the faculty in the fall of 1934. In 1936, he was awarded his Ph.D degree in Latin American history.

Talking about the "old days" is, to him, really not as interesting as the "new ones" but still, "All the old times were brought back to me the other day at Harry Davenport's eightieth birthday party where I played the butler." Harry Davenport is one of the oldest living actors, who played the High Lama in "Lost Horizon" and many other character parts.

Sings in States

"I had one of the less romantic entertaining roles during the war," he declared. "Because of my radio show it was difficult for me to go overseas where I would have liked to sing and also see many old friends. So I stayed at home. But my tours here in the states gave me a lot of personal satisfaction."

On hearing that McArthur court is not a regular auditorium he smiled. "I've sung in gymnasiums many times. The first was at Stanford, I believe."

When reviewing selections he has been asked to sing this evening Mr. Thomas laughed. "What! Hasn't anyone asked for 'The Lord's Prayer'? Isn't this a Christian town?" And his ruddy face wrinkled in mirth.
