

Latin American Relations Topic Of Talks Today

5 Lectures, Discussions Scheduled for Authority

Director of the Hispanic foundation in the library of congress, Dr. Lewis Hanke, now on the campus under the sponsorship of the University lecture series, will give an account of the South American countries and their relationships with the United States, tonight at 7:30 in 12 Friendly hall.

Under the title, "Our Honeymoon with South America Is Over," he will define the social and cultural aspects of the Latin American countries and will give an authoritative view of the present controversial questions that have arisen between them and the United States.

Many Talks Slated

Today at 9 a.m., in 105 Journalism building, Dr. Hanke will address the senior editing class on Brazil, in relation to its recent developments and shall bring to light facts that few Americans know about this country.

He shall lecture to the history of foreign policy and foreign re-

(Please Turn to Page Eight)

Student Union Fund Gets $3750

A $3750 appropriation to help defray overhead expenses during the Student Union drive was voted Monday night by members of the athletic board, Chairman Earl M. Pallett, executive secretary of the University, reported Thursday.

This makes a total of $11,250 contributed by University faculty committees to cover the expenses of the drive, as the Alumni Holding company and the educational activities board have already voted $5000 and $2500, respectively, Pallett said.

Ed Allen, Jack Craig, and Gil Roberts were appointed as a budget committee during the Monday meeting to go over the budget prepared by Anse Cornell, manager, prior to its presentation at the next board meeting.

John Charles Thomas Concert Finds Baritone Tense, Effective

By Betty Bennett Cramer

Illustrating a voice that is more appropriate for songs of modern character rather than those of the classics, John Charles Thomas presented a varied program to a capacity crowd in McArthur Court Thursday evening. In his earlier numbers Mr. Thomas showed a lack of freedom which became less noticeable in the more popular selections. Always his diction was remarkably clear. His most outstanding number was "Lord Randal," a dramatic ballad set to music by Cyril Scott. Clear pianissimos, dramatic presentation, and perfect diction all contributed to the complete artistry of his interpretation.

Opening Tense

The opening number, "La Pro-

Dr. Lewis Hanke, director of the Hispanic foundation in the library of congress, who will lecture on the topic, "Our Honeymoon with South America is Over," tonight in Room 12, Friendly hall, under the auspices of the University Lecture series.

'Cover' Contest Closes Today

Today is the last day to enter the combined contest for Emerald Cover Girl and "Miss Photogenic," Annamae Winship, Emerald business manager, announced late last night.

"This year each house may have as many contestants as they wish by merely having their women have their pictures taken today," Miss Winship emphasized.

To Be Announced March 8

The woman selected to be the Emerald Cover Girl and the one chosen as "Miss Photogenic," will be announced in the spring issue of the Emerald which is scheduled for March 8. The cover girl will have a full-page picture on the front of the large issue.

Stating that the cover girl will not necessarily be chosen from the entrants in the "Miss Photogenic" contest, the Emerald business manager said, "in all probability the girl will be selected from the contest entries since in this way it will be possible to discover a coed whom we know has definite photographic qualities."

Entries in the contests should go down to the Bell Studio and pay their dollar and have their

(Please turn to page six)

Miss King Elected 'First Lady'; WAA, YW Officers Take Posts

'Love' Lectures Begin Feb. 26

New Books Supplement Current Lecture Series

February 26 will mark the beginning of the lectures to be given in conjunction with the "Love and Marriage" series. Faculty members, ministers and men and women well-versed on the subject will speak to living organizations on and off the campus. As planned now the lectures are scheduled to come to a close March 5.

A student committee composed of Gil Roberts, chairman, Anita Young and Dorothy Godknecht are in charge of the arrangements. They have been aided by Karl Onthank, dean of the school of business administration, and dean of personnel administration. Various books and pamphlets have been purchased by the library which pertain to the subject of "Love and Marriage." They are available to students now.

Scheduled to speak at various houses on February 26 are: Rev. E. S. Bartlam, St. Mary's Episcopal church, Phi Gamma Delta; Dr. H. W. Bernard, U of O, Yeomen; Mrs. Alice W. Carkin, instructor in education, Hendricks hall; R. D. Clark, assistant professor of Spanish and dramatic arts, Delta Delta Delta; Dr. L. S. Cressman, head of the anthropology department, Pi Beta Phi; Mrs. E. E. De Cou, Gerlinger girls.

D. D. Gage, assistant professor

(Please turn to page six)

ADS Initiates Walking Billboards

No, another depression has not struck the Oregon campus reducing members of its student body to advertising local business establishments on the streets. The several young men pacing the paths and by-ways adorned with brightly-colored placards plugging the Falcon, Eddie's Flowers, and a good share of all Eugene's "ye olde shoppes" have another motive tucked in the back of their cerebral space. Their task comes in the vise of performing all the initiation prerequisites of Alpha Delta Sigma, men's advertising honorary.

This idea, while definitely a brightening factor to the campus during the drab winter months, is proving rather bunglesome for the neophytes especially upon approaching doorways or entering crowded campus hangouts. (For some real fun this afternoon, why not watch one of these fellows attempting to board a city bus?) After all, these walking billboards do need more space than would usually be allotted to them.

Meanwhile, keep in mind that it's all in the spirit of fun (plus initiation) and the majority of the poster-packers aren't doing this sort of thing for a living—at least not at the present.

Margery Skordahl Heads "Y" Group; Virginia Scholl Receives WAA Gavel

Results of yesterday morning's triple election of AWS—YWCA—WAA officers were announced Thursday afternoon at the AWS tea in Gerlinger hall. Bea King, sophomore in liberal arts, heads the list of officers as the new president of AWS. Virginia Scholl, sophomore in liberal arts, and Margery Skordahl, junior in journalism, were elected heads of WAA and YWCA, respectively.

WAA 'Fun Night' Scheduled for 7

Swimming, volleyball, and badminton are on the docket for tonight when the Women's Athletic association holds their first fun night of the winter term in Gerlinger hall from 7 to 9:30.

General chairman is Grace Edwards, junior in journalism, and Pearl Peterson, sophomore in liberal arts, is in charge of the program. The swimming will be under the direction of Thelma Chaney, sophomore in liberal arts.

Virginia Scholl, new president of WAA, urges all members of the organization to attend and participate in the games and swimming as this will probably be the last fun night held because of the increased social program on the

(Please Turn to Page Eight)

Signe Eklund, last year's AWS president, announced her successor and the other officers: vice president, Dorothy Davis, sophomore in liberal arts; secretary, Barbara Johns, sophomore in journalism; treasurer, Mickey Metcalf, another journalism sophomore; reporter, Tudi Chernis, journalism freshman; and sergeant at arms, Prudy McCroskey, freshman in art.

The new WAA officials were named by present head: Gay Edwards as vice president, Betty Ingebritson, junior in liberal arts; secretary, Barbara Wells, sophomore in journalism; treasurer, Thelma Chaney, sophomore in liberal arts; custodian, Pearl Petersen, another sophomore in liberal arts; and sergeant at arms, Barbara Borrevik, sophomore in art.

YWCA results were made known by President Mary Corrigan as vice president, Martha Thosland, junior in liberal arts; treasurer, Beryl Howad, sophomore in liberal

(Please Turn to Page Eight)

George's friend, an anonymous individual garbed in sheet and cowl, who has been haunting campus gathering places the last week, is pictured here in the Side, being inspected by Pat Meyer, Marge Fisher, and Joan Campbell. It is predicted that this ghastly ghost will find George in time for him to take an active part in the entertainment at the Frosh Glee tomorrow night.

Frosh Glee Program Unaffected By Secret of Missing George

The Frosh Glee will proceed as scheduled Saturday night from 9 to 12 p.m. at McArthur court whether or not "George" is found in time to make his long-awaited appearance. A mysterious friend of "George," attired in a white sheet, is still making a campus-wide search for him, but at the last reports George hadn't been found.

A $25 reward is still being offered to the finder of George, dead or alive. Anyone finding George is

(Please Turn to Page Eight)