Ducks Engage W.S.C. Tonight; Vandals Monday

The varsity cagers under the wing of Howard Hobson conclude their 4-game series with Washington State tonight at Pullman, Washington. Prior to last night's contest, number three in the books, the two clubs were batting 50-50, each having one game this season. Tonight's contest is regarded as somewhat of a toss-up, neither club holding a definite advantage.

Hobson will rely again on the sharp-shooting eyes of Durable Dick Wilkins and Captain Bob Hamilton. The senior guard has been rapidly rounding into form, and he may hit his peak in tonight's melon fight. The Ducks will again be on the defense for the highly-touted Gale Bishop who scoured the local pinewoods with a 32-point spree on his first outing this season. Bishop was bottled up against Oregon State recently, and the Hobsonmen are hoping that he won't break in another high-scoring rush.

At the conclusion of tonight's contest, the Hobsonmen move to Idaho for a two-game series in midweek in Moscow. At this writing, Idaho is in the driver's seat for annexing the Northern division title, and in order to safeguard her rapidly dwindling chances for the precious bunting, Oregon will have to trounce the Vandals both nights. The varsity concludes its basketball schedule with the last game in the series with Oregon State, at Corvallis a week from tonight.

Cougars Nip Ducks 67-61; Gale Bishop Tips 30 Points

Behind the 30-point pitching of All-American Gale Bishop the Washington State Cougars knocked the University of Oregon Webfoots out of the championship bracket with a 67 to 61 victory over the defending Pacific coast champs at Pullman last night.

Behind the same lineup that has proved effective of late: Wilkins and Rasmussen, forwards; Hays, center; and Hamilton and Williamson, guards. Fairly certain to see action are Roy Seeborg, Reedy Berg and George Bray. Walt Kirsch, Frank Hoffine and Bob Kuhli are still other Duck reserves who will be bidding their time on the bench, waiting for the clarion call to action.

Beavers-Huskies

While the locals and the Cougars are scrapping, the Oregon State Beavers will be braving the Seattle front, which is manned by a dangerous University of Washington quintet. Oregon State will have to dump the Huskies twice or else suffer the loss of ground deep in the championship fight.

The teams matched basket for basket until Oregon cut the Cougar margin to 56 to 54 with five minutes to play. Then Washington State "froze" the ball. The Oregonians, who had been concentrating on Bishop, swarmed over for the ball and the Cougar star dashed loose for nine points in the last two minutes.

Ray Johnson, Cougar guard, who made good seven of his ten field goal attempts, opened the scoring for Washington State. The Cougars led 7-2 with three minutes played, but Oregon tied the count at 7-7 a minute later and moved ahead 9-7 on a field goal by center Ken Hays.

Johnson tied the score with five minutes gone, and the Cougars moved ahead to a 35-29 halftime lead.

Scribes Schedule Slaughter at Igloo

By Carl Cluff

Scheduled to take the floor at 10 a.m. this morning, the University of Oregon Emerald sports scribes will mesh basketball gears into high speed when they tangle with the Oregon State College Barometer's typewriter institution crew from the Corvallis institution in what is promised to be one of the outstanding athletic events of the current season.

Co-coaches Len Turnbull and Fred Beckwith announced that final preparations had been completed for the "gigantic" and a telegram from the Staters yesterday revealed that the Staters were all set to pitch baskets with the fast-moving, high-scoring Emerald gang.

Reiman Proselyted

The Barometer squad has been labeled an unknown quantity since little information is available concerning their previous record. It is known however, that the Orange neophytes have secured the services of former all-state prep star Bob Reiman for the contest. Lanky Russ Sackett, 6 foot, 3-inch Barometer scribe editor, and Bob Knoll, former Corvallis high cabasa ace, are expected to pace the Beaver boys.

Still gloating about their upset victory over the strong Law school quintet last Saturday, the "Shackrats" have been ruled slight favorites in today's game. Cohorts Turnbull and Beckwith have been running their charges through stiff workouts all week and predict that ace columnists Kenny Hume and Chuck Taylor will do everything but toss type and galley proofs through the hoop.

With such capable reserves on the bench as Duke Dennison and Bill McLennan to relieve the first edition, Bull and Beckwith will be able to substitute freely. The loss of Larry Lau, Emerald "hoss racin'" and turf expert, will handicap the typesetters considerably, but additional support has been rounded up from the "shack" and Turnbull stated that the team will be set to stomp all over the Beaver's tail.

Officials for the game have not been chosen yet, the Emerald managers announced. Pending the arrival of the Barometer team on the local scene the arbitrator will be picked by mutual consent of the two team managers. Any potential official under consideration must produce his draft card, honorable discharge and certificate of eligibility and cannot be enrolled in the Agriculture college, according to the rules laid down by the Emerald editorial board.

Manager Beckwith remarked that the game will be open to the public and all students are urged to attend the games and support the undefeated scribes in their second contest of the season. "If the kids hit 'em like they did last week along with the Law school," chortled Beckwith, "we got this one in the bag."

Jim Jeffries Progressing From Stroke

Burbank, Cal., Feb. 22—(UP)—James J. Jeffries, 70-year-old ex-heavyweight boxing champion under treatment for a stroke, was progressing satisfactorily tonight, Dr. William Nethery said.

The rugged old champion, who knocked out such challengers as Jim Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons before he retired undefeated, was found in his room unconscious Monday night by Joe Eagan, a long-time friend.

When taken to the hospital, he was unable to speak or move his left side.

"If everything goes well, he should be able to leave the hospital soon and be back on his feet in a few weeks," Dr. Nethery said.

Intramural Playoffs Set For Coed Championships

By Mary Anne Hansen

Rapidly reaching the end of its season in the women's intramurals is the basketball tourney. Games have been played off at all times of the day in hopes of finishing this tournament in time for the finals and all star game playoffs to be played.

The Tri-Delts and girls from Susan Campbell seem to be fighting it out for top honors among the league leaders. The Tri-Delts have won three games and lost one while the Susy girls have four wins to their credit. The other two league leaders are Sigma Kappa and Independents.

Jean Morrison sparked the Theta's team to their close 22-20 win over University house Wednesday much against the determined efforts of Harriot Minot who chalked up the majority of the latters points.

Thursday morning found two more determined basketball teams engaged in a hoopster battle in the outdoor gym. However the Independents guided by Ruth Erlich and Coralee Thompson upset the Alpha Gams 13-5.

Other results showed that Rebec won over Delta Zeta 17-8 and Sigma Kappa topped Zeta Tau Alpha 39-17.

Badminton enthusiasts have been however few results have actually been handed in. Following is a summary of those received: Barbara Borrevick won over Jerry defeated 11-0, 11-6; Bernice Reese defeated Nancy Stolz 11-1, 11-0; and Mary Anne Hansen over Betty Lou Dundas 11-6, 11-0.

Emily Autenrieth, head of badminton this year, is in hopes that all the games will be played off by this Saturday so that the playoffs—elimination and consolation tourney can start next week.

In the swimming field, next week offers the remaining telegraphic meet Wednesday in Gerlinger pool. Several more records will be up to be broken. All the rest remains on the thirteen coeds participating in this meet. Both swimming affairs are under the direction of Miss Margaret Brewster, instructor in swimming, and Beverly Bernet, head of this sport.

Much luck and success is wished to Virginia Scholl, new prexy of WAA who will be aided by Betty Ingridritson, vice-president. A word of thanks and appreciation is extended to Gay Edwards, retiring president, for the fine job she performed this last year.

Until the next time then . . . that's thirty.

HOODOO TRIP CANCELLED

The Sunday ski bus to Hoodoo bowl has been cancelled according to an announcement made yesterday by the University ski club. Inability to get a full compliment of students for the trip caused the cancellation, it was stated.
