

Oregon's Post-war Junior Weekend To Have 'State Fair' Carnival Theme

Holiday Delayed to Coincide With Mother's Day; Float Parade to Substitute for Old Canoe Fete

Jobs Available As Counselors In Girl Guides

Marge Dibble to Speak To Applicants At Side

Marge Dibble, 1943 graduate of the University, will meet girls interested in camp counselling upstairs in the Side from 2 to 5 p.m. today and from 10 to 11 a.m. and from 2 to 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Previous camping experience is not necessary, and Miss Dibble would like to speak to all girls who are interested in counselling even though their plans for the summer are not yet definite.

Acting executive secretary for the Campfire girls in Portland, Miss Dibble is taking applications for counsellors at Camp Namanu, a 480-acre Campfire girls' camp at Sandy, Oregon, 30 miles from Portland.

Girls may apply for any length of time during the nine week camping period from June 23 to August 24. Before the camping season opens, counsellors will be given a training course at Namanu to give them necessary instructions and experience.

A member of Kappa Alpha Theta, Miss Dibble was president of the associated women students during her senior year. Other offices she held while a student at the University include vice-president of her sophomore class and president of Kwama, sophomore women's honorary.

As a junior she was a member of Phi Theta Upsilon and was awarded the Gerlinger cup as outstanding junior woman during Junior weekend of 1942.

After being graduated from this University, Miss Dibble attended Mills college, where she received Campfire executive training. Then she joined the Portland campfire organization as assistant executive chairman.

KOAC to Present Student Program

The University Workshop will present "Tomorrow" by Bud Schulberg and Jerome Lawrence from 4 to 4:30 p.m. over station KOAC today. The program will be produced by Don Kyle.

The theme of the play revolves around the ideals of freedom and liberty. It is based on statements of Thomas Mann, and concerns itself with what the returning veteran expects.

The cast consists of Fred Beckwith, John MacDonald, Roberta Quigley, and Virginia Woods.

This is being followed by the usual two 15-minute musical programs, one classical and one popular by student talent.

The carnival atmosphere of "State Fair" will color the first post-war Oregon Junior Weekend, co-chairmen Marilyn Sage and Tom Kay announced Wednesday. A return to the traditional spring term peace-time note will highlight the gala affair, they said.

Date for the "State Fair" jamboree has been shifted from May 3, 4, and 5 to May 10, 11, and 12, the co-chairmen stated. Mother's Day has also been shifted to the later dates.

Reason for the shift was to enable the Mom's Day celebration to coincide with National Mother's Day as requested by the national organization. The change will also facilitate a better choice of bands for the Junior Prom and give the various committees more time to prepare for "State Fair" at the U.

All Junior Weekend committee chairmen will meet today at 4 p.m. at the Junior Weekend office in McArthur court. Financial estimates should be ready to present at that time.

Substituting for the dim but dearly-remembered canoe fete will be a float parade down Willamette street following the "State Fair" motif. The floats will be designed by the various campus living organizations which are asked to begin now on their floats.

The all-campus sing, vocal feature participated in by all houses, should also be prepared for by the organizations, the co-chairmen said.

Committee heads for Junior Weekend were appointed recently by the co-chairmen. The committee heads are laying the groundwork now, the co-chairmen said, for the gala peace-time affair.

Those who will head the various committees are: promotion, By Mayo; junior prom, Dorothy Davis; all-campus sing, Dave Fortmiller; queen coronation, Virginia Harris; picnic, Dorothy Rasmussen.

Sunlight serenade, Pat Metcalf; float parade, Dick Savinar; finance, Joyce Utz; traditions, Roy Seeborg; clean-up, Anne Scripser; terrace dance, Lola May Hoegene; publicity, Herb Penny.

Those wishing to work on any of the committees may contact the committee heads.

Shackrats Meet

Veteran staff members will lead a meeting of all students interested in working on the spring term Emerald tonight at 7 in 105 Journalism.

Herb Penny, Bernie Engel, and other upper staff members will explain the departments of the paper and the requirements for each. New workers can sign up for their activities after the meeting.

Business Meeting Set

An Emerald business meeting will be held today at 4 o'clock in the business office of the Emerald. Solicitors, layout, and office staff workers who have had previous experience on the paper are urged to report.

DR. HARRY K. NEWBURN

President to Discuss Educated Man's Duty

First ASUO Assembly to Introduce Dr. Harry Newburn to New Students

"Responsibilities of the Educated Man" will be the title of an address to be given by Dr. Harry K. Newburn at the assembly this morning at 11 o'clock in McArthur court.

In his first message of the year to be broadcast over station KOAC, the University president plans to list some of the characteristics which identify an educated man as compared to an uneducated man. He intends to illustrate the resulting behavior of each as he contrasts them, and enlarge upon certain phases.

According to Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, Dr. Newburn aims to make an annual address to students. This will be his first assembly talk this year, although since his arrival in Oregon in the summer of 1945 he has been in great demand as a speaker throughout the state.

Wide Experience

Dr. Newburn has had much experience in the field of education as teacher, administrator, superintendent, professor and dean and is therefore well-qualified to speak on the subject.

A native of Illinois, the president was educated at Western Illinois State Teacher's college where he participated in basketball and football. At the State University of Iowa in 1931 he earned a master of arts degree and a Ph.D. in 1933.

In later years he made numerous surveys for national educational organizations and during the war the federal government called upon him to perform various tasks of war education whenever he could be spared from his job as dean of the

Enrollment Totals Set Spring Record

All records for spring term enrollment at the University were shattered yesterday when 132 more students registered, bringing the total to 3418, Clifford L. Constance, assistant registrar revealed. The previous high mark was 3301, set in 1940.

This term's registration is a 109 per cent increase over the number enrolled at the same time last year.

Nearly as many have registered during the first three days of this term as were enrolled during the whole of winter term when 3423 entered.

Although Constance expects the total registration to surpass the 3500 mark, he does not believe that the all-time record of 3705, established in the fall term of 1940, will be broken.

Foundation Offers Prizes to Students

A $1000 award may be won by students working toward the master's or doctor's degree, according to the provisions of a contest started recently by the Palmer Foundation of Texarkana, Ark-Tex. A second prize of $500 is also offered.

The purpose of the contest is to encourage study of the objectives of the Foundation and to suggest the most practical plan to achieve these purposes. Theses which graduate students write may be submitted to the Foundation in competition for the prizes.

The Foundation was started by C. E. Palmer, Southwest Arkansas newspaper publisher, and has as its paramount objective the promotion among the people of an attitude of fairness and unselfishness in personal and public affairs.

UO Delegates Prepare For College Congress

The University's delegates to the Northwest Student Congress at Reed college in Portland this weekend are leaving the campus today to prepare for their participation in the discussion sessions Friday.

The theme of the Congress is "The Students' Stake in the Atomic Age" and delegates from most of the colleges and universities in the Pacific northwest will be present to present their views on the topics on the agenda.

Lois McConkey, senior in liberal arts, has been assigned to discuss the promotion of economic welfare and to present a resolution for possible adoption by the Congress on this subject.

Lloyd Freese, junior in business administration, will formulate a resolution on the establishment of effective means for peaceful settlement of international affairs.

The two University delegates were appointed this week by ASUO President Ed Allen upon the advice of faculty members.

The Congress is co-sponsored by Reed college and the Portland League of Women Voters.

Of additional interest is the college newspaper contest sponsored by the Oregon Journal in conjunction with the Congress. All colleges and universities sending delegates to the Congress have been invited to enter their newspapers in a contest which will determine which paper covered the Congress most adequately.

The winning college newspaper will be awarded a silver cup by the Oregon Journal; the editor and the outstanding writer will receive a plaque in recognition of the achievement.

Blanket Statement....

The courses this year are select, there's no doubt, But attendance will suffer some losses.

The brain trust in Johnson has calmly left out The Principles of the picnic process.

Wright, Litchman Head Sports Staff

New but experienced hands have been appointed to guide the sports office of the Emerald, Editor Louise Montag announced Wednesday. The two new co-sports editors are Art Litchman and Tommy Wright, both returned veterans who were former co-sports editors of the paper.

Present sports editors Len Turnbull and Fred Beckwith are engaging in other activities. Turnbull will concentrate on his academic work, and Beckwith will write the Emerald gossip column.

Both Wright and Litchman left the Emerald in 1942 to enter the army. Wright served overseas in the ETO with tank destroyer units in Italy and the continent.

Litchman has a year's experience as sports editor of the now defunct Eugene News. In the army he was sports publicity man for Camp Santa Anita, California.

Editor Petitions Due In McArthur Today

Candidates for the positions of Oregon editor and Emerald editor must turn in their petitions at the educational activities office in McArthur court by 5 p.m. today.

The educational activities board will interview applicants at 7 p.m., April 8.
