

Float Parade Partners Announced at Drawings

Results of the drawing held Wednesday to team campus living organizations for the "State Fair" Junior Weekend float parade were announced by Dick Savinar, float committee chairman. The drawing was held at a meeting of living organization float chairmen in Gerlinger hall.

For the most part men's and women's houses were teamed. Expenses will be split between the two houses, Savinar said. Assisting him on the float committee are Dagmar Shanks, Dick Sawyer, Jean Jacobberger, Bill Patterson, and Margaret Rauch.

A cup will be awarded to the two houses who have the best float in the parade, the chairman announced. One cup is available now and another will be purchased for the affair.

Living organization representatives should turn their ideas for their floats over to Savinar at the Junior Weekend office in McArthur court as soon as possible. The ideas should follow the "State Fair" motif. In cases of identical ideas the first turned in will be the first accepted, he stated.

"Use ingenuity and urge everyone to participate," Savinar told the living organization representatives. "The increased campus population should lead to a big turnout for the parade. Make your floats as attractive as possible as the parade is one of the main features of the Junior Weekend program."

A list of the teamed organizations follows:

Music Professor Returns from Meet

Miss Maude Garnett, associate professor of the public school of music, has just returned to the campus after attending the National Music Educators Conference held March 18 to April 3 in Cleveland.

The theme of the first post-war conference was "International Cultural Relations." Over 8000 educators attended from nearly every state. The Hawaiian Islands and several Latin American countries were also represented. Miss Garnett reports that the northwest sent 24 music educators.

The Cleveland Symphony orchestra provided one of the highlights of the meet, presenting two concerts, one of which was an afternoon Pop concert. Several contemporary musicians, including Roy Harris and Henry Cowles, also entertained the delegates.

Infirmary Announces Physical Deadline

Physicals must be completed as soon as possible, Dr. Fred Miller urged today. Appointments can be made any time, and physicals will be given as much to the convenience of the student as possible, he added. This applies to all students who are new to the University no matter what their class standing. This includes all veterans.

Without the completion of the physical, University grades will not be given, and the student will not receive credit for this term's work. This includes the completion of TB and smallpox shots, which must be checked and rechecked, at the time stated by the nurse on duty.

Kehrli Appointed To Executive Post

Herman Kehrli, director of the bureau of municipal research, was named a member of the national executive council of the American Society for Public Administration at their national meeting March 26 in Philadelphia. His term of office will run until December 31, 1948.

Kehrli established the Oregon chapter of the bureau of municipal research and service in 1944 and is now serving as president. Kehrli, who did not attend the meeting, was notified of his unanimous election by Mrs. Arthur W. Jackson, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

There are 14 members of the board to which Kehrli was elected.

ENROLLMENT HITS

"The fact that an all-time high enrollment on the Eugene campus of the University has come during a spring term is especially significant. This year, contrary to the usual experience, our numbers have continued to increase term by term. We had expected 3500 this present term and the difference is accounted for by the greater availability of housing accommodations in the community. We are planning for 4600 students next fall and if further off-campus housing facilities continue to become available, we may find it possible to care for as many as 5,000. We appreciate the efforts of local, state, and national officials who are making this service to the youth of Oregon possible."

University officials said Wednesday that standards for out-of-state students applying for matriculation had been raised in view of the increasing number of applications from Oregonians being received. It is expected that only students who graduated in the top fourth of their high school class will be admitted.

Jobs for Seniors Available Soon

Graduating seniors, interested in jobs in June, have been advised by Karl Onthank, dean of personnel administration, to file their credentials immediately with Mrs. Jeanette Hahner, of the University employment office.

He stated that opportunities for many good positions have been turned in by private concerns and state agencies. In the next few weeks some of these firms are sending their managers to Eugene to interview prospective employees.

Dean Onthank suggests that these students obtain their written recommendations from teachers so that they can obtain employers as soon as possible.
