

Summer Work To Plug Gaps

Schedule Arranged To Keep Continuity

Because of the large number of students enrolled in the University winter and spring terms, efforts are being made to coordinate summer session work, particularly lower division courses, with those of the regular year, Dr. Dan Clark, director of summer sessions, said Thursday.

"This will make it possible for new students, particularly veterans, to continue their study during the summer and begin fall term with a complete year of work behind them," Dr. Clark said.

Two Sessions Offered

The first summer session will begin June 18 and continue until July 23. The second session will begin July 24 and continue until August 29.

Courses will be offered in anthropology, architecture and allied arts, biology, business administration, chemistry, economics, education, English, geography, geology, history, journalism, law, library methods, mathematics, music, philosophy, physical education, physics, political science, psychology, Romance languages, sociology, and speech.

Nine Hour Maximum

Three-hour courses are offered five days a week for five weeks during the summer session and a maximum of nine hours can be taken.

Geological Society Plans Coast Meet

W. D. Smith, head of the geology department, and L. W. Staples, assistant professor of geology, will attend the cordelleran section of the Geological Society of America when it meets at Bacon hall, University of California at Berkeley on April 19 and 20.

This is the first meeting of the professional and scientific society of geologists since the war.

During the meeting, Dr. Staples will present a paper, "The Origin of Spherical Clusters of Analcime from Oregon." This paper is the result of recent research of the zeolite family of minerals made by Dr. Staples.

Plans Underway For YW Luncheon

Anne Scriptor, junior in liberal arts, was appointed general chairman of the annual junior-senior luncheon sponsored by the YWCA to be held May 4 at the Eugene hotel.

Miss Scriptor requests that anyone who would like a position on one of the committees contact her.

The junior-senior luncheon originated while Prince L. Campbell was president of the University. His wife, Susan Campbell, assisted by the YWCA advisors, entertained seniors at a breakfast each year. Since then, the custom has been taken over by the YWCA itself.

Last year the change to a luncheon was made.

ASUO TO KEEP

(Continued from page two) reports of all classes and honoraries under the jurisdiction of the ASUO. Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's honorary, was the only one held in question. Upon the recommendation of the council, Ed Allen will meet with Skull and Dagger members to outline a plan for next year's activities. The council felt that the honorary had not accomplished the proper amount of work in campus affairs this year.

Druids Reorganized

The reorganization of Druids, junior men's honorary, was announced. The Druids have been inactive since 1943.

Winners of the two freshmen scholarships given by the ASUO were announced. Warren Webster won the freshman men's scholarship of $75 with a 3.82 GPA. The freshman woman's scholarship was awarded to Charlene Thurston who maintained a 3.89 GPA.

Investigation Head Appointed

Les Anderson, former ASUO president now back on the campus, was appointed by the council to investigate the Service Scholarship fund. A balance of $1700 remains idle, since the GI Bill of Rights has cut down the demand for such scholarships. Anderson will report back to the council on the advisability of transferring the funds to the War Memorial fund.

The senate military affairs committee approved legislation to extend the draft for one year, grant increases to service personnel and limit the number of men who could be inducted. The bill also provides that draftees will serve only 18 months.

Russia's demand that the Iranian question be dropped, Iran's request that it be retained, and Poland's demand that the Franco regime in Spain be arraigned as a menace to peace, were put on the program of the United Nations security council for discussion next week.

Tens of thousands of Chinese communist troops attacked cities along 650 miles of rail lines from North China to central Manchuria.

Japan's first democratic election gave unexpected support to communists and women candidates, early returns showed today.

The first anniversary of the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt will be observed Friday, with many of the nation's great, including President Truman, meeting at the late president's Hyde Park home to dedicate it as a national historic site.

Student Union will be considered at the next council meeting.

Members present at the meeting were: Ed Allen, Phil Dana, Gil Roberts, Janet Douglas, Dorothy Godknecht, Signe Ecklund, Phyllis Evans, Bob Davis, and Anita Young.

Traditions Cause Trouble

One of the traditions in the Mexican elections which he described is to allow the first party to show up at the polls to take the ballot boxes home with them.

"Since the ballots are not counted for six weeks, a great transformation can take place in the votes during that time," he commented.

Dr. Wilgus was introduced by Victor P. Morris, dean of the school of business administration.

Geneva Davis, chairman of the Red Cross drive, presented the Red Cross cup to the Kappa Kappa Gamma house as the house with the highest average contribution.

ATOMIC AGE

Other contributing factors in the choice of delegates to the UNO will be the percentage of total student voters in each school participating in the polling designed to ascertain student reactions to the Congress, the popular selections of one candidate from each school chosen by the student body, and the time involved in filing the report. The school which first obtains the greatest percentage of student opinion will stand the best chance of winning the contest.

Ex-Army Nurses Join Hospital Staff

Of interest to pill-palace readers might be the two new members of the infirmary's staff, Miss Ione Wasem and Miss Majella Swarbrick, who have recently returned from overseas. Both first lieutenants, they were connected with the 226th General Hospital, and were stationed in France and England.

Taking their basic training together, they joined the 226th in October, 1944, went overseas shortly afterward, and were both discharged in February, 1946. Miss Wasem was formerly connected with the infirmary, and Miss Swarbrick worked in a Texas hospital before joining the service. Now both are continuing their work in the University's rest camp.

Students who have had the chance to meet the nurses are Rosemary Loder, Marguerite Goecks, Elsie Bennetts, Evelyn Baker, Edward Harris, Norval Dickson, Richard McClintic, Lloyd Collins, George Huggins, Fred Johanssen, Alan B. Reed, and Bradford Hagie, patients in the infirmary.
