MARGUERITE WITWER
Newly-appointed editor of the Emerald for the 1946-47 year.

New Editor Pledges Intra-Staff Cooperation, Says Paper to Have Straightforward Policy

Marguerite Wittwer, junior in journalism, was named editor of the Emerald for 1946-47 by the educational activities board yesterday. The appointment is subject to the approval of the ASUO executive council.

Miss Wittwer is the managing editor of the Emerald this year and has served as news editor, women's page editor, and exchange editor. She is a member of Phi Theta Upsilon, Theta Sigma Phi, Pot and Quill, and Sigma Kappa.

As editor of next year's Emerald, Miss Wittwer said she will "emphasize the necessity of closer inter-staff cooperation," and practice the policy of "being personally acquainted with each member of the staff."

Her editorial policy, she continued, will be "to evaluate the situation, determine what course of action seems best for the school as a whole in the long run, and then to state frankly the standpoint of the Emerald."

Miss Wittwer will announce the names of the members of the upper news staff for next year at the annual Emerald banquet May 31.

Two other applicants, Herb Penny and Marilyn Sage, also were interviewed by the board.

Campus Starts Saving Foods

Houses Asked to Aid Famine Relief Drive

In accordance with President Truman's call for cooperation on the nation-wide food conservation program, the University of Oregon's food-for-famine campaign starts today.

Organizing the University campaign is Druids, junior men's honorary, which is appealing to all students and living organizations to aid in the "world food crisis that is literally a matter of life or death to millions of people in war-torn Europe and Asia." Charles Howard, professor of law, who has recently returned from the famine area in Europe, is aiding Druids in this campaign.

Main Point

According to Bass Dyer, president of Druids, one point that Mr. Truman's emergency committee has agreed on can be inaugurated on the campus immediately, and the University conservation program will be centered around this plea:

Cut waste and eat less wheat products, fats and oils—substituting foods that are plentiful. Reduce the use of bread and other wheat foods by 40 per cent; fats and oils by 20 per cent.

Druids are organizing a campus-wide campaign now which will carry out this program, Dyer said. Attempts will be made through campus liv-

Grade Pupils To Broadcast

Primary Students Plan KOAC Program May 9

The University will play host May 9 to grade school students from all parts of Oregon who will travel here to participate in the final broadcast of the radio program "Let's Sing, America," it has been announced by Maude Garnett, associate professor of public-school music.

Now in its third year, the "Let's Sing, America" program is produced and sung each week over KOAC by junior class majors in public-school music.

Familiar Songs

Written especially for grade students in one- and two-room schools, the program specializes in familiar songs. According to Miss Garnett, director of "Let's Sing, America," much interest is shown in the programs, which give the children a chance to join in the singing as they gather around radios in their respective schools.

As in the past, all schools interested in the program have again been extended invitations to attend the final broadcast, which will

The second address, also in Chapman hall, will be at 7:30 tonight. Entitled "Good Neighbors and Strategic Materials," this address will tell of the struggle to find and make available to the allies certain strategic raw materials.

Operators' Strike Remains Unsettled

With "absolutely nothing" done towards settling the bus strike in Eugene, matters look gloomy for the University adventurer who will be taking his excursions by foot, according to George Brewer, commissioner of conciliation for the U. S. Conciliation Service. No future meeting was set at the first meeting on Friday in Portland.

Representatives of the Oregon Motor Stages and of the Motor Coach Employes Union Division 1055 could not come to any agreement at the parley, at a session attended by Mayor Earl McNutt and City Manager Dean Seeger of Eugene, and State Public Utilities Commissioner George H. Flagg.

While the city drivers seek a 30 per cent increase from the present rate of 95 cents an hour, the company is understood to have offered $1.12½ an hour. Until future conciliation is afforded, the tieup will remain the only dark cloud over Eugene.
