

Creative Show Introduces GI's

Odeon to Feature Vets' War Poetry

Veterans' verse will find its place for the first time in the Odeon program and magazine, at the fourth annual program April 28. Poetry by veterans will be presented in a separate section on the Odeon program, which will begin at 8 p.m. in the music school auditorium.

This group of veteran verse will include "G.I. Return" by Robert I. Doyle, "Appeal" by Francis Mathews, and "Pour un Soldat Mort," "War Sonnets, I and II," and "Andante," by Gene D. W. Edwards.

AAF Veteran
After 50 months in the air corps, Captain Francis Mathews was released September 1945. He entered Oregon at the beginning of fall term as a sophomore, majoring in psychology.

"I've been writing verse off and on ever since I was in grammar school," Mathews said. He wrote while in the service, and added that writing is his hobby.

Hopes to Write
Robert I. Doyle, freshman in journalism, did creative writing during the 44 months he spent in the service. He was in New Caledonia and Saipan as a T-4 in army ordnance. Doyle mentioned that the writing he did while in the service was more or less a hobby, but added, "I hope to make creative writing my profession." He was discharged from the service October 26, 1945.

Gene D. W. Edwards, a former technical sergeant in the paratroopers, spent 48 months in the service. During this time he was in the Aleutians, Italy, France, Belgium, Germany and Norway.

English Major
Edwards, a Eugene resident and former Oregon student, is a senior majoring in English. "I find writing very interesting,"

Movies to Show Problems of Land

An agricultural program has been scheduled by the Educational Activities board for the Wednesday movie series. It features the first March of Time to be offered this term, titled "Farming."

"The Plow That Broke the Plains," a dramatic exposition of the social and economic history of the Great Plains, depicts in chronological order the settlement of the prairies by cattlemen and farmers, the World War I boom to drouth depression, and an epilogue of the New Deal's effort to rehabilitate the Dust Bowl through conservation and resettlement.

The third feature to be offered is titled "The River," a panoramic story of the Mississippi basin. This film deals with the vast industrial and agricultural expansion which led to its exploitation and ruin, and of the efforts now being made to control its floods by reforestation and the TVA.

There will be two continuous showings of these films in 207 Chapman hall from 7:30 to 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night. Students, faculty members, and townspeople are invited to attend.

he said, "but don't intend to stake my all on it."

Gene's poetry was written on the Anzio beachhead in Italy. "In my case, writing was sort of a steam valve," he said.

The Odeon art exhibit and tea will be given from 6:30 to 8 p.m. and the program will begin at 8 in the music school auditorium. Odeon magazines will be distributed at the program.

Anthropology Club Chooses Officers

At an organizational meeting of anthropology majors, April 19, officers for the newly-formed anthropology club were elected.

They are: president, Robert Campbell; secretary, Mary Elizabeth Douglas; and treasurer, Charles Reetz. Charis Bradt and Allen Murphy are in charge of the club's program. Faculty advisor is A. F. Whiting, acting assistant professor of anthropology.

Program and meetings have not yet been decided upon, but tentative plans call for at least one meeting each month.

The club is open to all students now taking an anthropology course. Those wishing to join may contact any of the officers.

Coed Journalists To Hear Holbrook

Honoring women in journalism, both on the campus and throughout the state, Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism honorary, will hold its annual Matrix Table banquet Wednesday, May 1, at the Eugene hotel.

Invitations have been sent to outstanding seniors in literature and arts, in addition to women majoring in journalism. Professional journalists in Oregon will also be guests.

Stewart Holbrook, prominent Oregon author, will be guest speaker of the affair. A former feature writer for the Oregonian, Holbrook is the author of many well-known books. His talk will be on the subject of his next book, "Lost Men of American History," which also deals with lost women.

Yvonne Zeek, general chairman for Matrix Table, urges all Theta Sigma Phi alumnae to attend the banquet also.

REGISTRATION

The school of law is the department of the University having the greatest percentage of increase. The 265 recorded is 420 per cent more than last year's mark. Included in this total are 204 pre-professional, 32 first year, 18 second year, and 11 third year students.

Breakdown Given

The college of liberal arts has 1476 enrolled, as compared to 993 of a year ago. This includes 1162 lower division, 4 general arts and letters, 3 general science, 8 general social science, 5 anthropology, 31 biology, 19 chemistry, 1 classics, 9 economics, 66 English, 7 geography and geology, 1 Germanic languages, 33 history, 12 mathematics, 5 physics, 10 political science, 40 psychology, 15 Romance languages, and 45 sociology.

In the School of Journalism, exactly the same number of men and women are registered—142. This is a 101 per cent increase over the 141 total recorded a year ago.

More Figures
Other departments of the University are as follows: architecture and allied arts, 452; business administration, 829; education, 141; music, 158; physical education, 160; general studies, 3; and auditor, 18.

The sophomore class is now the largest, having 1485 registered. Other classes are freshman, 1172; junior, 195; and senior, 514. In addition, there are 180 special students and auditors and 240 graduate students.

GRADE PUPILS

More Expected
Last year approximately 800 students from 16 schools attended the final broadcast. A large increase is expected this year, stated Miss Garnett, because of the lifting of travel restrictions which hampered last year's meet.

Junior music majors who assist Miss Garnett in the weekly broadcasts are Mary Louise Stone, Louise Robson, Jean Paris, Mary Stapleton, Frances Schuchard, Estley Schick, Janet Whitfield, and Bird Hart.
