Grants-in-Aid Due Legion to Organize Fellowships

Two Grants-In-Aid of $750 each for graduate fellowships in personnel work will be awarded this year by the Western Personnel service under the Rosenberg foundation, Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, announced yesterday. According to present plans one will be awarded July 1 and one or more on October 1.

Among the benefits of the fellowship are $500 for living expenses and costs and tuition, fees, and materials. The award will cover approximately ten months' expens-

Senior students interested may see Dean Onthank for further information and instructions on application. Those who are interested in the July 1 award should file their applications soon.

Among University graduates who have received this fellowship in the past are Anne Fredericksen, class of '40, and Elizabeth Stetson, Class of '39.

W. Dahlberg Urges Seniors to Speak

Graduating seniors interested in entering the Failing-Beekman-Jewett oratorical contest, to be held in the music auditorium June 15, are urged to contact W. A. Dahlberg, director of speech and dramatic arts as soon as possible.

"Members of the faculty of the speech department are ready and willing to help the contestants with the preparation and delivery of their speeches," Dahlberg declared.

The speeches are to be 15 minutes in length on any topic. Six seniors, who will give their speeches in caps and gowns at the finals on Saturday night, will be chosen. There is a $150 first prize, $100 second, and $50 third.

Medics Report Crowd, Urge Physical Exams

An average load of 15 students was resting in the dispensary yesterday, and 10 were in over the weekend. Halls were humming with visitors, during Tuesday afternoon visiting hours.

Dr. Miller urges students who are new this term to complete their physical examinations, as they are necessary before grades or credit can be given for this term's work. This includes the completion of TB and smallpox

Those upstairs resting up from Easter are Elizabeth Breen, Selma Syme, Shirley Anderson, Doris Bednar, Gloria Stannard, Barbara Kvern, Barbara Wood, Jack Nicholson, Milton Preisz, Wally Heider, Jimmy George, Tom Brownill, Herbert Leonnig, and Otho Rob-

Among the benefits which the American Legion plans to secure for veterans are the putting of problems of the veterans in direct contact with the proper governmental agencies and giving them a voice in present day matters of local and national interest, affecting the present as well as the fu-

Seniors May Receive Physical Examinations

Physical examinations will be given to seniors who wish them, announced Dr. Fred Miller, head physician. When applying for a position, in many cases the employer expects the applicant to have a physical examination certificate, which the infirmary will give to those wishing one.

Even if students don't need the exam for a job, after four years it may be to the students' advantage to have a check-up, he added. Seniors should come in as soon as possible to make appointment to have them taken at their convenience. Dr. Miller said that all students can be taken care of if there is a definite system of appointment. office.

Correspondence Study Now Available to Vets

The veterans' administration has negotiated contracts with the Unig versity of Washington, Washing ton State college and the Oregon state system of higher education for correspondence and extension courses to be provided to veterans under the G.I. Bill of Rights, it was announced recently by D. M. Shute, northwest branch administrator for the veterans administration in Seattle.

Thirty-eight educational institutions throughout the United States are included in the new program, Shute said, making available to veterans instruction by correspondence in virtually every field of study from academic subjects to a wide variety of trades and professions.

Veterans will receive no subsistence allowance while taking correspondence or extension courses, Shute explained, and a charge of one-fourth of the time spent in following a correspondence course will be made against the veterans period of eligibility for educational benefits under the G.I. bill.

Total cost of all such courses cannot exceed $500.

A correspondence course may be taken in connection with regular institutional or job training, Shute

Veterans may obtain further information on correspondence course subjects by contacting their nearest veterans' administration
