

Diploma Fees Due In Cashier's Office

Seniors who have not yet paid their diploma fees of $6.50 should pay soon at the cashier's office in Johnson hall, according to Clifford L. Constance, assistant registrar. Deadline for payment will be announced later.

Arrangements for rental of caps and gowns and orders for announcements and personal cards may be made at the University co-op. Marion McClain, manager of the co-op, urges that all seniors order their announcements and cards immediately, since the printing will require some time.

All payments must be made in advance. May 18 is the last day on which orders will be accepted.

Seniors lacking credits for graduation have already been notified of their deficiencies, Constance said.
