

Ducks Sweep UW Series With 9-6 Win Kochmen Lose in Tenth to Linfield, 3-2

Junior Varsity Nine Drops Close Game

Linfield university scored one run on a single, a sacrifice and two passed balls in the tenth inning to break a 2-2 tie and defeat Barney Koch's Junior Varsity in McMinnville Thursday, 3-2.

The JVs tied the count in ninth on two singles to send the game into extra innings.

For five frames the encounter was a pitcher's duel between Oregon's Al Paulsen and Linfield's Cereghino, but Linfield bunched two singles and a double for one run to break the stalemate in their half of the fifth. Again in the sixth frame, they tallied on Smelzer's single, Reeder's double and a fielder's choice.

Oregon came back in the seventh for a lone run. Al Stoinoff, Junior Varsity second baseman, led off the inning with a single to right field. He stole second base, and scored on Northam's one base blow to center. Trailing by one run, the Kochmen collected another counter in the first of the ninth to tie the score. Stoinoff, who collected three hits in five trips up for Oregon, singled to right and held up at second on the pitcher's error. Dale Warberg, Junior Duck first sacker, sacrificed him to third and he galloped home on Northam's single to center.

Al Paulsen went the distance for the Junior Varsity, giving up eight hits, while Oregon was able to collect only six off Linfield's Cereghino.

Junior Olympics Scheduled Today

Oregon's Hayward field is the scene of the fourth Junior Olympics today at 1 p.m. Sponsored by the Eugene American Legion post for the teen-age athletes in Oregon, the entire program will consist of a decathlon, swimming meet and golf match. Decathalons are a popular mid-west and eastern event, but haven't received much fan-fare on the coast. It includes ten events, allowing athletes to show all-around prowess in running, jumping, strength and agility.

The action on Hayward field will see one hundred young athletes participating against each other. The entire Olympics are scheduled for two-days, but the decathlon on Hayward field will be over in the early afternoon. Saturday will see the junior Olympic contestants vie in golf and swimming. Tennis, one of the pre-war features of this Olympic affair is cut from the program this year.

Contestants will register at Oregon's physical education plant at 10 a.m. this morning where they will be given housing assignments and necessary materials. Attractive competitor's "American Legion" buttons are included in the "necessary materials."

A luncheon for the entire group is planned by the American Legion prior to the beginning of the decathlon and golf competition. The golf match is slated for a two-day tourney on the Eugene Country Club. A 36-hole medal play is booked and winners will receive attractive medals.

Thursday's results: OSC 13, Idaho 9.

The University of Washington Huskies blew a three-run lead in a fatal ninth inning in Seattle Thursday to allow the league leading Ducks to sweep the four-game series, 9 to 6.

Max Soriano, ace Husky right-hander, held the high-flying Webfoots to five hits for the first eight frames of the game, but the Washington infield fell apart in the final stanza to give Oregon six runs and the ball game.

Hal Saltzman went the distance for the Hobsonmen, allowing nine hits to achieve his sixth Northern Division win of the 1946 season.

The win gave Oregon a record of four victories and two losses for the dreaded six-game road tour of Idaho and Washington, and virtually eliminates the Huskies as contenders for the conference title.

The Webfoots need only a single win in their remaining four games to cinch a tie for the division pennant, and a split in the Oregon state series would give them undisputed possession of their fourth straight crown.

Oregon Tracksters Entrain Today For Cougar Meet

Coach Bill Hayward's track team entrains this afternoon for their first away-from-home meet of the season. The Ducks journey to Pullman, Washington where they will face the Washington State Cougars Saturday afternoon.

John Warren is substituting for Colonel Hayward as coach for the team on this journey as Bill is continuing his policy of staying home when his team travels.

Traveling Squad Announced

Both Hayward and Warren oriented the harriers and field event men yesterday, and members of the traveling squad were announced. Hayward informed the runners that they were going to be on short rations after the Friday night meal in Portland. The team will arrive in Pullman around 11:30 a.m. Saturday, and before leaving will have energized themselves with one of the diner car meals.

No Time Trials

Time trials were originally called for for yesterday, but Hayward told his men to just take a few easy laps in order to loosen their muscles. The long train ride and short arrival before the meet will call for the team to make doubly sure that they are limber—tough going is slated against Washington State.

Nineteen Oregon harriers are scheduled to take the train trip—a small team, but one packed with potential double point getters. Trackmen leaving today are: Jake Leicht, Carl Maxey, Andy Swan,

Leicht and Maxey will double in the hundred and 220 yard dash; Swan and Schauer in the 440-yard dash and mile relay; Stapleton and Hammock in the mile and two mile, Beifuss and Garrity in the high and broad jump, Wright in the high and low hurdles, Donavan in the low hurdles and relay.

In the other college conference meet scheduled for tomorrow Oregon State is host to the Idaho Vandals. State dropped its meet to Washington two weeks ago and the Vandals are the recent conquerors of the Cougars. Both the Oregon-Washington State and Oregon State-Idaho meets should provide plenty of thrills as teams are evenly matched in nearly every event.

Hayward expects a close meet between his thinclads and the Washington State runners and isn't willing to pick the winner

Olivermen Add Grid Clash To Junior Weekend Slate

By BERNIE HAMMERBECK

Starting lineups went unannounced yesterday afternoon as Head Coach Tex Oliver briefed his 1946 grid aggregation for their final intra-squad tilt of the spring season this afternoon on Hayward field at 2 p.m.

Last week Oliver and assistants Mike Mikulak and Vaughn Corley proposed a starting lineup, but at the last moment changed their plans and in order to avoid embarrassment this week have declined to name a starting lineup for the two opening elevens.

Fairly certain, however, despite the reticence of the coaching staff, is the lineup of the first squad which will undoubtedly start the Junior Weekend tilt. Wayne Bartholomey and Pug Mayer are expected to start at the end slots with Bartholomey at right and Mayer at left. Tony (Crash) Crish ordinarily holds down the left wing spot, but has been out of the lineup for a week because of his baseball adventures and as a result may see little action in the final intra-squad tilt. Another end possibility, however, who has not shown up too well the last week but is expected to regain form this afternoon is sticky fingered Art Milne, one of the finest pass receivers on the coast this season.

Expected to start at the tackles are Chuck Elliott and Curt Deskins although these positions are not at all certain. Big Howie Frary may edge Elliott out at the left tackle spot or perhaps Bob Roberts. At the other tackle berth both Harry Edwards, letterman last year, and Pete Miller have a good chance of easing into a starting berth. Miller's chances, especially, look very good, as Deskins may not be in uniform this afternoon.

Though not appearing today, a pair of stalwart tackles prospects bear mention. They are Don Stanton, frosh numeral winner in 1942, and Ray Blatchley, who was tried out at a fullback slot earlier this spring.

Expected to start at the guards are big Ted Meland and John Kauffman. Kauffman, however, has not been feeling too well and may be replaced by the little fighter Tony Novacic. Offering competition at the other post is Bill Murphy, who has thus far this season refused to take a back seat in any battle for a guard berth.

At center for the number one eleven will undoubtedly be the big blond—Brad Ecklund although Jim Berwick, a converted guard, has been showing up very well at the pivot post.

yet—one lucky win could change the entire complexion of the meet. That's how close it should run!

ATO Courtmen Defeat Chi Psis

The Alpha Tau Omega intramural tennis team yesterday swept over the tennis team of the Chi Psis two matches to one.

The feature match of the day was the one played by the second doubles team. The match went three sets before the ATOs finally defeated their stubborn opponents.

Don Carney, playing singles was the only Chi Psi to turn in a win by defeating Boone in two sets. The first set of the match was 6-3 but the second set went to 10-8.

Doubles scores: Hume and Wilson, ATO, defeated Reed and Niederholzer, 6-3, 6-2; Brown and Franks, ATO, defeated McClintock and Ambrose 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.

OSC Netmen Face UW Today

Today in Seattle, the star-studded University of Washington Huskies, current Northern Division conference leaders, will tangle with the Beavers of Oregon State college. This will be a crucial match as the Beavers are tied with the Oregon Ducks for second place.

The Ducks will meet the Huskies on May 18, in Seattle. Idaho's Vandals played the Huskies and lost all but one of their seven matches to them. The number one man of Idaho, Goodman, defeated Washington's top man, Jim Zeiger, of the Oregon Ducks, defeated Goodman.

The all-schools conference meet will be held in Pullman, Washington.

Campbell Club Edges Fiji Golfers 6 1/2-5 1/2

Campbell Club's intramural golf team edged a 6 1/2-5 1/2 win over the divotmen of Phi Gamma Delta Thursday.

Bill Cooley, Campbell club, sank a 14-foot putt on the 18th green to win his match from Fiji's Phipp. Chuck Taylor of Phi Gamma Delta shot a 73 for low score in the intramural matches.
