STATE FAIR QUEEN AND COURT

Chi Omega, Omega Hall Win Sing; Skull and Dagger Pledges 20

Topping some 22 women's organizations and 9 men's groups represented at the 1946 All-Campus Sing, Chi Omega sorority and Omega hall claimed the cups awarded annually at the Junior Weekend event when they sang "Without a Song," and "De Animals A-Comin'," last night in McArthur court.

Judges for the contest were Earl M. Pallett, president of the Eugene Gleemen; John Stehn, music instructor; and Glenn Griffith, supervisor of music of the Eugene public school system.

The Chi O's, looking like a clean and shining Oregon spring day in their pink, blue, green, and yellow dresses, were awarded the Panhellenic cup, while Omega's men, in suits and hard-to-get white shirts, received the Interfraternity prize. Betty Householder directed her winning sisters while Jan Kok led the top men.

Schwering Scholarships

Other "State Fair" winners, announced at the end of the vocal numbers, included Pearl Peterson, junior in liberal arts, who was named recipient of the second annual Hazel P. Schwering scholarship. Miss Peterson, who received the grant presented by Mrs. Perrie L. Dolph, chairman of the Schwering scholarship committee, is a member of Orchesis, modern dance honorary, and Pi Mu Epsilon, national mathematics honorary.

Myrl Sykes, junior in liberal arts, Norma Granstrom, junior in liberal arts, and Jean Alexander, junior in liberal arts, also received Hazel P. Schwering scholarships, providing a quartette of winners, instead of a single recipient. The Schwering scholarships are being awarded this year for the second time, in honor of the late dean of women.

Best Cleaners

University house and Sherry Ross hall captured top cleaning honors, when they were awarded bonus tickets in the Thursday Clean-up activity.

Tapped for Skull and Dagger were 20 freshmen, who will take their places in the sophomore men's honorary fall term. Pledges announced by Winston Carl, president of the honorary, included: Carl Reusser, Sheldon Jones, Bill Cooley, Jim McClintock, Clay Morgan, Ken Gurrian, Dave Silver, Bill Barnum, Bob Wardwell, Fred Goodspeed, Clay Myers, Bud Scrogan, Bob Roberts, Jack Meeke, Walter Kirsch, John Lewis, Bob Bennett, Don Dole, Ralph Bonadurer, and Don Pinkerton.

Three-Day 1946 Junior Weekend Spree

A second blast of "State Fair" antics will bombard the Web-foot campus today as the top day of the 1946 Junior Weekend is touched off. Feature events on today's headline program are: 1. Tug of war between freshmen and sophomores. 2. Carnival float parade down Willamette street. 3. Outdoor dinner on the campus. 4. Coronation of Queen Pat Metcalf. 5. Orchesis dance program. 6. The Junior Prom featuring Gus Arnheim and his orchestra.

Junior weekend co-chairmen Marilyn Sage and Tom Kay have promised that today's festivities will be packed with entertainment with the jamboree spirit of a "State Fair" key-noting the celebration.

Registration of Oregon Mothers here for the annual Mother's Day held in conjunction with Junior Weekend, will begin today's program. Registration will take place at Johnson hall from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Jean Watson is chairman of the Mothers' Weekend.

Tug of War

A back-breaking tug-of-war between the freshmen and sophomore class will follow at 11 a.m. in the area beside the music building. The Order of the 'O' will supervise this event. Each living organization should see that five of its members are present by 10:45 a.m. Leroy Erickson, 'O' president said Friday.

Mothers Tea

Another event on the Mothers' program will be a tea at Gerlinger hall from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. The tea is sponsored jointly by the Eugene branch of the Oregon Mothers club, the YWCA, and the Associated Women students. Marilyn Anderson is chairman of the campus committee.

Float Parade

A float parade down Willamette street featuring "State Fair" themes will begin at the Southern Pacific depot at 4 p.m.
