Today in Seattle the most crucial tennis match of the Northern Division conference will be played as the University of Oregon Ducks, in second place, try to upset the unbeaten University of Washington Huskies.

In the closing dual match of the year, the first tennis season in three years, Coach Hanson's racquet men will be out there battling for first place in the standings. If the Ducks lose they will be tied with the Oregon State Beavers for second place, with three wins and two losses each. The Beavers completed their season last Saturday when they met the Huskies, who defeated them without losing a match.

Washke has taken to Seattle with him Jim Zeiger, Stan Anderson, Hal Philan, Bob Carey, Bill Carey, Bill Davis, and Vince McBride. The positions the men will play is still anybody's guess, for during the last two weeks of inactivity two men low on the ladder have beaten men higher than they. Hal Philan, usually playing number three, has defeated both Jim Zeiger, number one, and Stan Anderson, number two. Bob Carey, the number five man, has beaten Vince McBride, the number four man.

Next week on May 24 and 25 at Pullman, a singles and doubles elimination tourney will be held, with six teams competing for honors. These matches will determine the champion singles and doubles champions of the Northern Division, but will have no bearing on the conference standings.

DATELESS MEN

Inside Dope

"I think it's good experience for the women. It gives them the inside on what we have to go through," he said.

Another on the waiting list is Jim McClintock, who said, "I think it's a fine idea, but I wish the girls would get on the ball and get their dates. After all, a man likes to be flattered, too."

Bob "I'm just a-waitin'" Mensor said, "I'm just a lowly freshman, but from what I've heard of them, I think they're a good deal. Instead of the boys picking up the girls, it's the girls that do it. Saves a lot of footwork."

Point System

Ted Bush is still waiting by the phone and says, "I think it's a good idea. It gives all the girls a chance to make points."

"No I don't have a date yet," said Bill Jordan, "I've never been to one, but it sounds like a good opportunity for the women—the shoe on the other foot, that is."

As the situation stands, the men are awaiting the Mortar Board ball with unsurpassed eagerness, and there seems to be plenty of available material.

Hal Saltzman, top hurler in the Northern Division, will be on the mound for the Webfoot nine today when they tangle with Oregon State at 3 p.m. on Howe field. Saltzman has five conference wins this season without a loss and a victory today would sew up Oregon's fourth consecutive Northern Division horsehide title.

Track Team Idle Today; ND Meet in Seattle Next

By Al Pietschman

After their meet with Oregon State yesterday, the Oregon trackmen took a well-earned vacation and have no workouts scheduled until Monday afternoon.

On today's track docket in the Pullman, Washington, and Moscow, Idaho. The University of Washington Huskies, coached by Uncle Hec Edmundson, travel to Pullman for the Washington "rival" meet with Washington State. Montana's practically unheard of, and never reported track team, moves to Moscow to battle the scrappy Vandals.

The Cougar trackmen figured they were sure wins when asked about the outcome of today's meet while the Ducks were at Pullman last week. Undoubtedly bolstered by their win over the Oregon harriers, the Cougars figure they will not have too rough a time knocking over the Washington crew. Edmundson's boys are not to be counted out so soon in the meet, however, for they have shown talent in some of the events that Washington State is weak in. Probably a sure point-getter for the Huskies is their supreme middle distance runner, Don Wold.

Wold ran away from the Oregon middle distance men during the Oregon-Washington meet, and has been improving rapidly. Uncle Hec has been counting on Wold to bring in several first in the coming conference meet.

Idaho has a team of fair runners, but their main trouble is the same as Oregon's—lack of needed men in several events. They will probably take the Montana Grizzlies in an interesting meet—interesting since no one has results of the Grizzlies' meets yet this year. None of the Oregon colleges have met the Montana trackmen. They have kept to their own backyard for competition. Maybe they have a fireball squad, but with their small enrollment it is doubtful if they can field a potentially strong team. Hordes of trackmen are needed to push a mediocre team into the top rung—and Montana just doesn't have hordes of men, much less hordes of trackmen.

These two meets will wind up all dual conference meets for the season and the schools in the conference will converge on Seattle next Saturday for the big Northern Division track and field meet. No forecasting is made now and won't be made until the results of the meets billed for today are in.

ONE WORLD CLUB

Hewes also wrote that pick-ups are few hours notice or no notice and urged telegraphic communication with congress on the matter. Later information, however, indicates that the first sailing date of May 15 has been cancelled. No further information is available, Bacon said, and therefore his group sent their wires.

Weekly Articles

As a weekly feature of the Emerald the One World Club is writing an article on matters of public concern. The first article on the subject of Japanese exclusion in the United States appears in today's Emerald.

The next meeting of the One World Club is 7:30 p.m. May 22 at the YMCA building.

Saltzman to Hurl Today Against Oregon State

Oregon's front running nine will have an opportunity to sew up the 1946 Northern Division baseball championship this afternoon when the Oregon State Beavers invade Howe field at 3 p.m. for the first game of the 1946 traditional series.

Oregon has 10 wins and two losses and Oregon State has seven wins and five defeats. A win for Oregon in any of the four games gives Coach Hobby Hobson's crew their fourth straight Division title.

The two pitching aces of the teams will go to the hill this afternoon. Hobson has nominated Prince Hal Saltzman, leading pitcher in the league with a perfect five and nothing mark for this season.

Ralph Coleman is expected to counter with his ace left-hander, Chuck Sauvain. The frosh southpaw has been beaten only once this season, by Washington at Corvallis as the result of some sloppy support.

Preparations are being made for one of the biggest crowds of the season. Bleachers have been set up along the third base line to accommodate the crowd which usually sits or stands on the third base line grass.

Both pitchers are rated as part of the hitting attack of their respective clubs. Saltzman will hit in the number five spot and Sauvain, the last time out, batted in the cleanup slot.

Hobson will be able to throw the league's leading RBI hitter, Spike Johnson, and four .300 hitters, Tony Crish, Ranny Smith, Walt Kirsch and Bob Santee.

Coleman also has a quartet of hitters in the charmed circle, Harry Richards, .395, Dick Kohler .342, Dorwood Cecil .325 and Lou Wegner .300.

Fans will get a chance to watch the classiest first sacker in the league when Cecil takes over the initial sack this afternoon.

He has been tabbed as a real prospect if he can improve his hitting and was originally scheduled to sign with the Louisville club in the American Association this spring, but decided to take advantage of the GI Bill and came to Oregon State to continue his education.

Whiting to Talk

A. F. Whiting, acting assistant professor of anthropology, will be guest speaker at the Sunday forum at Westminster house. The topic will be "Personality and Culture—Oriental and Occidental." Forum time is 6:30 and students and faculty are invited.

Eugene Slated As Prep Hoop Site in 1947

The annual Oregon high school basketball tournament, which has been held at Salem since 1920, will be staged at McArthur court in Eugene next season.

Decision to move the tournament came Thursday night in Salem on the eve of the state high school track and field meet, after a vote of the five members of the board. The question has been uppermost in the minds of high school sports fans for several months.

The decision was made when the Salem chamber of commerce and Willamette university told the board they would be unable to provide any larger facilities than were provided last year. The decision was made for the 1947 tourney only, however, and the site of the 1948 tournament will be up to the board of control. Salem, Eugene, and Astoria—who all made bids for the 1947 tourney—are expected to vie again for the 1948 classic.

During her few leisure hours she collects recordings of symphonies and piano concertos. Athletics in the form of fencing and tennis, which Liz declares she is perpetually learning, find part of her time.

Ever since her trip to Mexico, Liz has loved to rhumba and tango, but more conventional dancing is also popular with her.
