

Lois McConkey Named UN Delegate

University Delegate to PNCC To Represent Northwest in NY

Troy Strong, College of Puget Sound Student Chosen As Co-Representative to Fall Meeting

Lois McConkey, senior in economics, and one of the Oregon delegates to the Pacific Northwest College congress, has been selected to be one of the two Northwest representatives to attend United Nations conference meetings next fall.

Troy Strong, from the College of Puget Sound, will be the other representative.

Selections were based upon written reports of the reaction in the schools to the student resolutions and the publicity on the congress, which was held at Reed college April 5 and 6.

Miss McConkey was informed of her selection by Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, who phoned her Tuesday night. She immediately called her mother in Portland, but she had already been notified by KGW, co-sponsor of the contest with the Portland League of Women Voters.

Having secured only a 36 per cent participation in polling opinion of the student congress, she did not expect to be one of the two to be sent to the United Nations conference, she said.

According to the plans of which Lois has been notified, NBC network and the National League of Women Voters will entertain the two delegates on their trip.

Monday night Lois will be introduced at the state convention of women voters which is being held in Eugene.

At the Reed college conference, Lois was secretary of the group discussing social and economic problems and assisted in drawing up the final resolutions.

Among other honors won by Lois while attending the University was princess in the 1945 Junior Weekend court, rally squad chairman for three years, and homecoming chairman in 1945. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega.

Co-Op Cash Receipts Due for Refund Saturday

The University Co-op store will refund five per cent of all purchases to students who turn in their cash register receipts by Saturday noon, May 25, according to Marion F. McClain, manager.

Special envelopes are available at the Co-op for thrifty students who have saved their receipts and who want to get their share of the profits.

Campaign Publicity Subject To Judiciary Approbation

To prevent future questionable campaign literature from being distributed on the campus during student elections, the ASUO executive council Tuesday drew up a request asking the judiciary committee to draw up rules to make those responsible for the future issuance of such material subject to discipline. The suggestion, which was passed almost unanimously by council members, was amended with the added request that the committee establish severe penalties for infraction of the rules, and that such penalties be enforced by the disciplinary committee.

Annual Banquet

The annual executive council dinner, at which old and new members will be entertained, has been set for 5:30 Tuesday evening at the Mirror room of the Eugene hotel. Dean Virgil Earl, adviser to the council, and Mrs. Earl, and President and Mrs. Harry K. Newburn will be guests of the group.

Every student will receive an Ore-nter when he starts registration next fall term, it was announced by Ed Allen, president of the student body. A fund of $290.04, appropriated last year for the 1945 Ore-nter and not used, will be turned over to the educational activities fund, earmarked for the 1946-47 publication.

Official Approval

The approval of the executive council was reaffirmed when the appointments of Marguerite Wittwer, Emerald editor, George Pegg, Emerald business manager, and

Reporter Relays Bachelor Ball Hints

By Gloria Smith

Said the scheming young man with a date for the Mortar Board ball, "I expect an orchid, steak, and coke plus." The smile on the face of the Oregon coed may or may not have indicated that the young man's wishes would be fulfilled.

Orchids or onions, steak or sandwich, coke plus or minus—the Bachelor Catcher's ball is destined to prove successful, judging from coed comment.

Transportation may prove a stumbling block, but after quizzing a few coeds, this reporter might suggest that a little imagination will save taxi fare. Surprising modes of travel were revealed after a little investigation.

Girls may have a little trouble convincing their dates that the sample tubes of lipstick to be distributed at the ball are not for

Correspondent J. Allen Installs New Officers at Assembly Today

Tonight's Topic: Race Problem

Bill Barry to Discuss Negro-White Relations

An aspect of the American scene which is rapidly gaining more attention—Negro-white relationships—will be discussed by Bill Barry, executive secretary of the Portland Urban league, at a meeting of the University anthropology club tonight.

Open to the public, the meeting is at 7:30 on the sun porch of Geringer hall. Students taking anthropology courses are especially invited since they are eligible for membership in the club, Robert Campbell, president of the group, said.

"Mr. Barry is one of the best and most alert speakers I have ever had the pleasure of hearing," Dr. L. S. Cressman, head of the anthropology department, said.

Barry is a graduate of Overland college and took graduate work at the University of Pittsburg. The Portland chapter of the Urban league was started last year as a branch of the national organization under Barry's direction.

The purpose of the league is the advancement of the Negro population in securing jobs and the placing of well-qualified Negroes in responsible positions. The present problem facing the league is to better relations between the Negro and white populations.

This will be the second lecture before the anthropology club since its reactivation last month. All members of the club are invited. Those who have not paid their dues are urged to do so at that time. Refreshments will be served. Charis Bradt is in charge of the program.

Lettermen to Receive Athletic Awards; Phi Theta to Present Scholarships

A full program including the installation of newly-elected ASUO officers, presentation of athletic awards, announcement of scholarship winners, and an address on the current events in Spain by war correspondent Jay Allen, is on the docket for the ASUO assembly at 11 in McArthur court this morning.

Mr. Allen, a graduate of the University school of journalism, will install Oregon's 1946-47 student government officers.

Athletic awards will be given all varsity basketball, varsity swimming, and frosh basketball letter and numeral winners.

Warren Webster and Charlene Thurston, the freshman and freshman woman with the highest grade point average for the first two terms, will be awarded ASUO scholarships. Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's honorary, will announce the winners of two three-term tuition scholarships and one $50 scholarship. These awards have been made to three junior women whose grades and ambition warrant the financial help needed to complete their graduation requirements. Funds to provide the scholarships were earned by Phi Theta members by ushering at athletic events and concerts, Marge Skordahl, out-going Phi Theta president, revealed.

Drawing from his experiences as a war correspondent in Spain, Jay Allen will discuss aspects of the eternal problems in that strife-stricken nation.

A contemporary of Palmer Hoyt and Phil Brogan, Allen is a member of the campus chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity. Co-author of the book, "All the Brave," Allen has also represented such papers as the Chicago Daily news, the Chicago Tribune, the London News Chronicle, and North American Newspaper Alliance. He got his start on the Eugene Morning Register under City Editor Horace Burnett.

Vets to Sponsor Gleemen Concert

The Eugene Gleemen, under the direction of Dr. Theodore Kratt, dean of the University school of music, will present their annual spring concert at McArthur court Tuesday, May 28. All the veterans' organizations in Eugene are sponsoring the program, with the proceeds going to the Veterans' Memorial Building fund.

The concert, which will be the second home appearance this year for the group, will feature a musical memorial, "That Peace May Prevail," honoring the nation's dead in the Spanish-American war, World War I, and World War II. The narrative part of the tribute was written and will be delivered by G. E. Gaylord, a member of the Gleemen. The musical end will include songs which were popular during each of the three wars; "Requiem," a tribute to war dead by Robert Louis Stevenson and Sidney Homer; and "The Dawn of World Peace," which is a portion of Tennyson's prophetic poem. "Locksley Hall" set to stirring music by R. S. Stoughton.

Another highlight of the program will be a group of solos by Albert Dunn, baritone, a freshman in the school of music.

NOTICE

The ISA election scheduled for today has been called off. There will be a meeting of the ISA Senate Tuesday.

UO American Legion Post Solicits New Members at Meeting Tonight

By Bill Craig

All veterans are urged to attend the meeting of the University of Oregon post of the American Legion tonight at 7 p.m. in 207 Chapman with Commander Ab Wilson presiding.

It was decided at the last meeting of the University Post that the membership fee would be $3. Of this amount, $2.50 is sent to the state and national headquarters, while 50 cents remains in the local post fund.

The American Legion has made a fast start toward becoming the strongest veterans group in the United States. As of today the Legion promises to speak in post-war years as a voice for almost 12,000,000 veterans of World War II.

No sensible observer, inside the organization or out, imagines that the Legion can recruit even as many as half of this vast group into actual dues-paying membership. If it ever signs as many as five million in one year it will have accomplished a minor miracle, officials say.

Approximately 1700 veterans are attending the University, and 50 of them are already members of the University Post. With a goal set for at least 200 charter members by the end of the spring term, the local post has inaugurated a membership campaign.

In this new membership lies the hope of the American Legion for continued service. A greater, stronger, and more productive Legion is in the making—the two-war American Legion. It is destined to become the greatest bulwark of American institutions in the history of the nation. For in this two-war Legion there will be welded the know-how and enthusiasm of the veterans of two great wars dedicated to preserving in peace the ideals for which they both fought in war.

Two-Fold Prestige

But there is another side to it. Membership in the American Legion carries with it a prestige that is two-fold. It is the hallmark of
