

OREGON STATE

that needed one point. Washington had tough breaks too; they lost their ace hurdler in the lows; Don Wold, the beautiful Purple and Gold distance runner, was scratched from the half-mile due to sickness.

Grant Swan's Beavers folded in several events, WSC fluked off and didn't get points they were credited with by the Seattle sports writers—it all made for the best meet in conference history.

Jake Leicht, Bill Beifuss, and Bill Kydd led Oregon in its spectacular point-getting performance by garnering firsts for Coach John Warren.

Colonel Bill Hayward was scheduled to fly to Seattle Saturday morning but was stricken with heart ailment as he prepared to board the plane and was forced to stay in Eugene. Bill wired his "off the train and into cars" team that he couldn't make it and wished them luck in the big battle.

Leicht upheld all those who contended that he would make the vaunted WSC sprinter, Louie Christensen, look like a piker in the hundred. Christensen was supposedly credited with a .98 hundred somewhere along the season's way, but looked pretty poor as Jake turned on the steam.

Nine false starts nerved the sprinters before they finally got off, and when they did Christensen had jumped the gun, but the starter, Stan Anderson, former Washington star hurdler and current hurdler record holder in the conference, didn't call the boys back and Jake was strides behind Christensen when he left the blocks.

The WSC star tried to keep ahead of rolling Leicht, but didn't have the speed to prevent Jake's zipping by him and winning the race by a yard or so. Jake's time in this race was a fast :9.9.

Jake repeated his performance in the 220, and Carl Maxey made it one-two for the Ducks. Leicht finished with a 21.7 time. Christensen folded after the first few yards, claiming a pulled muscle.

Beifuss, hitting one of the "off" days in his jumping career, cleared only 6 feet 1 inch to win the high jump. All the bounding men were off and Bob Harber, OSC's top 6'3" jumper, went out at 5'6". Oregon's Tom Garrity, definitely not up to par, tied for fourth spot with a 5-8 jump.

Javelin tosser Bill Kydd came through in expected form and won his event with a tremendous 194 foot 1 inch heave. Tossing his last javelin in college competition, Kydd picked up another needed first for John Warren. Bill finishes his dental training in Portland this year and ended his throwing Saturday.

Andy Swan, Walt McClure, Wyn Wrought, and Frank Deines, were the other Ducks who added points to the total.

Swan captured second in the 440-yard dash, just losing to Oregon State's O. B. Hughes in a tight race.

McClure ran a pretty race in the half-mile, coming up from fifth on the last curve. Walt forged into second, close on WSC Dick Paeth's heels, but Bob Cherry, OSC, turned on a bolting finish to edge him and just lose to Paeth in one of the day's hottest races.

Hurdler Wright had a repeat performance of his WSC's run, as the end of the low hurdles was a photo-finish; Idaho's Lake stumbled several yards from the finish, lunged his hand and shoulder across as Wyn pulled ahead. Officials gave Lake second and Wright third.

Deinse was Oregon's "tough luck" boy in the pole vault as he just missed 12' 6" and tied with four other vaulters for third and fourth at 12 feet.

Washington's Don Wold and WSC's Clem Eischen staged the closest and most exciting run of the day in their mile dual.

Wold trailed Eischen for three laps, edged closer on the final quarter and matched stride for stride on the final curve with the lanky Cougar runner. Hitting the stretch, both runners opened up with all they had and ran neck and neck for 75 yards. Little Wold finally inched ahead as the Washington fans rose and screamed the little boy on.

The last 25 yards had Wold slowly gaining ground and as they hit the finish, it was Wold by two feet! The time was notable, 4:19, fastest in the conference for the season!

Graduation Material Ready At Co-op

Seniors' caps, gowns, cards, and announcements are waiting for them at the Co-op and should be picked up as soon as possible.

Any graduating seniors who have not ordered their caps and gowns should contact Mrs. Gerda Brown at the Co-op immediately. She may still be able to secure these items if the time is not too short. There is also a very limited supply of announcements on hand for any students who failed to get their orders in before the deadline.

Student Art Work

An exhibition of student art work done during the past year by the University's art school students will go on display in the little art gallery at the school of architecture and allied arts June 10 and remain on exhibition through the summer term.

The exhibit will represent a cross section of the work done by all branches and classes in the art department.
