

Quonset Huts to Be Utilized Fall Session For University Classrooms and Offices

275 Housing Units for Married Couples Planned for Fall Term Development

Kwamas Tap Thirty Women

Thirty outstanding freshmen women were tapped as 1946-47 members of Kwama, sophomore women's honorary, as a highlight of the Mortar Board "Bachelor's Catchers" ball Saturday evening in McArthur court. The 1945-46 president, Ann Burgess, also awarded three Kwama scholarships for $150.

As Miss Burgess announced the names, Janet Hicks, secretary, pinned red, white and blue pledge ribbons on the following girls listed by living organizations: Alpha Chi Omega, Beverly Deichler, Maxing Jamieson; Alpha Delta Pi, Phyllis Litzenger; Alpha Gamma Delta, Virginia Skow; Alpha Omicron Pi, Renee Cowell; Alpha Phi, Jean Merrifield, Dorothy Wightman; Alpha Xi Delta, Pat Ebert; Chi Omega, Carolyn Jenks, Shirley Minea; Delta Delta Delta, Beth Basler, Janice Lee Hanson; Delta Gamma, Roxie Sears, Joan Williams; Gamma Phi Beta, Mary Hibbit, Diane Mead; Hendricks hall, Trudi Chernis, Margaret Rauch, Lynn Rennick; Kappa Alpha Theta, Prudy McCroskey, Barbara Patterson, Ann Woodworth; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Shirley Lukins; Pi Beta Phi, Mary Jane Harrison, Beverly Pitman, Jordis Benke, Sigma Kappa, Carley Hayden, Penny Welch; and Susan Campbell hall, Laura Olson and Colleen Marriott from Eugene.

Following their initiation Tuesday evening at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house, the 30 new members were feted at a banquet in the Osburn hotel where they elected officers for 1946-47. Joan Williams was chosen as the new Kwama president, Trudi Chernis, vice-president; Beverly Pitman, secretary; Lynn Rennick, treasurer; and Laura Olson, reporter.

The three Kwama scholarships were issued to Olga Yertich, Hendricks hall; Sylvia Mitchell, and Doris Bednar, Highland house.

The wartime bulk of quonset huts may loom on the Oregon horizon when fall term begins, according to information released Wednesday by Dr. W. V. Norris, professor of physics who is supervision housing development at the University. The huts will be used for classrooms and offices, he said.

Two steel-craft huts, similar to the quonset huts but of a more elaborate construction, are definitely planned for use as music practice rooms. They are made with aluminum panels, a somewhat odd development for the wood center of Eugene, Dr. Norris said, but "we use what we can get these days."

Row-Houses

Other housing units planned are a series of "row-houses" for married couples. Six of these are under construction now, he said, and 275 are planned to be up by fall term.

There are also two men's dormitories planned for next term, Dr. Norris said. These will hold 772 men and preference will probably be given to veterans. A cafeteria will also be built as a part of these dorms.

Among campus living organizations many changes will be made. The Delta Zeta sorority has purchased the Delta Tau Delta house and will move in fall term. The Sigma Nu fraternity will move back in their house now occupied by the Delta Zetas. The Sigma Chi fraternity will reoccupy their house now filled with students from the Northwestern Christian college.

Nursery to Be Open During Summer School

A campus nursery will be sponsored during the summer session at the YWCA bungalow to accommodate busy veterans' wives. The nursery will be sponsored jointly by the campus Red Cross board and YWCA.

Veterans attending summer school are eligible to leave their children in capable hands from 1 to 5 o'clock Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, without charge to parents. Nursery hours begin June 17.

Students Plan Religion Week

Gil Roberts, junior in physical education, and Martha Thorsland, junior in liberal arts, were named Monday evening to head campus religious emphasis week scheduled for October 27 to November 1, Carl Webb, general chairman announced.

At the Monday night meeting, attended by representatives from campus living organizations, preliminary plans for the event were made. Paul B. Means, head of the department of religion, discussed outstanding speakers who would be brought to the campus to conduct a series of meetings for both public and the campus and to meet with various living organizations to conduct forums and to hold personal conferences.

The last event similar to the religious emphasis was held in 1938 under the direction of Charles G. Howard of the law school and was called University Christian mission. "The 1938 meetings were very successful, with student and city participation reaching a high level," Webb said. "We hope to make this year's religious week as worthwhile."

Committees will be appointed later by the chairmen.

Homecoming Petitions Called for By Tom Kay

All petitions for Homecoming chairman for the 1946 Homecoming next fall must be submitted to Tom Kay at the Phi Delta Theta house as soon as possible, it was announced yesterday.

Cigarette Butts on the Deck Janitors' Chief Webfoot Gripe

By Gloria Smith

"Cigarette butts on the floor—that is!" seems to be the main complaint coming from UO custodians.

In a survey taken among the janitors on the campus aimed at finding out their main complaint about student blunders and carelessness, either the cigarette complaint was filed or none at all.

C. McCormack, in charge of Villard hall, the press, the extension building, the depot, news bureau, YMCA, and the zoo, said, "I think it is rather inconsiderate of students to throw their cigarettes around but at the same time I guess young people don't stop to think about that."

Tennis Etiquette

Will Grimes, custodian of the tennis courts, had no gripes to air. He said, "If you meet anyone half way you can get along. I'm firm and have found I've been able to get along with the students. When they realize what the rules and regulations are that they must live up to, they find it easy to get along."

Students who coyly dispose of cigarettes in odd corners should take some sage advice from Fred Ream, custodian of Friendly, who said, "I don't like seeing the students going in to a class room and smoking. Another thing, they seem to think that putting cigarette stubs in corners and behind radiators eliminates them, but it just makes more work than if they were in the middle of the hall."

Look! No Gripes . . .

August N. Loquest, custodian of Deady hall, said, "There isn't anything I can think of that really bothers me. Guess life has been

Summer Sessions Offer Wider Range of Courses

On Tuesday, June 18, Oregon's five institutions of higher education will open their doors to the largest throng of students ever to enroll during the summer quarter.

Officials attribute this increased popularity of the summer sessions to several factors: Many veterans just out of the service do not want to wait until fall before beginning or resuming their education.

Other veterans already in school are anxious to make up for lost time and plan to continue their work 12 months a year until they finish. With the assistance provided by the GI Bill of Rights, some veterans are able to forego the summer-time jobs that were once a necessity.

Teacher Shortage

Another reason for the record breaking enrollment is the current shortage of teachers in the state's secondary and elementary schools. Many positions are open to applicants with the proper qualifications and ambitious schoolteachers should find just the courses they need at one of the five schools in the state system. Oregon's mild summer weather is expected to attract many out-of-state students to "study in air-conditioned Oregon."

Courses Offered

But the weather is not the only inducement that is being offered to students interested in summer session. Most schools will have larger percentages of their regular teaching staffs on hand this year than heretofore and a wider range of courses will be available. Students will be able to continue their present course schedules with very little difficulty in most cases. This is especially true in lower division work.

Outside the academic field, every effort is being made to insure a well-balanced program of sports, social activities, forums and lectures, and musical programs.

Recreation

The University will sponsor weekend hikes and picnics and will provide tennis, golf, and swimming facilities.

Oregon State college at Corvallis plans to have conducted weekend tours to the coast and to nearby mountains and lakes.

Students at the Oregon College of Education at Monmouth will find a wide variety of recreation areas available in that vicinity, and those doing summer work at the Southern Oregon College of Education at Ashland will be conveniently located near several of Oregon's best fishing streams and lakes and within easy driving distance of Crater lake.

'Switzerland'

The Eastern Oregon College of Education at La Grande is but a short distance from Oregon's Switzerland in the Willamette mountains, so it is plain that Oregon summertime students will not suffer from any lack of recreational facilities.

At the University during the first session, a chorus, orchestra, and band will be organized and will appear in concerts the final week of the session. In order to participate in these activities, a student need not be a music student but may take part simply for the enjoyment he may derive from it.

'Summer Sun'

Journalism students at Eugene will publish a weekly, four-page tabloid newspaper called the Summer Sun during the first session of the quarter.

At the University, the Debusk Memorial clinic, under the direction of Dr. P. A. Killgallon, will provide remedial instruction for persons over seven years of age who are handicapped by learning difficulties in reading, spelling, or arithmetic.

veterans, new housing units for married veterans, and re-opening of the fraternities should provide sufficient housing space, he said.

Classes will begin on September 23 with rush week from September 8 to 13 and freshman and registration week September 15 to 21.

Welcome Book

The welcome book, which is distributed to new students has now been completed by the freshman week committee. Section 2, dealing with rush week problems, is being published separately this year.

In order that an enrollment of 5000 may be accommodated, classes will be held from 8 to 5 Monday through Friday from 8 to 12 Saturday morning. There is also a possibility that classes may be scheduled from 12 to 1 o'clock, necessitating two lunch hours.

Assemblies and some laboratory courses will be held during the evening.

Some restrictions may be made on the planning of schedules so that they will be scattered over the full 40 hour week.
