

Independents Elect Lemons President

Results of the Independent Students association elections held Wednesday in the Co-op brought positions to eight students who will serve in the ISA executive council for the year 1946-47.

Elected president of the group was Howard Lemons, junior in business administration. Dale Harlan, special student in law, was elected vice-president, thus becoming president of the ISA senate.

Class representatives on the council were chosen as follows: seniors, Paul Marcotte, Barbara Weisz; juniors, Si Ellingson, Dorothy Fowler; sophomores, Louis Knight, Trudi Chernis.

'Y' Plans Nursery For Vets' Children

A campus nursery for children of student veterans will open June 17 at the YWCA bungalow, under joint sponsorship of the Red Cross and the "Y." Children of all ages will be cared for Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons from 1 to 5 p.m.

A competent adult will be in charge of the nursery with volunteers assisting.

Stuffed toys, a sand box, small chairs and tables, and a swing for use in the nursery are being collected by members of the Eugene Junior Red Cross. Anyone wishing to contribute similar items may bring them to the "Y."

Vets May Buy Surplus Goods

Student veterans wishing to purchase anything from excavating machinery, jeeps, passenger cars, to typewriters from the war assets administration's surplus property pool may now obtain application blanks for these items.

The items must be used for the personal use of veterans and have been set aside for them exclusively. The veteran, in applying, must certify that he desires the property for his own use and not for resale.

The new certificates are available through state selective service headquarters.

Mu Phi Epsilon Ends Year Of Music, Service Activity

By Jerine Newhouse

This year has been one of activity and service for Nu chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, national professional music sorority. The year has begun with the pledging of 14 freshmen and sophomores in the school of music. In order to be eligible for membership, a girl must have a three-point GPA and must be either a music major or minor, as well as outstanding in her field.

The traditional activities, such as sponsoring recorded concerts on Sunday afternoons in the browsing room of the University library, ushering for campus recitals and presentation of Mu Phi Epsilon talent on KOAC radio programs, were carried through with success.

Opera Project

The new project of the group is that of purchasing opera scores to be presented to the school of music library and placed in the Carnegie room. A benefit bridge party was held in April in order to establish a fund for the purchase of the scores. Maxine Cady Barnes, retiring president of Nu chapter, was in charge of arrangements

Spring Term Highlights

Veterans, Teachers Expected to Swell University June-August Enrollment

By Dorothy Thomson

With the famed Oregon spring term drawing to a close, let's look back at the outstanding events of the last few months and see what news made Emerald first page headlines.

April 2, the first issue of the term came out proudly announcing the high registration totals which eventually climbed to 3802 and shattered all previous spring term enrollment records. More housing space was shifted back to men students and several fraternity houses reopened.

Druids Reorganize

The Oregon chapter of the Order of Druids was reorganized and Bass Dyer elected president. Jean Watson was appointed head of the Mom's Weekend committee.

Oregon was well represented at the Pacific Northwest Student Congress held at Reed college in Portland April 6. Results of the meet were covered in the Emerald.

April 10 the Emerald burst forth with the amazing news that men outnumbered women on the University campus by 20 percent. Exchange dinners between most of the women's living organizations were held April 11 in honor of the late Dean of Women Hazel Schwing to raise money for the scholarship fund.

Rubinstein at Igloo

On April 17, University students crowded McArthur court to hear Artur Rubinstein, famed Polish pianist. In the ASUO assembly spotlight that week were four University students in a panel discussion of PNCC action to arouse student interest in the atomic age.

Eight finalists for Junior Weekend queen came before a student vote and Pat Metcalf, junior in music, was declared ruler of the gala State Fair festivities. Her court of princesses was composed of Marilyn Rakow, Mary Dixon, June Johnson and Doris Spearow. It was announced by Dorothy Davis, Junior Prom chairman, that Gus Arnheim and his orchestra would play at the Big Dance.

Speech Contest

The University took second place in the Pacific forensic speech league contest held at Stockton, California, April 16 and 17, with Rex Gunn copping two seconds.

Marguerite Wittwer was named editor of the Emerald for 1946-

47 by the educational activities board April 22. In accordance with President Truman's nation-wide food conservation program the University living organizations cooperated by serving a typical famine meal and aiding in the drive.

For the second straight term Delta Delta Delta lead the University in grade point averages with a house average of 2.76. The all-campus average rose from the fall term 2.446 to a 2.501.

'Dear Brutus'

The University theater guild presented James M. Barrie's "Dear Brutus" as their spring term production May 3, 4, 6, 7, and 8. The assembly of April 25 featured Harris Ellsworth, Oregon's representative from the fourth congressional district in a talk entitled "How I Put In My Time As A Congressman."

Odeon, the annual student creative art show, was presented April 28 at Gerlinger hall, under the co-chairmanship of Bob McGill and Pat Smith.

Musicians from more than 40 Oregon high schools gathered on the campus the weekend of May 4 and 5 to compete in the regional music contest. An estimated 1700 students participated in the event.

Food for France

The "Food for France" drive got under way May 7 when men's and women's living organizations were asked to fill two boxes of food and clothing. The "Cemetery Clean-up" drive was well along with its plan to finish up the job by Memorial day.

Junior Weekend traditions were put in effect and Order of the "O" men were on hand to mete out punishment to offenders. The big weekend festivities began May 10, with registration of Oregon mothers, the terrace dance, and the all-campus sing with entries from almost all of the living organizations. Chi Omega and Omega hall carried off top honors in the sing.

Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's honorary, tapped 20 new members at the intermission.

Junior Weekend

"State Fair" antics burst out May 11 with a tug of war between freshmen and sophomore men, carnival float parade, outdoor dinner and coronation of Queen Pat. The Junior Prom was the grand climax of the weekend with the introduction of the queen and her court.

Roy Paul Nelson was appointed editor of the 1946-47 Oregonian on May 13, by the educational activities board.

Prize winning float in the Junior Weekend parade was the "Blue Ribbon Hamus Oreganas" created by Alpha IX Delta and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Kay, Roberts

The ASUO political race took over the spotlight May 15 as Greek candidate Tom Kay and independent Gil Roberts began official campaigning for the Number 1 post. The assembly of May 16 was devoted to ASUO nominations. Winners of the May 21 election were presented at the May 23 assembly as Tom Kay, Gil Roberts, Marge Cowlin and Ted Hallock assumed their offices.

The assembly also featured a discussion by Jay Allen, war correspondent, and a graduate of the University school of journalism.

Lois McConkey was selected one of the two Northwest representatives to attend United Nations conferences next fall.

Oregon's baseball team came out on top and won its fourth straight Northern Division championship and the eighth title in the last 10 years.

May 25 saw the annual Mortar Board formal with the theme "Bachelor Catcher's ball." The annual girl-date boy affair followed out the tradition of girls footing the bills and taking over other gentlemanly duties. The 10:30 intermission highlighted Kwama tapping of 30 outstanding freshman girls.

Has anybody seen two peacocks? Michigan State college grounds department has long wanted to have peacocks flying around the campus, so after being hauled from Battle Creek and fed for weeks they were released—and haven't been seen since.

"So long as we have wars, we can speak of the imperfection of man. The greatest boon that can come to mankind is for the people of the world to work together and strive for the elimination of war. We must believe the world emerging from this war will be better."
—Rabbi Louis J. Cashdan.
