Officials Prepared for Record Registration in Court Today

Registration for the the largest enrollment in the history of the University gets underway today as an estimated 5300 students begin to flood through McArthur court. Highest registration to date was last spring term's peak of 3778.

- Registration steps:
1. Students will go to McArthur court at the time designated on their appointment cards and will pick up their registration material.
 2. Students will then make out their proposed study program and take it to their advisors and have it approved.
 3. At 1 p.m. McArthur court will be open for general registration and students will take their approved study program there and file their class programs with the individual class tables. Study programs will be turned in and fees paid at this time. reservations for specific times for enrollment in the University. Old students have registration appointments for today and Thursday and appointments for new students are slated for Friday.

Di Benedetto Says '46 Best of Homecoming

Benny DiBenedetto, senior in architecture, has been appointed general chairman of the thirtieth annual Oregon Homecoming scheduled for Oct. 18, 19, and 20, according to an announcement from the Educational Activities board. The 1946 Homecoming "will be the biggest ever, and we expect a record turnout," according to DiBenedetto.

Anyone interested in working on the Homecoming committees can turn in their petitions to the general chairman at the Sigma Chi Epsilon house.

First Duck Assembly Rolls Tonight in Igloo

Publication, Honorary Leaders President Tom Kay to Introduce

The first ASUO assembly of the school year will roll off at 7:30 Thursday evening in McArthur court, Tom Kay, ASUO president, has announced. At the assembly Kay will introduce Webfoot publication and honorary heads.

Among the persons to be introduced at the assembly will be Roy Paul Nelson, editor of the Old Oregon; Margueritt Wittwer, editor of the Emerald; George Pegg, business manager of the Emerald; Robbieburr Courtney, business manager of the Oregana.

Neophyte Majors Meet New Deans

Highlight of Freshman Week on the campus is a series of meetings at 7:30 p.m. tonight in various University buildings where deans and department heads will talk with their prospective new majors. New students at the University will learn the details of work in their proposed major field and will meet the faculty adviser who will later help plan study programs.

Students majoring in journalism will assemble in two groups. (Please Turn to Page Eight)

Joan Williams, president of Kwama, sophomore women's honorary; Bill Barum, president of Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's honorary; Barbara Fullmer, president of Phi Theta, junior women's honorary; Ed Marshall, president of Druids, junior men's honorary; Benny DiBenedetto, Homecoming chairman, and Tom Hazzard, yell king. There will be song sheets given out at the assembly, Hazzard has said, and he will lead a couple of cheers and a song.

Morse Dinner Talk Sketches GOP Rise During Coming Fall Political Campaign

By DALE HARLAN

During dinner with Oregon's junior senator Wayne L. Morse, former dean of Oregon's law school, a few informal remarks concerning Republican prospects gave a good picture of the coming fall political fight. There is no doubt, he said, of a Republican majority in the house of representatives after the November elections but such a majority in the senate he considered improbable.

Party leaders who are forecasting that the GOP will carry the senate are overoptimistic, Morse feels, although he does concur with Carroll Reece, national GOP chairman, in his prediction that the senate will have at least five more Republican seats.

The GOP would gain this fall, Morse felt, not because of any party program but because "contrary to professional politicians, political movements do go in cycles and right now the American people are convinced, and fortunately so, that they have had enough of the present administration and that any change will be for the better."

Oregon Yell King Plans Rally Squad

Oregon's rally squad will be an entirely new organization this year, Tom Hazzard, Webfoot yell king, has revealed. It is tentatively planned to have four women and three men on the arm-waving side of the squad with as many more behind the scenes doing organizational work as is necessary. The "unseen" part of the squad will help with the set-up of rallies, dances, and games, Hazzard said.

Petition for coed members of the rally squad should be turned in to Tom Kay, ASUO president, before Tuesday, Sept. 24, Hazzard has announced. There will be a meeting of the executive council on that date to consider petitions. Application for petitions may be obtained at the dean of women's office.

Men turning out for rally squad and yell duke posts should contact Hazzard on Wednesday, Sept. 25 at 3 p.m. at the educational activities office in McArthur court.

Ex-G.I.'s Croud New Hudson House

Hudson house No. 1, the new veterans' dorm located south of the education building opened Sunday and will be filled by the end of the week according to Will and professor of physics at the University.

The second house situated north of the music building, will be opened winter term. Each building will accommodate approximately 386 men in double and single rooms, doubling-up is now necessary in some of the completed rooms in order that more veterans may attend school this term.

1947 Oregana Sale

Sale of the 1947 Oregana begins today at registration, Robbieburr Courtney, manager of the yearbook, announced Tuesday. The fall term sale ends Saturday, Sept. 21.

Because of the increased enrollment and paper shortage all students should buy their Oreganas now, Mrs. Courtney said. It might not be possible to fill later orders.
