

Old Oregon Head Named

Harry Glickman, junior in journalism, has been named editor of Old Oregon, University alumni publication, for 1946-47. Lester Anderson, alumni secretary, has announced. Glickman, who served with the infantry during the war, attended Oregon prior to his service in 1943. He returned to the campus for spring term of this year.

During his first years on the campus he was active in student affairs, serving on numerous class and student body committees. He worked for two years on the Emerald and is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, and Druids, junior men's honorary.

Dr. Pallett Greets New UO Students

New students at the University were welcomed to the Oregon campus Sunday by Executive Secretary Earl M. Pallett at an assembly in McArthur court. The students were introduced to many phases of campus life and some of the personalities they will encounter during Freshman Week.

An announcement was made at the assembly concerning the ASUO assembly Thursday evening at 7:30. The place of the assembly will be McArthur court instead of the music building as published in the Welcome book.
