Italian Talk Presented

Dr. Henry Russell Spencer, professor of political science at Ohio State university, spoke on the Oregon campus Aug. 9. His subject was "Italy's Resurrection."

Oregon Federation Producing Movie

The Oregon federation will produce a new, three-reel motion picture publicizing the University of Oregon, according to Lester Anderson, alumni secretary.

The school of journalism will be in charge of the scenario, which will have a definite plot, probably following a boy and girl through their four years at the University, Mr. Anderson said.

Starting with Homecoming in October, all major University events will be recorded on film by Dr. Curtis Reid of the department of visual instruction. The film will be processed and ready for showing by next summer.

During the summer Anderson visited every community in Oregon, meeting students interested in entering the University. According to Anderson the purpose of the trip was "informational and educational rather than promotion work." He reported a large turn-out of students throughout the state, and said that a similar program will be carried in future years in order to bring high-quality, well-informed students to the campus.

The average college coed wears a size 14 dress.

KOAC MAKES PLANS

A meeting of the KOAC production staff will be held sometime next week to discuss plans for the year, according to Marvin Krenk, instructor in speech. A definite time will be announced later.

The University will have a weekly program over KEX this year on Wednesday evenings. The station now has two new outlets, KUGN and the FM station.

The Gift Shop rates an "A plus" for gift suggestions throughout the year.
