

Night Extension To Hit Record

In line with the many other all-time records at the University this year, Mr. Lawrence M. Tomlinson, secretary, general extension division, Monday said that he expected enrollment in the night extension classes at the University this fall to surpass all previous records.

Students, veterans, and townspeople who have the interest and the registration fees may enroll in these courses, many of which offer college credit, with some providing either graduate or undergraduate credit.

Opening Date

Monday, September 30, was the opening date for this program which will continue through Friday, December 13. Attendance at the first meeting of a class is strongly advised by the extension service, since class organization will depend upon attendance. Registration and payment of fees may be made at the first meeting of each class.

A pamphlet giving further particular details about this program may be secured at the Eugene Extension Center, 1191 University street, telephone 3300, Extension 291.
