

Journalism Students Quiz City Manager After Talk

Deane Seeger, Eugene city manager, was the target Wednesday for a bombardment of questions by journalism students at an informal discussion in the school of journalism.

In answer to questions as to whether the millrace would be ready for the spring festivities, Seeger replied that it would be an impossibility to have water in the millrace. The city does not yet own the millrace, said Seeger, and even if the race were purchased before winter, it would be dry in the spring to facilitate the building of a new 4 lane highway which will border the race.

A plan is being worked out at present, stated Seeger, whereby, with the financial aid of the University, the city would be able to purchase, and to maintain, the race. The completion of these plans will not be possible before next fall.

Students showed interest in the Thirteenth avenue traffic problem, as questions were asked of Seeger as to the city's plan for detouring traffic. The manager said that a plan was ready to be presented to the city council on October 14 which would have the traffic diverted from Thirteenth avenue between Alder and University streets each hour of the day from 8 in the morning until 5 in the afternoon. Traffic will be halted at ten minutes to the hour until the hour.

In an informal speech preceding the question period, the city manager discussed the merits of the city manager type of government. He outlined briefly the duties of a city manager.

Manager Seeger was introduced by Hillier Kriehbaum, associate professor of journalism.

Revisions for Oregon High Schools Completed

Revisions affecting the high schools of the state are now completed, according to F. L. Stetson, professor of secondary education, who attended a meeting of committees appointed by the state department and high school principals in Salem Wednesday.

On October 14, the revisions will be submitted to high school principals for approval and if accepted, the state department will incorporate the accepted changes into new standards, Professor Stetson said.

ROTC Cadet Rolls Doubled

Fall term initial cadet enrollment of 337 showed Wednesday that the University department of military science and tactics is training twice as many potential reserve army officers as its average term registration during 1945-46.

Exactly a year ago ROTC courses had 207 students, but this figure dropped to 161 for winter term and to 123 in spring.

This year marks the return of advanced courses to the department. Advanced infantry and air corps trainees now total 53. This number swells the over-all total, which includes both freshman and sophomore classes which are larger than last year's.

Experienced Help Now Available to Employers

With a growing number of job-seeking students placing their names on the files, the campus branch of the US employment service announced Wednesday that employers may hire students experienced in many lines of work.

Mrs. Lucille Parsons, branch manager of the employment office, listed salesmen, typists, and secretaries as leading categories in which many students are well qualified.

Interested students should drop into the agency occasionally, Mrs. Parsons urged, as many "rush orders" come which demand immediate action. Students should also make sure that the office has their telephone number, she said.

House of representatives has accepted the "anti-war" constitution for Japan.

World Topics Lead On Lecture Series

University lecture series, featuring at least ten prominent speakers has been arranged and will begin in December, R. H. Ernst, chairman of the lecture committee, said Wednesday.

Dr. Ernst emphasized that the series are not for the faculty exclusively and that students and townspeople are invited to attend.

Speakers will include Henri Frankfort, Egyptologist, who will speak on the "Egyptian Mind"; and Henry G. Leach, head of the Scandinavian and American foundation, who will discuss "Scandinavian versus American Democracy." Spanish educator and diplomat Manuel Lopez-Rey has chosen "The South American Mind and Temper."

Other speakers will include Louis B. Wright, Elizabethan scholar from the Huntington library; Melvin Raeder, from the University of Washington department of philosophy; and Peter Odegard, former Columbia university political science professor.

Eldon Johnson and P. L. Risley, heads of the University political science and biology departments respectively, will also speak.

With the cooperation of Sigma Xi, national science honorary, several scientific speakers will be added to the series at a later date.

New Seating

The next meeting of the board on November 12, was set as the deadline for ordering the Oregon. All registered students who have not ordered by that time will be placed on a waiting list as the surplus is reserved for winter and spring term registrants.

The board also approved Oregon Editor Roy Paul Nelson's recommendation to increase the number of pages from 424 to 440.

Jack Billings, senior in journalism, was approved as managing editor of the Emerald, to replace Tommy Wright.

An appropriation was made for a faculty-alumni reception at Gerlinger hall between 8 and 10 p.m., Saturday, October 19.

The board, which sponsors most of the campus activities, includes the voting members, chairman; Dan Clark, head of history department; C. G. Howard, professor of law; Theodore Kratt, dean of the school of music; Tom Kay, ASUO president; Bea King, AWS president; and Ted Hallock, ASUO secretary-treasurer.

The non-voting members are Orville Lindstrom, treasurer and business manager of the University; Marguerite Wittwer, Emerald editor; and Roy Paul Nelson, Oregon editor.

President Truman called for 'cooperation of industry, labor, and government' in his message to A. F. of L. convention.

Verse Fantasy And Interview On Radio Show

Today at 4 p.m. the first student radio show of fall term will be broadcast from KOAC. An original script by Marvin Krenk entitled Edipus Morple, Globe Manufacturer Extraordinary, will begin the program. The cast for this verse fantasy will include Paul Marcotte, John MacDonald, Don Stewart, Lloyd Domaschofsky, Jack Puffinbarger, and Lee Petrask. The plot complications concern a globe manufacturer and his business during the recent war when boundary lines were a thing of the moment.

At 4:30 an interview will be had with the Emerald printer, Ste. Cady, announced by Dave Waite and produced by Eloise Rockwell.

Something for you will be presented at 4:45 featuring the Alpha Gamma Delta trio, Pat Smith, Marie Peery, and Ann Jean Winters, singing current and all-time popular numbers including "Always," "To Each His Own," "Moon Mist," and "Mood Indigo." Shirley Peters, producer, is responsible for the script of this show.

Two four-long programs will be presented each week as follows: Monday from 8 to 9 p.m. and Thursday from 4 to 5 p.m.

"Wow! This job sure keeps me hopping!"

BELIEVE me, fitting all the new dial and manual switch-board equipment and long distance facilities into Bell System central offices all around the country is keeping me mighty busy!

"In a single big dial exchange there may be 4,000 miles of wire. I may have to solder 2,500,000 connections before everything's ready for you to dial a number.

"Besides installing this complex apparatus, I build it. That's part of my job as manufacturer for the Bell System.

"I also purchase all manner of things for the Bell Telephone Companies... and distribute these supplies to them along with the equipment I make.

"Ever since 1882, I've been helping to make our nation's telephone service the best in the world. Today... with the Bell System's construction program of more than $2,000,000,000 in full swing... I'm busier than ever.

"Remember my name... it's Western Electric."
