

Group Hears Chinese Girl

"Peace and democracy are the two chief wishes of the Chinese people today," stated Miss Chang Shen, Chinese student relief worker, in an address Wednesday night at the "Y" Bungalow.

"The Chinese would welcome any aid from the United States or Russia if either country would give them their wishes," said Miss Shen.

Explaining the higher educational system in China, Miss Shen said, "any student is eligible, but only one out of every 20 ever attend college. Due to the fact that professors receive low pay and books are hard to obtain, their college graduate is about equal to an American sophomore."

"A university student never has any time of his own. They get up at 5:30 and go to bed at 8:30. Every minute of the day is filled with classes, study, or work regulated by the college," she stated.

The "Y" bungalow was filled to capacity to hear the talk.

Photo Schedule Listed

Photo schedules for house pictures were released by Warren Miller, associate editor of the Oregonian, for the week from October 14 to 18. Homecoming celebration takes top priority next weekend eliminating a schedule for Friday and Saturday.

Houses listed are as follows: Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, October 14; Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Omicron Pi, and Alpha Xi Delta, October 15; Chi Omega, and Delta Delta Delta, October 16; Delta Gamma and Delta Zeta, October 17.

Fellowship to Meet

The UO fellowship will hold its first meeting with their new adviser, Miss Rosilind Rinker, Monday, October 14, at the YMCA. The Oregon fellowship is affiliated with the intervarsity Christian fellowship, with headquarters in Chicago. Miss Rinker is a new member of the staff of advisers, with former service in the China inland mission.

UCLA Over Stanford

Those Galloping Gaels from St. Marys journey to Berkeley this weekend to meet a California team still smarting from its defeat at the hands of the Webfoots. While their last week victory over Alameda Navy is not a true indicator, the Gaels look wonderful . . . St. Marys by two touchdowns.

Michigan State, always a tough team when they play in their own league, engages the much-talked about Mississippi State team. It looks like a close contest but . . . Miss. State by one touchdown.

With game time little more than 24 hours away, the drums are beating louder and louder for the Montana Grizzlies. What effect Tex Oliver's suddenly announced resignation will have on team's spirit is not known, but it is known that the Webfoots can play brilliant football, with or without All-American Jake Leicht, and so, despite the last minute gourd-thumping of the publicity experts . . . Oregon by 16 points.

The Illinois-Indiana fray Saturday has fans from coast to coast guessing. After two defeats in a row, Bo McMillans boys turned on the heat and romped roughshod over Minnesota. Illinois floundered her many fans in losing a not so close game to Notre Dame. Nevertheless . . . Illinois by two touchdowns.

The Portland Pilots, who must have learned something from their last two defeats, take on the always rugged Santa Clara eleven. Again, way out on limb, but . . . Portland U by one touchdown.

Ohio State, victor over USC last week 21-0 meets Wisconsin Badger, who also had a good day when he tangled with California the week before. Acting on the premise that USC is a better team than California . . . Northwestern by two touchdowns.

Idaho travels to the great Midwest for an intersectional game with Marquette. The Marquette eleven is anything but sensational, and it looks like Vets Dorm AA could beat Idaho. A flip of the coin, and . . . Marquette by two touchdowns.

The Columbia-Yale game, always a hard fought contest, takes on added interest this year. Yale has an impressive victory over Colgate to its credit, and Columbia last week scored an upset victory over the Navy . . . Columbia by two touchdowns.

Minnesota fans remember with longing the days when the Golden ter another. This Saturday's game Gophers trampled down one foe af- with Northwestern is not calculated to make the Gopher fans any happier . . . Northwestern by two touch-downs.
