Today Opens Tradition Rule For Freshmen

Frosh Hazing to Instill Old Pre-War Spirit

Homecoming traditions will again prevail for the first time since 1942 with the express idea of instilling pre-war spirit into the football minded campus, Mary Rasmussen, chairman of the traditions committee, announced Monday. Names of offenders will be taken by members of the Order of O beginning today.

The following traditions will be enforced until Saturday; the painting of the "O" on Skinner's Butte by freshman men; the scrubbing of the Oregon seal in back of Villard hall; the freshman bonfire; no walking on the grass on any part of the campus; no smoking on old campus which is on north side of Thirteenth street.

Freshman girls will wear green ribbons at all times and underclassmen are not permitted to wear cords. Female offenders will be dunked in the bird bath between Fenton and Deady. Male offenders will have the optional choice of taking hacks or being dunked.

The traditions of Homecoming have been sanctioned by the heads of Greek and Independent living organizations as well as campus officers. Order of the O officers Leroy Erickson, Al Popick and Bob Reynolds have promised that no names will be turned in except those of violators.

Libraries to Present New Staff Member

Dr. R. C. Swank, new librarian from the University of Minnesota, will be presented at the house librarian's meeting today at 4 in Gerlinger hall, Miss Bernice Rise, circulation librarian, said Monday.

The meeting, which will be a combined business and social affair, will be attended by Karl Onthank, dean of personnel administration.

Education Official University Quest

Miss Helen Manley of the United States office of education, Washington, D. C., was a guest Saturday of Eugene and the University, with a reception held in her honor in Gerlinger hall.

Miss Manley, president of the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, spoke to elementary school principals on Monday afternoon and now continues her northwest tour in preparation for her organization's 1947 convention in Seattle, April 21.

Saturday morning at Roosevelt junior high, Miss Manley visited the sessions of the Oregon unit of the American association. Instructor Ray Hendrickson of the University department of education heads the state group of coaches, health instructors, physical education teachers, recreation directors, and professional students.

Sign Expense Accounts Due This Afternoon

All living organizations on the campus must have their expense accounts for the sign contest turned in to Janet Hicks, of Pi Beta Phi, or Don Dole, of Pi Kappa Alpha by 5 p.m. today, contest officials announced Monday.

Signs should be finished by 3 p.m. Friday in order to get in on the judging, which will start promptly at 6. The judges will pick the best Homecoming sign by Friday evening, according to Miss Hicks, who said outdoor lighting for the signs is preferred.

City Promises New Fire Home On UO Campus

University to Acquire Station and Equipment

Deane Seeger, Eugene city manager, stated in a talk before journalism students, that the University would soon get a firehouse and pumper, with crew supplied by the city. The school will install the building, which was a part of the Kaiser housing project in Vancouver, Washington, as soon as the materials arrive.

Fire Chief W. E. Nusbaum, stated that only part of the crew would be furnished by Eugene, with the rest coming from part time men supplied by the University and added that the possibilities for another truck to go with the pumper are good.

The pump truck and the building, which will be shipped in sections, has not arrived yet, but city officials are expecting it very soon. This equipment comes from the vacant housing project.

Grad Scholars Throng Campus

An unprecedented 212 per cent increase over last fall's enrollment brings the graduate school registration this term to a total of 321 students, the graduate division has disclosed.

The school of liberal arts claims almost a third of these students, with an enrollment of 104. Interest in the law is shown by an enrollment of 77 in the law school. The fields of business administration and education are tied for third place with 37 each, while the architecture and allied arts school has a registration of 33. Physical education and music are credited with 18 and 9, respectively, and the field of journalism trails with an enrollment of 6.

The ratio of 239 men to 82 women students in the graduate school follows the current pattern of almost 3 to 1.

BATON MAN . . . George Boughton, violinist, member of UO music school faculty, will direct Eugene Symphony orchestra.

City Council Approves Temporary Barricades

Kincaid and University Streets Affected; Stop Lights May Be Installed Later

Approval of a resolution to allow the University to block the campus portion of Thirteenth during the changing of classes was given by the Eugene city council Monday night. Under the plan, barricades will be placed across the intersections of Thirteenth and Kincaid, and Thirteenth and University during the 10 minutes between each change of classes. Stop lights, coordinated with the University bell system, may be stalled later, it was stated.

SINGIN' THE BLUES . . . Jackson Teagarden, slip-horn artist, who will entertain Ducks at the Homecoming dance Saturday.

2400 Will Attend Homecoming Hop

Tickets for the 1946 Homecoming dance, featuring the orchestra of Jack Teagarden and scheduled for Saturday, October 19 at 9 p.m. in McArthur court, are going fast, Marty Pond, head of the dance committee, announced Monday. Attendance of approximately 1200 couples was assured as house representatives reported early sell-outs of their ticket allotments.

"A Home for Homecoming" will be the theme of the dance with posters on either side of the bandstand depicting campus life before and after having the hoped-for Student Union building. Another poster will typify "day dreams of a Webfoot." Posters are being done by Sandy Pierce, Shirley Gilbert, and Bev Pitman.

The dance committee members are: programs, John Helmer and Elizabeth Gilmore; decorations, Marilyn Stratton, Pat Webber and Sue Sullivan; refreshments and patrons, Anne Burgess; orchestra, John Lewis and Don Pinkerton; tickets, Bob Daggett and Barbara Patterson.

Signs Erected As Safety Guide

New action on the traffic front on Thirteenth street is evidenced in the street sign located in front of Johnson hall. Installed Monday, the sign has the following message for careless drivers: "Danger, University of Oregon, Student Crossing, Proceed with Caution." The words "danger" and "caution" are printed in red to emphasize the importance of thoughtful driving.

Thespians Hold Tests

Initial tryouts for the second Guild hall production will be held today, University Theater Director Horace Robinson announced Monday. Interested students are to be in room 1, Johnson hall at 4 p.m. Future readings will be announced later.

Blocks will be placed at the east side of the Kincaid intersection and on the west side of the University crossing. This will allow traffic to make right and left turns off Thirteenth during the time of blockading.

Permission was granted by the council with the understanding that the plan would be tried as an experiment under the jurisdiction of the University.

The barricades, which will be handled by the University, will be used between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. only during days on which there are classes. Suitable signs will clearly mark alternative routes for motorists during the hours that Thirteenth is closed.

Trucks, unless they have business with the University, will henceforth be prohibited from the campus. Oregon motor stages, which has four outbound buses that would be caught by the barricade, has consented to alter their schedules to meet the change.

The plan, which was recommended to the street committee after consultations between Deane Seeger, city manager, and Harry K. Newburn, University president, also provides for the securing of temporary parking space in the empty lots at Fourteenth and Alder and Thirteenth and Alder. The latter is owned by the Sacred Heart hospital. The University owns the other.

Parking will be prohibited on part of the west side of Kincaid under the resolution, which passed the council by a unanimous vote.

English Division Changes Faculty

Faculty changes announced Saturday, October 12, include Violet Virginia Kempston and Margaret Williams Pepperdene who have been added to the staff of the English department.

University of Oregon is the alma mater of Miss Kempston. Since her graduation in 1940 she studied home economics at Oregon State College and then taught in Oregon high schools. For the last year, she has been research assistant at the Seafoods Laboratory at Astoria, Oregon.

Mrs. Pepperdene was a teaching fellow in the English department of the University of Tennessee in 1942-43. She received her baccalaureate degree from Louisiana State university in 1941.

Psych Grades Available

Students wishing to know the results of psychology tests given at the beginning of the semester should go to room 302 Condon hall between 2 and 5 p.m. Miss Leona Tyler, assistant professor of psychology, will assist students in determining grade scores. Advice will be given to those who may need guidance.
