Talented Seniors, Mortar Boards, Name Campus Interests, Activities

By BETH BASLER

No, those girls seen in the slick white jackets and navy blue skirts every Monday do not just happen to be dressed alike. They are the select group of women chosen from this year's senior class to be members of Mortar Board, and if you look closely you will see the small chenille mortar board emblem on their jacket pockets.

They receive this recognition by being outstanding on the campus, both in leadership and scholarship. During the year Mortar Board sponsors many events, including teas at which outstanding speakers are introduced, awarding of scholarships, the Smarty Party for freshman girls making a three-point or better, and the girl-date-boy Mortar Board ball.

Chub Pilots MB's

President of the group this year is Jean Watson, of the wide brown eyes, and husky voice. Her activities include AWS council, assembly committee, chairman of Mothers' Weekend, and chairman for the Oregon Federation of Collegiate Leaders convention. "Chub," as she is known, spent most of the summer traveling, with stops in Washington, D. C., and New York.

Eastern Interest

Blurb and publicity writing was the exciting summer job of Marilyn Sage, whose campus activities include president of the Co-op board, co-chairman of Junior Weekend, and president of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism fraternity. "A blurb," Marilyn explained, "is the publicity material written on a book jacket." Her job was with McGraw-Hill company with offices just a block from Times Square in New York. Marilyn exclaimed that it was the most wonderful summer she has ever spent.

Petite and charming Pat Metcalf became Mrs. Lowell Chase shortly after school was out in the spring and spent the major part of the summer in Eugene. Junior Weekend queen was Pat's title for one wonderful weekend last spring. Pat has a great deal of musical talent, her instrument being the piano. She is a member of Phi Beta music honorary which is in line with her musical ability.

Shackrat DeLuxe

Vivacious Emerald editor Marguerite (Beaver) Wittwer was married to Tommy Wright on June 14 and they honeymooned in San Francisco. She worked as managing editor of the Lebanon Express through July. The rest of the summer was spent "buying things for the apartment and fixing it up," as Beaver put it. Beaver was class secretary her junior year, is on the Student Union committee and is a member of Theta Sigma Phi.

YWCA President Marge Skordahl is a capable and poised Mortar Board. Highlight of her summer was a trip to Iowa with her mother and fiance. A job in her home town of Nampa, Idaho, occupied the remainder of Marge's summer. In her junior year Marge was a Phi Theta, winner of Gerlinger cup, and she has been active in the YWCA during her school career.

Religious Week Head

Current interest of Martha Thorsland is Religious Emphasis week, for she is chairman. "We are hoping to bring religion into a more prominent place on the campus and to interest everyone in hearing the 13 out-of-town speakers who will be here for the entire week," Martha stated. Martha is vice-president of the YWCA, and was a finalist in the recent contest for Homecoming Hostess.

Friendly is the word for Virginia Scholl, president of WAA, for two years city desk editor of the Emerald and women's sports editor of the Oregonian. A little more time in the air, and Ginny will be able to solo, for she is learning to fly in a little Taylorcraft trainer plane.

Capable business manager of the University theater is Marge Allingham. Almost any hour of the day or night you may find her cheerfully doing "theater work." A delegate to the national convention of her sorority, held in Spring Lake, N. J.,

Homecoming Aftermath

Home was her sailor—home from the sea; And the soldier back in her league—She heard about combat and take it from me, She's resting from battle fatigue.

Marge had an opportunity to "see America first." This she did by going the southern route and visiting New York and Chicago on her return trip.

Lyric soprano, June Johnson, worked at Timberline Lodge during the summer, where she says she met many wonderful girls. She sang during the dinner hour, which was really not work at all for music is June's hobby as well as her major. June is a member of Phi Beta music honorary and Alpha Kappa Delta, sociology honorary. She was a princess in the Junior Weekend court last spring.

Past president of WAA, president of Kappa Alpha Theta house, and member of the executive council for Panhellenic are only a few of the positions held by vivacious Gay Edwards. A trip to the Theta convention at the beginning of the summer was the highlight of Gay's vacation. A political science major, Gay plans to work in the nation's capital upon graduating in June.

UC Graduate Presents Student Plans to UN

Lois McConkey Putnam, the University's representative to the Pacific Northwest College congress last April, presented the congress' resolutions to the American delegation of the United Nations assembly yesterday.

Accepting the resolutions, Warren Austin, head of the American delegation and former United States senator from Vermont, said "the war of arms is over, but the war of ideas may last for some time" and that "student groups will have a tremendous effect on world relations."

Visits University

Lois flew by plane to New York Sunday after she and her husband, Charles Putnam, spent Homecoming weekend at the University. Troy Stevens of the College of Puget Sound, the other representative of the 31 Pacific Northwest colleges, met her there. They will spend about two weeks in New York attending sessions of the United Nations assembly.

At the college congress Lois was elected secretary of the section discussing economic and social problems of the post-war world and assisted in drawing up the final resolutions adopted by the assembly of students.

Congress Recommendations

Among the recommendations passed were: that an international bill of rights be drawn up, that a legislative branch of the United Nations be formed, that attempts be made to abolish trade restrictions among nations, and that the secret of the atomic bomb be released to the United Nations and controlled in the United States by a civilian commission.

An economics major, she was graduated from the University last June and soon afterward married Charles Putnam who is also a University graduate. Since that time they have been living in San Francisco.

While attending the University, Lois was a member of Alpha Chi Omega and was a princess in the 1945 Junior Weekend court. She was also a member of the rally squad, and during her senior year headed the rally committee.

The Gad-a-bout

By PAT KING

Alums and guests were given royal receptions for Homecoming last weekend with several of the houses going all out in grand style. The Theta Chis rented the El Cap for an alum dinner and 200 couples showed up before and during the Teagarden dance.

SAE had 'em hanging out the windows Saturday night with 200 people attending their Open House. Sigma Alpha Mu hosted alums Jack Slatzman and Ray Packhouse, Friars, and Morry Stein, past house president.

Phi Psis Host

Robert Miller, better known as "Hack," now a high school teacher in Silvertown, Oregon; Jim Harding, Portland; Ed Sturgeon and Larry Fisher stopped in at the Phi Psi house for the weekend. The Phi Deltas treated their alums to a party at the Del Rey after the game Saturday. Pi Kappa Alpha was visited by their national secretary, Wendell Gray.

Schedule for tonight's exchange list:

Fall Fashions

By JACKIE WACHHORST and MARY HIBBITT

The big weekend is over, but there is always another one to look forward to. Foremost in the mind of every coed is the problem of what to wear on this weekend's date. The ever popular short silks and dressy coats will be our subject for this week's column.

Saturday night's dance was a veritable fashion show. Black, as usual, was the most popular shade for date dresses. A flash of trimming added the spark. Crepe was predominate, and the styles were right in the height of fashion. We saw the glimmer of sequins and shimmering lame. Many of the dresses featured all sequin bodices, and some were peppered with bright colored beading.

Postwar Material

Lame, the war, is forgotten and during the last, is back with us and definitely in the limelight. Gold, especially, has made a hit. It is being featured on black or brown dresses as a sleeve, neck, or belt trimming.

Simple but stunning are the severely plain black crepes which feature the sheath or drape effects. In the minority, but outstanding, are the bright colored creps, electric blue and shocking pink. Emerald green is another color not to be forgotten.

Wools are being worn this fall for the dressiest occasions. Soft wool jerseys in pastel colors are suitable for any date. Some wools are designed for more formal wear by following the styles with drapes, folds, and sparkling trims.

Simple, Yet Smart

Simplicity of line and design can't help but mean a smart coat. The perennial black chesterfield seems to be the favorite for any event. Oregon coeds wear these coats for sport and dress, and even as a formal wrap.

Fur trimmed cloth coats are beautiful, and many girls can be seen wearing them. Smartest this year are those with tuxedo fronts, either in the finger-tip or full length.

A chill's a thrill for gals who are lucky enough to own a fur coat. Beaver, muskrat, and leopard are the leading furs with the college set, because they are so versatile and can be worn with any color or fabric.
