Campus Colds Not Sulfa Bait

A peak in contagious colds, spread by University students, will be reached towards the latter part of this month, Fred N. Miller, health service director, and Marion G. Hays, assistant University physician, predict Friday.

Already the cold wave, which has taken a weekly average of four victims a week to the infirmary, and the many cases of coughs and slight sniffles throughout the campus are reaching the proportions of an epidemic.

Estimates of last term's dispensary reports indicate that during the fall term 446 persons were registered in the infirmary with minor or serious cold developments; spring and winter terms together had over 683 persons with colds.

Dr. Hays advises immediate treatment of cold symptoms, coughs, sore throats, and "sniffles" with aspirin and plenty of rest.

Dr. Miller stated that the main cause of the outbreak of colds throughout the campus is the result of students who come from different parts of the country coming together before individual immunity has been developed.

The modern sulfa drug should only be taken in emergencies, Dr. Miller said. "Sulfa does not help thyruis infections," he added.

During the war the armed service used sulfa drugs to prevent complications in serious diseases such as meningitis. At the present time the University infirmary gives sulfa drugs but only in rare cases which are usually not due to cold complications. Death can result if sulfa pills are taken immoderately, Dr. Miller emphasized.

for. The guys in the band swear by him for he is wonderful to get along with. I wonder just how far a guy can slip without realizing that it is all up.

For a terrific vocal, one of the best in years, dig Sinatra and "Bess You Is." His best by a long shot. The boy is really hitting on all fours now. Der Bingle is getting old, voice likewise. Move over, Pappy.

Concert Programs Announced Today

Three days during spring term, April 30, May 1 and 2, will be of special value to music students, when the University Festival of Contemporary Music is in progress on the campus. Dr. Arnold Elston, assistant professor of music, has announced.

Guest performers, faculty, and student groups, including the band and choral union, will be presented. Also on the program will be six prominent lecturers from other institutions.

The concert programs will feature many significant modern works by American composers. Some of these works will have either their first performance anywhere or their first performance on the west coast at the festival. Composers to be represented will include such outstanding men as Aaron Copeland, Walter Piston, Paul Hindemith, Bela Bartok, and Igor Stravinsky.

Dean Onthank to Attend Personnel Meetings

Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, left the campus Wednesday for Portland, where he will attend the annual meeting of the Northwest Personnel Management association, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

While in Portland Dean Onthank will also attend the Portland Mothers' club annual tea for new mothers, and the fall business meeting of the University of Oregon Mothers.

Lip-Reading Class Added to Program

Lip-reading classes for the deaf and hard-of-hearing are being added to the night extension curriculum of the University, according to Dr. Kenneth S. Wood, director of the University speech correction and hearing clinic.

These classes in lip-reading are open to all those interested in developing skill in speech reading because of partial or complete deafness, or if there is a possibility that they may become deaf.

"As hearing grows less, one becomes more and more dependent upon what he is able to see and interpret," said Dr. Wood. "The best time to begin learning speech reading is while one still has his hearing. The time often comes when even the hearing aid is useless," he added.

Classes for this 12-week course will begin Monday, October 28, at 7:30 p.m. in room 107 Friendly. Registration will take place at the first meeting.
