The following veterans have unfinished business pending at the VA in room 114 at the physical education building.

Raymond P. Armstrong, Robert N. Bailey, Harry N. Butler, Ed Barthelemy, Gordon L. Boice, Louis K. Busch, Thomas E. Collins Jr., Dortha A. Coleman, Edward L. Clucas, Walter Raymond Dean, Robert Don Jr.

A correction on Wednesday's report of the outside earning ceiling. The ceiling is $110 for both married and single veterans.

If a veteran will need more schooling than he can get under the G. I. bill, there is available to residents of the state, Oregon veterans benefits. Under state aid, a veteran will receive a flat $35 a month. Tuition is not paid for under state aid. A veteran cannot receive federal aid and state aid at the same time but if a veteran wants to get benefits of the $35 a month he should take this for the first part of his schooling and let the higher paying G.I. bill provide for the expense which comes with upper division and professional work.

However, if a veteran can get all the schooling he needs under the G. I. bill, there is no use concerning himself with the $35 state bill.

The University Veterans' office in the basement of Johnson hall requests the following veterans to report to that office immediately:

Alice Ernst Sells Story on Theatre

An illustrated article on the historic Chinese theater of Portland, written by Alice Henson Ernst, associate professor of English, is to appear soon in the magazine section of the Sunday Oregonian. The story deals with the colorful background of life in the Northwest during its early settlement, and is one of several sketches scheduled on the pioneer theaters of Portland.

The article follows a series written for the Oregon Historical Quarterly called "Stage Annals of Early Oregon," which gave a picture of the theater in its beginning years elsewhere in the state. Two of these, entitled "Theatres of Eugene's Horse and Buggy Days," drawn from the recollections of Willamette valley settlers and from newspaper files, included also the beginnings of dramatic activity at the University.

Mrs. Ernst, who teaches the campus playwriting class, is the author of two books of plays, and writes on special topics for eastern magazines.
