

Help Shortage Solved; Hendricks Diner Open

The dining room of Hendricks hall opened yesterday for the first time this term following a closure caused by help shortage. Girls from Hendrick's and part of the students from Gerlinger hall are now using these facilities, thus in part relieving the congestion at John Straub hall where all dormitory students have eaten since the beginning of the term.

Approximately 160 girls used the newly-opened dining hall yesterday and more are expected by the end of the month.

The "Dreamboat" has left Cairo for home.

BOB WHITELEY

The annual fall cotillion sponsored under the auspices of the school of jurisprudence was without a doubt the outstanding social function of the week. The decor of the 4-H Club building was without parallel, the refreshments exhilarating and unique, the floor, in spite of some vandal who sprinkled gravel copiously all over the area, was marvelous, and the solemnity of the Grand March was only slightly marred by an occasional abdominal rumble. The Who's Whom of the campus attending included: Ernest F. Hinkle and the ever-sprightly Marg Sult, Rt. Hon. James Morrel and a lush job known only as "The Beast", Elliot "the face" Snedecor and Miss Young, Norm Weiner and Mary Bentley, "Trapper" Veatch and his friend from the Theta house, Frank Bosch and Bob MacDonald with two queens from the Gammafies. Law school president Wolfgang Von Kullter spoke briefly from the podium, as well as Head Coach Curly Walker. Intermission music was ably furnished by the new Marcus Winkler jazz combo featuring Marcus on the swing zither, "Major" Gene Brown on the hot gazoo, "The Bulb" Bernard on his ocarina, and Willie Ganong on his tire pump. Kermit Smythe rendered "Nearer My God to Thee" on an odd contraption constructed of old sarsaparilla bottles. Brad Fracher spent most of his time meditating in front of the fireplace trying to sweat out a severe cold he contracted while dipping salmon at Celilo last weekend. Numerous inquiries have been made from the various sorority houses as to who had the golden voiced tenor in the subsequent serenade. The Bobby Breen of the law school is none other than "Crazy Legs" Carmacheal, girls. Sally Bosch of the Kappa Klan, after tedious research into the baby sitting problem, was unanimously elected "the sitter we'd rather sit with" and will receive a copy of Child Care and Training. "Wotta dance." (pd. adv.)

Today's World

NEW YORK: Sir Carl Berendsen, New Zealand's minister to Washington, denounced the veto voting rule before the United Nations assembly Monday, and declared that small nations have "no voice and no vote."

WASHINGTON: President Truman told a news conference Monday that there will be no coal strike. John L. Lewis is to meet with him to discuss the issue.

SAN FRANCISCO: Negotiations for the settlement of the four-week-old maritime strike on the west coast continue.

PEIPING: Government troops of China launched an offensive to cut off the Chinese Communists from support by sea.

WASHINGTON: President Truman named TVA Chairman David Lilienthal to head the new Atomic Energy commission.

Mill Race Fate

If it were decided that the mill race should be repaired, it would not be in its former condition for at least a year and a half and probably longer, according to Seeger.

The reason for this is the fact that the conduits cannot be laid and completed until the new highway is under construction and probably completed.

One cost to the University if the mill race project were to go through would be an agreement that it pay for water used by the University for irrigation purposes.

taken in designing the building for fire prevention. The structure is of concrete and all sleeping quarters are fireproof. The plan of exits is described by the state fire marshal as one of the finest he has ever approved.

Probably the most outstanding feature of the plans is the kitchen, which will be one of the most sanitary and best arranged in the Pacific northwest, Dr. Norris said. Designed to use a minimum amount of labor, the kitchen will be entirely electrical, with such modern facilities as refrigerators for separate items of food and even refrigerators for garbage.

Kitchen Expert Consulted

Consultant in planning the kitchen was D. L. Halverson, director of residence halls in the University of Wisconsin. He is considered the finest kitchen expert in the nation.

Construction of the new dormitory will start as soon as materials are available, according to President Harry K. Newburn. The new building will be self-liquidating, as are all university houses, he pointed out.

list from the registrar's office was not available until October 11.

Work was postponed for three days as the veterans' halls were to be named. However, it was finally necessary to complete the book without this information.

Only 2800 students were listed in the 1946 Pigger's Guide, and seven days of machine time were required. Doubled enrollment will require a longer corresponding time for printing.
