

A Woman's Place . . .

Beauty on the Spot

From the University of British Columbia's "Ubysey," the Emerald has borrowed a popular feature, Beauty on the Spot. Each week a campus beauty will be named in the column, and she will submit a double-spaced, typed article by the following Monday. The subject range is unlimited—anything about which the coed wishes to write.

Refuting that the women on the campus are beautiful but dumb, Jean Merrifield, sophomore in liberal arts, pleasantly agreed to write the feature's first item.

JEAN MERRIFIELD

Offhand one would say that it is not of any nation-shaking importance if a mob of malevolent beings in a certain southern city, namely Atlanta, Georgia, or anywhere else for that matter, hire a dingy hall and conduct a meeting punctuated by bawls of "We hate the Negro! We hate the Jew!" However, continuous Fascist demonstrations like this cannot be completely disregarded by the American public.

Any people contains a small nucleus of hate-mongers, whom we generally view as just sick individuals to be watched by the proper authorities so that disturbances might be prevented or subdued. It is in this light that the majority of us regard an outfit like the recently organized Atlanta group, which calls itself the Columbians. With their colored shirts, shoulder patches, and revered symbol, which incidentally is identical to the one Revlon displays on its Pink Lightning lipstick and fingernail polish, these racial fanatics plan not to control the world, but ultimately only the national government.

A few months ago they began the project of controlling Atlanta, by first dealing with the Negroes and Jews, using the methods of the Ku Klux Klan. When the state of Georgia refused recognition of the organization's charter, it was immediately proclaimed a political party.

Just how long this group, which employs strongarm methods, will continue to function, no one knows. Perhaps we should consider it no more seriously than does the Atlanta chief of police, who feels that this symbol worshipping mob cannot attain any goal, since even the leaders lack all but literacy.

Next week's Beauty on the Spot will be Lois Hill. Her article, not more than 300 words will be due Monday at the Emerald.

Ex-AWS President At Swedish School

Stories of days spent motoring through the beautiful Swedish countryside are among reports received from Sweden of Mrs. Hal Larsen, the former Signe Eklund. Mr. and Mrs. Larson are taking postgraduate courses at one of the oldest universities in Europe, the University of Uppsala. Aside from their classes, they are teaching English to a group of Swedish students.

Visit to Dalerne

One of the most beautiful spots visited by the Larsons was the province of Dalerne, where old customs and dress are being maintained for the benefit of tourists. It was in Dalerne that the American boys were interned during the war. Signe wrote that it was indeed a lovely place to have been interned, equipped with all modern conveniences.

For 100 crowns, equivalent to $27.50 in U. S. currency, they rent a new and modern apartment in the suburbs of Uppsala. An added luxury is a "bastu," similar to a Turkish bath, provided every Friday night.

No Fuel

Signe said in a letter to her parents, that there is plenty of everything in Sweden but fuel. As there are no coal deposits in Sweden, the only fuel is wood or coal imported from Germany. The supply of imported coal from this source was, of course, cut down during the war.

Copper, glassware, and a beautiful and efficient Swedish fire place called a "kekslugn" are among the souvenirs the Larsons are sending home.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Larson graduated from the University of Oregon last spring. Signe was a member of Mortar Board, and president of the AWS her senior year.

Emerald Seeks Oregon's 'Unknown Sweetheart'

Oregon's new contest, the search for the "Unknown Sweetheart," is being sponsored by the women's page, but the publicity is being handled by a prominent man about campus. We may not disclose the writer's name, but he has announced that his system of finding the contest winner will be unique and amazing. Opening the Pigger's guide arbitrarily and throwing darts at the names of the coeds listed will constitute the first step in finding the unknown queen.

Who is the "Unknown Sweetheart" of the campus?

Before you shake your heads and turn to the sports page, leave us digress. For years on this celebrated campus there have been the proverbial popularity contests, with various shapely girls eagerly vying for the title of Oregon's Dream Girl, "Smiles a Million Girl," "Fire-side Sweetheart," "Queen of the Campus Girl," ad infinitum.

All of the contest winners have been popular in campus activities, belonging to numerous committees, honoraries, and organizations. Their faces are familiar to most of the campus, and we always hear, "There goes so and so—she was just elected to the new "Oregon's Lotion Cream Girl," and immediately she's labeled as a big wheel on the campus. It's the same old story, year after year, and the contests are always run along the same rut. Pick your activity girls (what is meant by activity) of the living organizations, and then stand behind them and push.

What the Emerald is trying to do is to find somewhere on this campus an average, intelligent and capable queen who doesn't belong to anything. She isn't interested in committees, doesn't belong to a string of honoraries, isn't a political wheel, and to put it bluntly, is down here at Oregon to get an education. Our unknown sweetheart is somewhere on this campus, and we're going to find her.

Movies to Include Walt Disney Film

"South of the Border with Disney," a 40 minute Walt Disney film, will be featured at 207 Chapman tonight at 7:30, Activities Manager Dick Williams said Tuesday.

"The Tragedy of Mt. Everest" and "Himalayan Thrills," both about mountain climbing, will also be shown.

It is estimated that college enrollments may reach 2,000,000 by 1950.

The Gad-a-bout

By PAT KING

The pallor of a weekend hangover shrouded the campus Monday morning as haggard students, wearing the Purple Heart under their eyes, crawled in a stupor from one class to the other. The campus has perked up though and the outlook appears brighter as we get down to a little socializing tonight.

Those houses holding preference desserts are: Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Omicron Pi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Delta Upsilon, and Susan Campbell.

The rest of the houses are holding regular exchanges as follows: Delta Zeta-Yeomen; Highland house-Vets C and CC; Hendricks hall-Omega hall; Sigma Kappa-Sigma Nu; Tri Delt-Phi Kappa Psi.

Delta Gamma-Sigma Chi; Kappa Alpha Theta-Beta Theta Pi; Alpha Chi Omega-Kappa Sigma; Chi Omega-Alpha Tau Omega; Alpha Xi Delta-Campbell club.

Alpha Gamma Delta-Chi Psi; Alpha Delta Pi-Sigma Alpha Mu; Gerlinger-Sherry Ross; Gamma Phi Beta-Phi Delta Theta; Pi Beta Phi-Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Zeta Tau Alpha will hold open house.

Allied Arts league dominates the scene Friday night with a freshman party. Alpha Delta Pi, Villard hall, and Alpha hall will hold their respective firesides also.

The Emerald got its name because Joaquin Miller called Oregon the Emerald state.

The student directory is familiarly known as the "Pigger's Guide."
