

New Instructor Comments On American Men

Any country which can produce the type of men that we produce certainly is good for my money," declared Mr. Edwin L. Clark, instructor in speech, in an interview at his office Wednesday. "My experience with the American GI's led me to believe that they are certainly an outstanding representation of what democracy can produce."

Clark, who is new on the campus this term, stated firmly that he believed the GI's will stick to their post-war quest for higher education, and that the avalanche of veterans into universities and colleges will not wane for some time to come.

Clark Speech Grad

By way of further introduction, Clark was graduated in speech from the University of Iowa in 1939, took graduate work there, and in 1942 enlisted in the army as a private. Commissioned in December of that year after three months at the officers' candidate school at Ft. Benning, Georgia, he was immediately sent overseas.

"I was there throughout the whole of the Philippine campaign," Clark said. In fact, we had just completed our amphibious training for the invasion of Japan when the war ended." They were to have been part of a diverting movement, staged on the extreme southern end of Hiroshima, to cover the actual invasion, when the end of the war "came as a new lease on life," he grinned.

Mrs. Clark Teaching

Mrs. Clark, also a former Iowan, is teaching on the campus this fall in the speech department, as is her husband. During the war, she became acquainted with the Pacific northwest as personnel counselor at the Kaiser shipyards. "I guess she developed webfeet," was Clark's comment. At any rate, they're still here.

As to first impressions, Clark feels he has been the victim of a propagandist. "They told me it was warm and balmy out here in Oregon," he said aggrievedly, pronouncing it "Ah-re-gahn" but last Tuesday's bitter temperature caused him to revise his ideas a little.

After three years overseas, the Orient intrigues Clark. Most of the time he served as infantry platoon leader, in the Hawaiian Islands, Guadalcanal, New Britain, New Guinea, Panai, and other battlefields whose names are now familiar to occidental ears. He was stationed in Korea prior to his return to the states, and he found it "a very interesting and fascinating place." While he was waiting there, some air corps friends took him over to Shanghai, and on the way back to the States he visited Tokyo.

Placement Group Calls Prospective Teachers

All prospective teachers who plan to avail themselves of the services of the University teacher placement service in obtaining teaching positions at either mid-year or next fall are asked to meet Thursday, November 21, at 4 p.m., room 2, education building. Instructions for enrolling with the teacher placement service will be given at this meeting, according to Dr. C. L. Huffaker, acting director of the service.

OFFICE STAFF

Day Manager: Rod Nelson
Leigh Eden
Guy Kelley
Jane Thompson
Margaret Bolton
Renee Cowell
Marguerite Johns
Mary Vranian
Ruth Eades
Ruth Williams
Bill Mott
Dorothy Sutton
Kit Wilhelm
Mary Stadelman
Phyllis Henry

The first university in the western hemisphere was founded in Santo Domingo in 1538.

Kailes
APPAREL 1044 WILL.

FOR THOSE
NEW SUITS
CHECKS
and
PLAIN
CARDIGANS

WHY NOT ICE SKATE?

IT'S FUN

Any
Afternoon or Evening

All New Skates
Admission 30c
Rental 25c

The ICE ARENA

On West 6th

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Hui-O-Kamaaina meeting tonight has been cancelled.

Westminster council meeting at 4 p.m.

Westminster house potluck supper for married couples at 6 p.m.

Orides open house in Gerlinger lobby at 6:30 p.m.

One World Club—7:30 at YMCA, Dr. LeSage will speak on "Conversations with the Japanese."

Campus Cop to Show Samples of Diamonds

John P. Kalkouen, diamond cutter and campus policeman, will show sample duplications of historic diamonds to the Eugene mineral association at their meeting in Condon hall this evening. On display will be duplications of such famous diamonds as the Jubilee, the Grand Mogul, the Regent, the Polar Star, and several others.

All geology and mineralogy students are especially asked to attend. The public is invited and a pie feed will be held during the evening.

The educational activities office is in McArthur court.

DAILY EMERALD Wednesday, Nov. 20, 1946 Page 7

Cadets to Command

Cadet commanders from the ranks are taking over the drilling of 273 freshman and sophomore ROTC enrollees this week. Previously the students have been supervised directly by the staff of the University military science department.

Beginning spring term, full dress military reviews will be staged.

STOCK UP ON FOOD FOR THAT MIDNIGHT SNACK

- Cream Cheese 'n Crackers
- Potato Chips 'n Olives
- Bread 'n Jam
- Popcorn 'n Coke

UNIVERSITY GROCERY

Phone 1597

790 E. 11th

THAT
DRESSED-UP
LOOK
IN WOOL

For the holidays, your dress wants something very special about it. Perhaps the pick-up of bright stripes . . . the flatness of soft drapery . . . the glitter of sequins. You'll find our fun-minded collection quite special indeed for the holidays.

The Bu-tik'

MART
LARSEN

PAULINE
BUTIK

1080 Willamette

Phone 3128